

The Daily Astorian.
ASTORIA, OREGON:
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1890

English capital invested in American enterprises is becoming larger in amount with every succeeding year, having already reached startling figures. In the year 1888, the sum was $386,250,000; in 1889 it had increased to $839,000,000; during the first nine months of 1890, the amount was $658,500,000, and if the present ratio maintains during the remaining three months of the year it will make the investments of British gold for the year 1890 amount to the prodigious sum of $878,000,000. Though this is not all in railroads, it is very nearly so, as our English cousins seem to prefer railroad stock to almost any other class of investments.

COMPLETE information as to the wants of government in reference to a location for a gun factory is given in this issue, and it read attentively will give a good idea of the points on which the board desire full particulars. The gentlemen composing the board are high in rank, all three being ex-majors, one of the army, one of engineers, and one of the ordnance department. The recorder is a major of the ordnance department. When they arrive they should be most cordially received and given a hearty welcome, not only as their station entitles them to, but also on account of their important mission. The greater number of distinguished individuals who visit our city the better it is for us, and every effort should be put forth to give them all the information in our power, for it is a good advertisement for Astoria.

ANOTHER Sunday has come, which means to nearly all classes of citizens a day of rest, and it is eminently proper that it should be so, for it is a matter of fact, claimed by science, and demonstrated by observation and experience, that men and animals accomplish much more work in a year when they rest one day in seven, than when they work continuously, and are allowed no day of rest. To the newspaper man, however, this boon of rest comes not at all, for it is a continuous round of duty, every day and night, with no interruption, as the greedy public demand the news every morning, regardless of the efforts it requires to produce it. Several other branches of business also have no change from the ceaseless round of labor, and should be occasionally remembered with gratitude by the more fortunate ones who can enjoy the recreation which would also be keenly enjoyed by the incessant laborers.

CHARMINGLY beautiful is the life and career of the man or woman who goes through society scattering blessings in the way of kind words and grateful assistance to those with whom they come in contact. When earth's cares and labors are ended, and they lay down to sleep the sleep which knows no waking this side the dark river, the grateful hearts in which their memory is enshrined will be to them a grander and more enduring monument than the most costly marble shaft or tallest tower of granite, for they will live in the hearts of those whom they have benefitted or made happy, and will stand forever on the pages of history as those who did some good in the world and made easier and more agreeable the life journey of many of their fellow men. Some people, however, seem to overlook this fact, and act as if the only aim in life was the acquisition of wealth, no matter by what means it was accomplished. Gold is continually piled up, and their wealth daily increases, but with it comes sorrow and care, until they are constantly in dread of losing their wealth, and its very possession is an almost endless source of misery, which makes life a burden hard to bear, and happiness is to them unknown. To the young this is a lesson worth heeding, and the practical application should be made without fail. Confer happiness upon others by all means in your power, and your reward will be great, for you never can do good to others without feeling far happier for all your efforts in adding to the happiness of those with whom you associate.

DR. PRENTICE.
Eye, Head and Nervous Diseases, At Occident Hotel, Astoria, On Future Date, For a Few Days Only.
FREE.
Dr. Prentice Will Cure the First Case of Cross-Eyes and Epileptic Fits - Free On the Day of His Arrival in Astoria.

A man well known in this community writes the following interesting letter: "I was chopping a stump four weeks ago, when a flying chip struck me in the eye; for a short time I was entirely blind. Then partial sight returned again, but I was on my side in the treatment it at home, and when I began to abandon hope of ever seeing perfectly again, unless something more than the ordinary was done. I then consulted two of the leading Oculists of Portland, who told me one eye would have to be cut out to save the other. It did not exactly suit me to have my eye cut out, and so I sought other counsel. I went to Dr. Prentice, the oculist, then at Portland, and he laughed at the idea of its being necessary to cut my eye out; I joined in the laugh, for it was on my side. I have been free from pain since the first day's visit to Dr. Prentice, and improved steadily, and am now entirely well again. I feel safe in saying that if Dr. Prentice cannot cure a case he will always say so."
-Thos. H. Foss, Gray's River, Wash.

A Touching Scene Witnessed by a Portland Gentleman.

One week ago we received an invitation to witness a delicate surgical operation on an eye. The patient was the 17-year-old daughter of Harrison Hay. For three years she had been blind in both eyes with a cataract, and was obliged to grope her way about in total darkness. The patient, without taking chloroform, submitted to the following operation: She was now ready for the surgical part of the work, and we stood in breathless anxiety as Dr. Prentice placed the point of his knife at the side of the eyeball, the circumference of the point of the cornea, then the blade entered the eye, we saw it pass through the eye in front of the pupil and then come out at the opposite side. It was then that the patient, who had been lying on her back, sprang up and read on paper. She also wrote a letter home, saying: "Dear parents, I can see and am happy."
-Mr. Jerome W. Campbell, General Superintendent of the Willamette Bridge Railway Co., saw this operation.

Another Letter From Judge Carlton.

SALT LAKE CITY, 1888.

DEAR DOCTOR:—Before leaving for the East, I wish to express my appreciation of your treatment of my eyes. I have tried for several years to get far-seeing glasses, and I had concluded I could get none that would be of any benefit to me. But after I saw the wonderful benefit of your system, I take pleasure in saying that the glasses furnished by you have restored my vision both for reading and far-seeing to the same condition as in my boyhood. I resolved to have you furnish me glasses after I witnessed your system on a beautiful young lady of sixteen years, afflicted with a complicated condition of the eyesight. She told me she had never been able to distinguish one face at a distance of six feet. With Dr. Prentice's glasses she could see as well as anyone. As she looked up and down the street, and for the first time in her life saw the distant mountain tops, she was greatly delighted, and inquired with childish simplicity: "Do other people see this way?" It seemed that a new world was opened to her view, as not only beautiful, but her "rosy bowers" appeared to our first parents. Yours truly,
-JAMES A. B. CAMPTON, Chairman Utah Commission.
