RUN INTO BY A STEAMSHIP.

A Vessel Anchored in the Stream Has a Narrow Escape.

WHO WAS TO BLAME FOR IT

The British ship Kinkora, lying at anchor off Flavel's wharf had a narrow escape from being cut in two late yesterday afternoon by the British iron steamship Mongkut. As it was the steamer fouled her and carried away the main fore and topmast yard braces and scratched a considerable section of paint off the ship's side.

The steamer was coming down the river and ran in pretty close to the Kinkora, when her steering gear got out of order and the vessel took a sheer with the result stated. Fortunately the Mongkut did not have much headway on, otherwise the result would have been more disastrous.

The collision was noticed by several persons from the Union Pacific wharf and they all seem to incline to the opinion that the pilot on the steamship was at fault in running in so close to the Kinkora. The damage was so slight that it is not likely an investigation will be held.

MARINE NEWS AND NOTES.

The schooner West Foot sailed from the Knappott mills yesterday with 415,000 feet of lumber.

The steamship Mongkut, of the Canadian Pacific line, arrived from Portland yesterday and will sail for Vancouver to-day.

The British ship Midley Hall completed taking its cargo at the Union Pacific dock yesterday and will sail for the United Kingdom in a few days.

The schooner Norma, Captain Small, master, sailed for San Francisco yesterday with a cargo of 450,000 feet of lumber, loaded by the West Shore Mills Company.

The steamship Oregon arrived from Portland late last evening and will sail for San Francisco this morning.

The steamer was behind time having met the usual difficulty in getting over the river bars.

The British ship Kinkora, Capt. H. Lawrence, master, cleared at the custom house yesterday for Queenstown or Falmouth. The Kinkora is one of the handsomest vessels that ever entered this port, and shows remarkably fine lines. She carries as cargo 40,701 sacks of wheat, valued at $74,593. Of the cargo 22,968 sacks were loaded here and the balance at Portland.

W. B. Dennis, managing editor of the Farmer's Home, a strong agricultural journal published at Dayton, Ohio, is travelling on this coast, writing for his paper his impressions of the country. He gave this office a friendly call yesterday.

A Sad Story.

Two weeks ago little Ulrika Paulsen left her parents at Seaside to attend school in this city. Her father has been fishing on Young's river and yesterday he was told that his little girl was lying at St. Mary's hospital. He hurried to her in time to hold her in his arms and receive her dying caresses. To-day the bereaved father freights his fishing boat with the body of his darling child in a little coffin and goes on his mournful voyage home to the poor mother. God pity her!

ST. HELENS ITEMS.

Clipped from the "Oregon Mist" of Thursday, Nov. 13, 1890.

The census of 1900 will give Columbia county a population of 20,000. Mark it down.

The regular quarterly examination of teachers for this county will be held at this place on Wednesday, Nov. 26th.

Several timber land buyers were in here last week. We would advise the settlers to hold their land rather than sell at the paltry prices offered.

Comly Survevor Little came in Wednesday with Mr. Travis, government land agent, and Mr. Archibald, of Enterprise. After spending the night in the village, the party took to the woods to visit some of the land claims that have been entered and proved up on, and ascertain if the law has been complied with. It is well that pre-emptors notice that a six months residence on a claim and the possession of a duplicate receipt from the land office does not insure a title. Some requirements as to cultivation of the soil are likely to be looked into, and in the language of the Dutchman, "It is better dot you took a leedle out" in time.

The Near City mills, which have been moved a short distance into the interior of the county, have a novel and inexpensive method of getting their lumber to market. They have erected a flume from their mills to the Columbia river, down which the lumber is sent. It takes but little water in this way to carry a large piece of timber, and as fast as the lumber is cut it can be put at once into the flume, and in a short time it floats out to be put aboard a vessel and shipped to any part of the world. No doubt but that in the near future the immense forests of the county will be sent to a profitable market in this manner, as it is much cheaper and less trouble than transporting the logs.

The prospects for the future of St. Helens are very bright indeed. No town in Oregon can boast of greater natural resources, and our citizens are being awakened to the fact that there are stores of wealth in their development. The iron mines, the coal mines, the stone quarries, the timber resources and the immensely rich agricultural lands, capable of producing the most profitable agricultural products, and the unequalled facilities for many kinds of manufacturing enterprises, is a backing of which not many towns on the coast can boast. Several schemes are now on foot for manufacturing enterprises and opening up of these resources, all of which will be given in the Mist as soon as definite arrangements can be made for them.

OUR LOVE IS DEAD.

Our love is dead: Its brief, sweet days Are shining in memory's deathless urn; We may not call it back again, For dead love never can return.

We mourn beside this new-made grave For all our dreary, empty years; We grieve in solitude and pain, With more than bitterness and tears.

And we shall never find our love Beyond death's dark and doubtful shore; Nor will some resurrection morn Return it us forever more.

Dear God! We loved this precious love, This fairy thing by fancy wrought, That was too true to live and thrive Where life's grim battle must be fought.

Our love is dead: We mourn for it Through all our bitter, wasted years; The page within our lives turned down To hide its anguish and its tears.

A ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN.

He Tests a California Production—His Report.

A St. Louis gentleman whose affliction was sick headaches was surprised at thirty cures by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, that he called to the attention of a relative, who happened to be Dr. F. A. Barrett, the well-known St. Louis physician of 308 Broadway Street. The doctor saw at once that it differed from the potato preparations in that it was purely vegetable, and becoming established, began a series of investigations, and in a subsequent letter candidly admitted its curative properties, and says:—

Wishing to test its virtues further, I used it in my own family, and prescribed it for patients who required a general system regulator. As a result, I can say it is an almost sure cure for constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, and sick headache. These troubles usually come from a disturbed condition of the stomach and bowels, and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the best laxative and stomach regulator I have ever seen, and as a general system regulator it is almost sure to cure.

SCROFULOUS SORES

From Head to Waist a mass of Disease. Suffering Terrible. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I was covered with scrofula sores from my head to my waist, suffering so that I could not sleep nights, and could lie down only with pillows under my arms. My head was so sore that I could not wear a hat; and being a farmer I could not go bareheaded, so wore a very soft handkerchief on my head. In fact, I was a disgusting sight to others and to myself. After doctoring for six years with the best physicians in the country, and getting worse all the time, I had given up all hope of getting well when I saw your CUTICURA Remedies advertised and procured a set, although with little faith in them. The first set, however, did me such a vast amount of good, that I continued their use, and now, after using four sets, I am happy to say that I am entirely cured; and of the prominent business men and farmers in and around Plainfield will endorse my story.

GEORGE A. HEINSELMAN, Plainfield, Ill.
