THE OLD, OLD STORY.
An embargo was placed on the telegraphic news budget of the Astorian again last night caused by the breaking of the Western Union wire between this city and Knappa. A heavy gale set in up the river and prevented the line repairer from mending the break. It is expected that the wire will be repaired and in working order sometime today.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.
What is Being Done in the Matter of Preparation.
THE CHICAGO COLUMBUS TOWER
CHICAGO, Sept. 29, 1890.—The past week has been a busy one for the World's Columbian Exposition. The national commissioners have taken the city by storm. Their coming was anxiously awaited. On their arrival, like Cesar of old, "they came, they saw, they conquered." The delay of the site question had spurred them on to immediate action. They meant business from the instant their feet touched the city. After disposing of the appointment of a number of committees, they at once proceeded to elect a site. Chicago, who was selected on the first ballot, was born in Palmer, Mass., in 1840, received a liberal education, entered the army in '62, came to Chicago in '69 with General Sheridan, resigned from the army May 1, 1871, and went into the insurance business. He was elected to Congress in 1878, served three terms from 1881 to 1887, and was treasurer of Chicago and Cook county. His position here he held ever since. On account of being a local candidate it was at first thought the selection would not prove satisfactory, but on account of his marked ability to manage large bodies of men, universally considered his selection has proven to be a happy one. He is a man of high character and a man of high ability. He is a man of high character and a man of high ability. He is a man of high character and a man of high ability.

returning to earth again. At the apex will be a great globe of thirty-three feet in diameter, provided with sixteen powerful electric lights which will be observable fifty miles distant. Admission fee will be 25 cents, 50 cents to 400 feet and $1 to top. When completed it will be 500 feet higher than the Eiffel tower in Paris and the greatest structure ever constructed erected in the history of man. It will be the pride of our nation and one of the most attractive features of the great exposition.

Now that the officers have been selected, the committee appointed, the site chosen, a large amount of the subscriptions paid in, and the plans taken a definite shape, the directors of the exposition are ready for business. The time is short for the extensive preparations that must be made. Each opportunity must be taken advantage of. The eyes of the nation will anxiously watch the daily progress. But with the magnificent site, the energy and the ability of the officials and the able officers who have the management and are conscious of the responsibility resting upon them, the exposition is destined to be a success. It is a magnificent and grandeur the highest anticipated at this national Congress.

In our next letter we will describe, among other things, the national exhibits and buildings.
J. B. CAMPBELL.
The Young Women of To-Day.
It is not enough that the young women of to-day should be well educated, well dressed, well behaved, well spoken, well read, well informed, well acquainted with the requirements of the world of the future will be given. I must not forget to mention that the young woman of the future will be one of mind rather than of heart. Power of mind in itself no more makes a true woman than does wealth, beauty of person, or social position. But a clear intellect, a well trained mind, a womanly heart, just as an ivy will adorn a splendid oak; a true woman has a power, something peculiarly her own, in her moral influence, which, when duly developed, makes her queen over a wide range of spirit. Her influence passes only as her powers are cultivated. Cultivated women wield the scepter of authority over the world at large. Wherever a cultivated woman dwells she is sure to do good. Her refinement, moral power and life in its highest form. For a woman to be a woman she must begin early; the days of girlhood are transient and fly like a dream, and girls are women before they know it. Every girl has a certain station to occupy in this life, some one place to fill, and often she makes her own station by her capacity to create and fill it. —The Home Magazine.

Papa Getting in His Work.
"Ethelinda darling," murmured the enraptured young man, "this is the happiest moment of my life. I came here this evening, hoping, yet fearing I could not get a chance to tell you how much I love you. I feel that I must know my fate. The suspense was killing me. But now I swear it by this lovely head resting so cozily on my shoulder, by the kiss on your sweet lips, I—what was I checking nose I heard just now?"
"Nothing Walter, nothing but papa. He's a lawyer you know, but he amuses himself with all sorts of queer little tricks. He's practicing on us with his Kodak. Go Walter dear. What were you about to swear?"
The American Girl.
An English novel by a much-admired writer contains the following description of the American girl: "The cold-blooded, cut-throat American girl, calculating her romance by dollars and cents, and marrying at a moment's notice, with the head of a railway president and the heart of an Esquimaux." Well, well! what American girl jilted that author and left him out in the cold?

Victory For an Insurance Company.
S. S. CONOVER, Agt., Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Manchester, N. H., writes: "I have been in the business for twenty years. From the use of powerful ingredients my little kid has been cured of Rheumatism. I have cured me, and I wish to herald to all the merits of this wonderful medicine." For sale by W. Conn.

A Great Thing for Helena.
A dam to develop 20,000 horsepower is contemplated across the Missouri, near Helena. It will be a 800 foot long, forming an impounding reservoir with an area of 429 miles. The water will be taken from above the dam to the turbines by a tunnel 151 1/2 feet deep, through a rock promontory. The cost is estimated at $100,000. The power developed is to be transformed into electricity and transmitted to Helena, thirteen miles away.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.
Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra liable to be attacked by malarial infection. Most malarial infections, under such conditions, insure a system which, if healthy, would be self-protective. The only way to secure immunity from malaria is locally where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weak digestion, enriching the blood, and giving cathartic purgatives to remove the malarial poisons. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant and tonic, and are of great value in active dependent, eliminating from the blood those acid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

John Raymond of Athol, Mass., has gathered from his hens 18,000 eggs so far this year and raised 473 chickens, and his wife, besides attending to an extensive dairy business, has sold sixty canary birds of her own raising.
All the patent medicines advertised in this paper, together with the choicest perfumery, and toilet articles, etc., can be bought at the lowest prices at J. W. Conn's drug store, opposite Occident hotel, Astoria.

FASHION NOTES.
For the Benefit and Information of Lady Readers.
Sleeveless jackets grow in favor. Sleeves are made of accordion plait. The coming tint in dyed hair is mahogany. "Fish net" is now available for veiling. Dolls that can turn somersaults are in fashion. The very aim girl is fashionable.—Detroit Free Press.
Fancy effects in hosiery are worn with evening costume.
Full trimmings still appear on the majority of new bodices.
Brown is named as the color which will find most favor this autumn.
Silk muslin with polka spots is used for underskirts as well as dresses.
Only ladies with perfect complexions should dare to wear pale green.
Some of the new tea gowns are ornamented with belts of polished ivory.
Leather trimmings studded with steel or gilt will be worn on winter garments.
Gray is to be well worn this winter in combination with soft yellow and gold braids.
Valuable lace that must not be cut is stonced on to plain skirts a little slantingly.
The "Charles IX" shoe is of black satin and has Oxanti's lace inserted over the toe.
A ring that fits any finger is out. The fiddle-necked youth calls it a great scheme.
The new style of mourning paper has only a black border on the upper left-hand corner.
The petticoat should be made of silk, just two inches shorter than the dress.—N. Y. Press.

Last evening at the opera house this fine six-act melodrama was presented to a good audience by Joseph Grismer, Phoebe Davies, and a capital company. The play is intensely interesting from first to last, and every character is well sustained. The plot is deep and of such a nature as to hold the interest of the audience throughout the entire piece. Many interesting points are presented and well sustained. It is a play far beyond the average and well worth witnessing.
At a meeting of woolgrowers at Columbus on the 19th instant, ex-Congressman Converse, a professional Democrat, said: "Major McKinley is too great a man to permit to retire to private life, and I think that the woolgrowers of his district ought to see to it that he is not retired, and the best way to do this is to elect him from year to year. If they would carry this question to the ballot-box, it ought now to be carried out. In my judgment Major McKinley has worked in season and out of season for the good of his country. He has always been a wheelhorse of Ohio Democracy, and his support cannot be of great value to McKinley. It is refreshing to see a man of his ability shaking off party shackles for the good of his country."
A PREMIUM TO SUBSCRIBERS.
A Liberal Offer to Old and New Subscribers, Either Daily or Weekly.
Attention is directed to the extraordinary premium offer for THE ASTORIAN which is advertised on the fourth page. A complete set of the works is offered with the WEEKLY ASTORIAN for $2.75. A complete unabridged set of Dickens in twelve volumes for 75 cents additional is an extraordinary offer when one considers the extraordinary amount of work that has been done. This offer is extended to old subscribers who have not their subscriptions, as well as new ones. The Mammoth Encyclopedia is another premium which is offered on the same terms as above. For a description of the works see advertisement on the fourth page. To old subscribers who send $2 for a new subscriber to the weekly will be sent twenty-five novels to be selected from a large list to be published very shortly. The old subscriber sends $2.75 he will receive the novels and the new subscriber will get either of the premiums above offered which he may select. To those who pay for a year's subscription in advance, a beautiful printed book of 698 pages. This book needs no other recommendation than the fact that Washington Irving is the author. This is an unusually good opportunity to get a good newspaper and a beautiful book for very little money. It is worth looking after. Read the advertisement on the fourth page.

Symptoms of Consumption.
WILLIAM A. SHAW'S, PORT ORAM, MORGAN CO., N. J., writes: "My business is that of sharpening metal drills and I am much exposed to smoke and gas. About three years ago I began to have a bad cough, with considerable indigestion and pains in my chest. My physician told me I had consumption. By the advice of my father, an old friend of Blandford's Pills, I commenced using that medicine. By the time I had got through the second box I began to pass a very disagreeable humor or pus, I began to improve very rapidly and I began to get stronger and better every day. My cough is now no more. I sleep well at night and have no more indigestion."
The first railroad office started on Broadway was in the interest of the Michigan Southern railroad, back in 1853. William M. Hall, who started it, has just celebrated his golden wedding.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.
It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by her physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read the name of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, robust, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For further particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Port Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful Discovery Free at J. W. Conn's Drugstore.

THE NEW SILK BLOUSE.
Among the autumn novelties are silk blouses made in tartan or Persian stripes. Blouses of this kind worn above black skirts of silk or wool make bright and pretty house toilets for these dull days. The blouses are either full, but do not spread like the old variety, and a fringed neck carried around the collar and down the front makes a becoming finish. The new silk blouse, unlike its cambric compeer, is not to be turned inside the skirtband. The straight beltband is secured by a buckle or some inches below the waist. A popular silk plaid for a blouse shows a mixture of black and green in shaded tones, with a line of gold or red between.—N. Y. Post.
