Postmaster Hare received word yes terday that an iron frame bag rack for the office had been shipped, and would be here in a few days. The rack will accommodate forty bags and is much needed in the office. Mr. Hare was also notified that the office here will be allowed a revolving general delivery case; also a paper case and a distributing case.

Theater goers will bear in mind that on Friday evening there will be presented at the opera house "The U. 8. Mail," an unusually attractive play, which is spoken of in the highest terms by the press of the country wherever it has been played. Reserved seats can be secured at the New York Novelty store at any time after 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The yellow flag, or danger signal of the weather bureau, which has floated from the flagstaff of the signal office for the past two days, has been a disppointment to many, as the average itizen who read the last special bulletin from San Francisco looked for a big blow in this city. The sun, however, has shown bright and fair each day and the langh has been given the yellow flag. Seafar-ing men have beeded it, though, for they know the value of the service, for several ships have delayed going to sea until the forty-eight hours specified had passed. Late last night the sky became overcast and there were other indications of an approac-ing storm. It will probably break to day, and is the tail end of a series of fierce gales that have been raging off the coast for the past two days. Reports of the storm will be looked for by the next incoming vessel.

An Exciting Game at Smith's Point Yesterday.

A scratch game of football played by members of the Astoria Football terday, furnished amusement to about 250 ladies and gentlemen. The teams were captained respectively by R. M. Gibson and Frank Gunn, and the way the kickers tumbled and rolled over the inflated rubber in efforts to score points was ludicrous. Some of the players were very unique costumes, and most of them will be sore and stiff in the joints for several days. One player, Nickerson, in the early stage of the game, received a kick in the abdomen so severely that he had the sailor boarding bonsarmen of Day. THAT SAILOR KIDNAPING CASE

"Bunco" Kelly Placed Under Arrest in Portland Yesterday.

The three alleged sailors who were on board the Noddleburn, and who have not signed articles have been locked up in the county jail and will be held as witnesses against Kelly. It was thought best to prosecute Kelly in the state courts on a charge of kidnaping, rather than to take him before the federal court on a charge of violating the shipping laws.

Captain Hall, master of the Noddleburn also left for Portland last evening and it was reported that he went upon business in connection with the Armstrong case. The captain denied this and stated that he had completed his cargo here and was going up to close his business and get final orders reported coming down the river with a ship, but the name is not given. Emigration from Ireland, though include its diminished, still continues a contract of by-product of gold-manne.

It is claimed by dealers in platinum that if mined and worked out by the methods that have been applied to gold and silver, and the cost of producing and refining it charged up, it would be quite as expensive as gold.

Philadelphia Record. Anost of the platinum supply comes from the Ural mines of Russia, where, as in the placer mines of California and Canada—the metal is regarded as a sort of by-product of gold-mining. REFLECTIONS ON STANLEY.

Serious Charges Against the Great Explorer of Africa.

The diaries and letters of Major Bartolett, the murdered commander his power to ruin me in the service. I said that this was an empty threat, as it would take a great deal more than he could say to do that. He punished me afterwards by making me march to Leopoldville with 70 men who were noted for laziness and incapacity for carrying loads, warning me that if I lost a single load I must stand the consequence." stand the consequence

This expose of Stanley's character as shown up by the diaries makes spicy reading. The story includes an account of the quarrel between Stanley and Jephson, on which occasion Stanley offered to fight Jephson. The publication has caused great sensation in London and the papers are unani mous in expressing the opinion that it was indiscreet, to say the least, to print what Major Bartolett, a man avowedly of hasty temper, wrote, and which he never intended should see the light. But, however this may be the charges call for a full answer. Mr. Stanley refuses to be interviewed on the subject. It is estimated that the earnings of the Southern Pacific Railroad Com-pany will this year reach the immense sum of $48,000,000, which are the largest ever reached by this notably prosperous corporation. This is a good showing for Pacific coast business, and does not indicate any de-pression in the commercial interests of the country through which this great line operates.
