CAUGHT ON FIRE OUT AT SEA.

The Steamer "Michigan" Arrives in Port with a Hot Cargo.

A LIVELY RACE FOR THE RIVER.

Considerable excitement was created in this city early yesterday morning when a dispatch was received from Ft. Canby announcing that the steam schooner Michigan was coming in on fire. E. A. Noyes, agent of the Union Pacific Company which owns the vessel, at once dispatched tug boats to meet the incoming steamer. The boats picked the distressed vessel up at the mouth of the river, but Captain S. F. Graves, who was in command of the Michigan, said that all he required was for the tugs to stand by. He reported that his vessel was afire in the forehold and had been burning for several hours. He had the hatches all battened down and the fire smothered in such a way that he could make port and turn her over to the agents and underwriters. The tugs stood by and escorted the vessel up the river.

The scene was an exciting one. Wild reports had preceded the arrival of the Michigan, and hundreds flocked to the wharves to see the burning vessel come up. The crowd was disappointed for save for puffs of smoke issuing from the seams at the bow, through the forward hatch and through the dead light holes of the freight deck, no fire was visible.

The vessel came up the river at full speed, and by 12 o'clock had a line ashore at the Union Pacific dock. The few passengers on board were landed, and then the underwriters' agent, Chief Stockton of the fire department, and others, together with the Union Pacific representatives, went on board. A consultation followed, and the result was that it was decided to scuttle the vessel forward, or rather to sink her by the bow and thus smother the flames. Lines were run out, and with the aid of a tug the vessel was warped around into a position between the west end of the Union Pacific wharf and the old sturgeon wharf.

No. 1 and No. 2 engines were called out, but considerable delay was occasioned by the fact that the burning vessel was stuck in the mud, and the tugs made an effort to tow her off. This, it was found, could not be done, so orders were given and two lines of hose from each engine were put on board and the work of flooding the steamer commenced.

The hose was put down through the hatch and as the first stream of water struck the fire, a mass of thick black smoke accompanied by a strong odor of burning fish was wafted to the wharf. Throughout the afternoon the engines pumped water into the hold.

It was a veritable volcano. The fire was confined among 500 barrels of lime and 2,300 cases of salmon, with a lot of coal on one side to help it out. The combined efforts of the local engine companies told on the fire after several hours and at 7 o'clock last evening the fire was out.

The damage could not be estimated last night but it will amount to probably $15,000. The vessel is considerably damaged, and of the cargo, the 2,300 cases of salmon, which belonged to Morgan & Sherman, are almost a total loss. The fish was insured for its full value, about $9,000. The lime, to which the origin of the fire is attributed, is also a total loss, but outside of this and the damage to the ship the loss is comparatively small.

Captain Graves, master of the Michigan, stated that the fire was discovered about 2 o'clock yesterday morning when the vessel was about fifty miles off the entrance to Gray's Harbor. The hatches were at once battened down and all the ventilators turned. It was intended to kill the fire at once and the entire crew were summoned. The first attempt showed that this would be impossible, with the appliances at hand so the hatches were battened down again, the course laid direct for the Columbia river and the engineer told to open her wide. This was done, and the little steamer came along at a rate of speed she had seldom attained. The few passengers were somewhat frightened but they put their trust in Captain Graves and he saw them through. At first they insisted on the vessel being beached at once, but the skipper preferred to stay by his ship and get her into a place where if it was necessary to scuttle her he could find her again. Seeing he was determined the passengers withdrew their objections, and the Michigan arrived here as stated.

With the exception of the salmon, the lime and other cargo is destined to Portland.

THE "BUNKO" KELLY CASE.

How It Appears as Seen Through Portland Eyes.

Yesterday's Oregonian gives a peculiar version of the much talked of Kelly case, which is denied by those here who claim to know the facts, but the article is copied as follows:

"Bunko" Kelly, who was arrested here several days since by the sheriff of Clatsop county and taken to Astoria on a charge of shanghaing sailors, is expected to arrive here early this morning in company with the sheriff. It is claimed that if Kelly committed any crime he committed it here, and that the sheriff of Clatsop county had no right to take him out of this county, and that the justice before whom Kelly was examined and held to answer had no jurisdiction in the case. Kelly, through his counsel, petitioned Judge Deady for a writ of habeas corpus, and on his order a writ was issued and placed in the hands of Deputy United States Marshal Miller, who started for Astoria to serve it, and who in the writ was made returnable forthwith, is expected to arrive here this morning with the sheriff and Kelly. The first thing to be settled is the question of jurisdiction, and if it is decided that the courts here have jurisdiction in the case, then the matter will be investigated, and if Kelly has been guilty of the crime charged, he will be prosecuted by the United States attorney and punished. It has been stated that the men who claim to have been shanghaied were sent here by the Astoria gang to be shanghaied, and if Mr. "Bunko" Kelly fell into the trap and did take any unjust advantage of the men, the fact that a job was put up on him cuts no figure in the case, and he should be properly punished.

MORE PORTLAND SAILORS.

A Case That Smacks Strongly of Shanghaing.

It would seem that while "Bunco" Kelly, the famous Portland Shanghaier was in jail here for kidnaping sailors, his interests in the city up the river were being well looked after by A. Arfield, his partner. Yesterday there escaped from the British ship Principality a Russian, who, when he came ashore told a story similar to that related by Armstrong and Kelly, the men shanghaied on board the Noddleburn by "Bunco" Kelly.

The Russian, whose name would not look well in type, stated that Arfield induced him and two others to go on board the ship, telling them they would get big money and have little or nothing to do. He promised them an outfit and a big advance, but the man from the land of the Czar, says they got neither. He also stated that neither he nor the others signed any articles.

Inquiry will be made into the matter to-day.

The steamship Oregon, Capt. E. Polemann, is to sail for San Francisco this morning.

The steamer Francis Cutting sailed for Puget sound yesterday, where she will hereafter be employed.

The steam schooner Augusta arrived yesterday from the Nehalem with farm and dairy produce.

The schooner Mary Russ, Captain Peterson, arrived from San Francisco yesterday, and will load lumber for that city.

The steam schooner Alliance arrived in from Gray's Harbor early yesterday morning and at daylight left up the river.

The little steamer R. P. Elmore sailed yesterday for Tillamook with supplies. She is expected back tomorrow with a cargo of salmon.

The British bark Noddleburn, Captain Hall master, sailed for the United Kingdom yesterday. The vessel was delayed here several days, owing to the fact that "Bunco" Kelly, a Portland boarding-house runner, made an attempt to shanghai two men on board the vessel. The particulars of the case are familiar to readers of THE ASTORIAN.

The American bark Coloma, C. M. Noyes master, arrived down yesterday morning. She has on board several cabin passengers and ninety-six Chinese. The latter go to the flowery kingdom to celebrate the Chinese New Year. The cargo of the Coloma consists of 14,226 feet of spars valued at $3,292 and 140,292 feet of lumber valued at $1,545. She wil sail to-day or to-morrow.

The long looked for new pilot schooner San Jose, arrived in yesterday afternoon, two weeks from San Francisco. Captain Caughill, master of the vessel, explains his long trip by saying that he met with contrary and baffling winds. He made the mouth of the river on Thursday last, but a heavy fog set in and the schooner was headed out to sea again. The vessel has been delivered to the pilot commissioners and will be fitted out for service at once.

ANOTHER BLOW COMING.

The Weather Bureau Signals Another Big Storm.

Another storm is coming, according to the signal officer at San Francisco. The storm will not reach this section, however, as will be seen from the following dispatch received last evening. It is addressed to Signal Office Grover and reads:

At 7 P. M. hoist information signal. Storm central at sea west of Vancouver Island, moving eastward. Easterly shifting to southerly winds. Warm thick weather with dangerous gales off the Washington coast for the next thirty-six hours.

The Pilot Schooner.

The new pilot schooner San Jose, which arrived yesterday was viewed with considerable curiosity by a large number of citizens. Many comments were passed on the vessel and the most of them were expressive of disappointment.

"It is true, she is dirty and needs considerable overhauling" said one of the pilot commissioners, "but when we get through refitting her she will be a different looking craft." Continuing, the commissioner said that people should not expect too much. A pilot schooner had to be procured at once and there was no time to build one, consequently the best boat for the money was obtained.

HE WAS ASHAMED

To Ask Again, but His Frank Letter Got It for Him.

A few months ago one of the unfortunate inmates in the San Francisco Almshouse was inspired by the sensational statements in the newspapers with the belief that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla would help him. But without money, how to get it was the question. Finally he wrote to the Edwin W. Joy Co., appealing to their generosity, and it was not unheeded, the coveted preparation being sent by the next parcel delivery. Its effect is best told in a subsequent letter, from which we quote the following:—

"I suppose you know me by this writing, and my circumstances and condition. Although improving, I ask of your generosity for another bottle of your Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Its laxative action is perfection itself. It has so thoroughly regulated my system that my catarrh, rheumatism, constipation, and headaches are all better. I feel ashamed to ask in this way, but what shall I do? I thought I might not need any more, but I am now so anxious to keep it up; but you see how it is."

It was sent, and he can get more if he needs it.
