VERY PRETTY HOWDY 'DO

The Ohio Legislature Does Not Recognize the Governor.

HIS MESSAGE WAS REFUSED.

The Chief Magistrate Feels the Insult and Will Ignore the Legislature.

Special by The United Press.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—The house of representatives of the Ohio legislature was only in session long enough this afternoon to administer a stinging rebuke to Governor Campbell. The house was called to order at 4 P. M., and the reading of the journal immediately proceeded with.

During this reading Claude Mecker, the governor's private secretary, entered and took the usual position of a bearer of a message in the center aisle, carrying a document in his hand.

It was already known by members that the document which Mr. Mecker carried was a message, and its purport was generally understood.

Speaker Hysell would not recognize Mr. Mecker and at once upon the conclusion of the reading of the journal Mr. Green, (democrat), moved to adjourn to 10 A. M. to-morrow.

Another democrat promptly seconded the motion and the house adjourned with the governor's messenger still standing on the floor waiting for recognition.

Governor Campbell feels the insult very keenly and declares that he will hold no further communication with the legislature unless they send a committee to him.

Evans is a mining man of good repute and is an invalid. Davis was a big burly fellow.

The stabbing affray grew out of a loan of $5 which Davis demanded of Evans, and on being refused he struck Evans and knocked him down, whereupon Evans drew a knife and stabbed his assailant in the bowels. Davis' wound was not considered dangerous by three physicians who attended the wounded man, but peritonitis set in and he died ten days after the cutting.

The defense was that the doctors killed Davis.

One of the Police Officers Seriously Injured and two Students Under Arrest.

Special by the United Press.]

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 20.—One of the most serious outbreaks for years between the students of Yale college and the town people occurred about 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The sophomores were making a loud demonstration on the campus when policemen Cowles and Hackett attempted to stop it.

Students angrily retaliated and soon the policemen were using their clubs. The crowd closed in on them and both the officers were knocked down. The crowd was large and constantly increasing and the position of the policemen was precarious. They were struck on the head with champagne bottles, but help finally arrived for the policemen and for a time there was a regular pitched battle.

The officers managed to arrest two of the ringleaders and take them to the station house.

Officer Hackett's condition to-night is reported serious. Detectives are looking for the other offenders.

The Best Man in the World.

Well, if not positively the best, one of the wisest is he who checks disease at the start in his own system. In preserving or restoring the heaven-granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration. His example is worthy to be imitated. The complaints which afflict us are largely attributable to a want of tone in the stomach, either inherent or inflicted by ourselves upon that much abused repository of the food that heaven granted gift of health, he deserves profound consideration.
