Our more or less esteemed morning contemporary saw fit yesterday morning to ridicule the story of the straying of little Nellie Michell. The article in The Astorian which was the object of our unfeeling contemporary's ill-timed levity was published at the request of the father, with the hope that it might aid him in finding his lost daughter. Those who are fathers and mothers know how distressing it is that is gone beyond their knowledge. And when search and inquiry fails to secure them, the apprehension of danger for their offspring amounts almost to distraction. What name is there for the unfeeling thing in human shape that can laugh at the parent's pain and grief at such a time.

By a recent act of Congress, approved August 30, 1890, "no person who enters upon any of the public lands with a view to occupation, entry, or settlement under any of the land laws shall be permitted to acquire title to more than three hundred and twenty acres in the aggregate, under all of said laws, but this limitation shall not operate to curtail the right made entry or settlement on the public lands, or whose occcupation, entry, or settlement, is validated by this act."

Where is Nellie Michell.?

I fear that my little daughter may not have her right mind the reason she does not allow herself to be found. If anyone can be a friend to her and me and will keep her for me if they see her, they will do me a great favor for which they

Before Believing. There recently appeared in the San Fran-cisco Cull, Chronicle, and Examiner, a proposition hitherto unheard of. It was advertisement in which the Edwin W. Many accepted, and their experience are so convincing as to be almost beyond belief. Here is another, written under date

Data Sins: I accepted your offer to test the merits of your vegetable remedy in sick headaches, and called for a bottle and got it. I had been troubled for a long time, and had tried nearly everything, with little or no effect; but Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acted almost like magic, and the first bottle relieved me from one of the worst cases of sick headache one ever had.

The Salmon Business.

The salmon situation is unchanged, and statistically the same unfortunate lack of correct information exists that caused so much trouble last year. The most searching investigation made by the largest and best posted oper-ators, as well as by that portion of the press interested in such matters, fails to discover any large amount of sal-mon remaining unsold on the Colum-bia, and yet for the season to Septem-ber 1st the declared shipments are scarcely 50 per cent of the total pack. The unwise policy of distinguishing shipments by using the term canned goods, which may mean anything that can be packed in tins, probably largely accounts for this discepancy. Receipts continue moderately free from Alaska, but many points cannot be heard from until the vessels sent up for the pack return, so that estimates as to the pack must largely be guess-work. To date receipts are in excess of those of last year by about 6,000 cases, and the Electra, in distress off Point Reyes, brings upwards of 25,000 cases more.—S. F. Commercial News.

Skins on Fire

With Itching, Burning, Bleeding Eczemas Instantly Relieved by Cuticura Remedies.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25-inst. In May, 1835, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be lives in an aggregated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike falling, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLYENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLYENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrid maiady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA SOAP.

To know that a single application of the Cuticura Remedies will often afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because so speedy) cure, and not to use them, without a moment's delay, is to be guilty of positive inhumanity. No greater legacy can be bestowed upon a child than a clear skin and pure blood. Cuticura Remedies are absolutely pure and may be used from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula.
