THE ASTORIAN GUARANTEES to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia River.

(Additional Local News on 1st Page.) The small boy is now anxiously waiting the first frost, and sleds are being put in order for active service.

A chimney in the residence of H. B. Parker, on the Main street hill was burned out last evening. No alarm was sent in, and no damage was done.

The weather is delightful now, but the days, though pleasant, are gradually growing cooler, so that fires are quite agreeable, especially in the evenings.

Colonel Maher met with a painful accident Saturday evening. While going along Second street he slipped, and falling, broke the bones in his left wrist.

Columbia Engine Company, No. Three was out yesterday for a practice drill. Hose was laid and two streams thrown. Everything worked satisfactorily and the boys are more than pleased with their new engine.

It is now stated—semi-officially, that the steamer to go on the route run with the Thompson will be the S. G. Reed, instead of the Harvest Queen. The new schedule will go into effect about the 21st inst.

The Scov Bay Foundry Company is now running on full time turning out a large lot of castings for the South Bend country, and the other side of the river. The foundry is also doing considerable extra work for local foundries.

A representative of C. H. Cooper states that the inference contained in a local in these columns yesterday morning was incorrect, when it stated that the suit brought against Mrs. Rucker by Mr. Cooper was "for clothes bought by her husband," as he claims that the suit was brought for merchandise furnished to Mrs. Rucker.

The recent repairs on the M. E. church in this city cost $1,425, and the entire sum has been raised, so that there is no debt resting upon the church. The pastor and members therefore feel remarkably well pleased at such a state of affairs and gratefully acknowledge the assistance so promptly rendered by the many kind friends who contributed to bring about this desired result.

The readers of the Columbian will observe that it devotes, day after day, the most of its editorial remark to adverse criticism of THE ASTORIAN. Boys, you may be laboring mightily for the prosperity of this city, but it is the opinion of many that your editorial column is filled with such ill-natured drivel simply because you haven't the ability to do anything more sensible than scold a neighbor whose success you envy.

Yesterday forenoon the sands north of the middle channel of the Columbia river, were lined for miles with myriads of sea birds. They were of a brown or black color and of a size between a teal duck and a sea gull. They presented the appearance of a black wall, from an Astoria steamer. Some ten years ago the same phenomenal congregation of these birds took place, but they then extended from the bar up to Tongue Point. Just what their presence betokens is not known. Perhaps an open winter.

Editorials in THE ASTORIAN, as well as in other papers, are not written for imbeciles, idiots, small children, or people of less than ordinary intelligence. Judging from the inability of the editorial representative of our Second street contemporary to comprehend the clear and concise editorials in this paper, it is but natural to suppose he belongs to some of the above named classes of mortals. The poor fellow has our sympathy, but if he will attend school for a few years he may then, possibly, have sense enough to understand what is perfectly clear to every one of average intelligence.

"It's a wonder to me that whole stacks of goods are not nightly carted away," remarked Police Officer Bessley, a few nights ago as he stood guard over the unlocked front doors of one of the largest business houses in this city. "Do I think there's any burglars inside? No, a careless employe has gone home and forgotten to lock the doors," said the officer. "I find two to three stores open every night, and as I remarked, the wonder to me is that the stock in some of them is not carried away. What do I do when I find a store open? Why, I pipe for another officer and while he watches I have to go and dig up an employe and have the place locked up."

Special Meeting. The members of Astoria Engine No. One, are hereby notified that a special meeting of the company will be held at their hall this Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is required.

THAT NEW CONSTRUCTION CO. J. H. Smith the Contractor Is The Manager of It.

A TALK WITH E. T. JOHNSON. E. T. Johnson, the representative of J. H. Smith, the contractor who completed the Seaside division of the Astoria & South Coast railroad, was in the city yesterday and returned to Portland on last evening's steamer.

The mission of Mr. Johnson was to see if some arrangement could not be made with the property owners here or the South Coast Company to pay the claim of Mr. Smith and save the forced sale of the bonds given as security for the payment of work done on the line.

Johnson stated that all Mr. Smith wanted was his money and he thinks it best that the mortgage bonds of the company should be kept intact in order to facilitate their sale in London. What success the gentleman meets with is not known, but he stated that he thought the matter could be managed satisfactorily.

When asked in regard to the new construction company, particulars of the organization of which appeared exclusively in THE ASTORIAN of Friday, Mr. Johnson stated that the company had incorporated with a capital stock of $150,000, and for the purpose stated, that of completing the main line of the Astoria & South Coast road to a connection with the Southern Pacific company. The stock, the gentleman also stated, had all been subscribed, J. H. Smith being the principal owner and the manager of the company.

Asked when operations would be commenced, Mr. Johnson said that he did not know, as it would depend entirely on the sale of the bonds of the road in the European or eastern market. As soon as the company's bonds are placed the work of construction will begin, and once commenced, it will be continued as rapidly as men and money can do it.

"No," said Mr. Johnson, "I know nothing about the engineer representing the London syndicate further than that I saw a cablegram sent to Mr. Reid a few days ago, saying that an engineer to examine the line as surveyed had left for Astoria."

Shall Lady Delegates go to Gen'eral? On Thursday afternoon all the M. E. churches in the Oregon conference will take a vote on the proposition to admit ladies as lay delegates to the general conference which meets in 1892. At the session of 1888, several ladies appeared as delegates but were refused admission on the ground that the constitution did not allow them to appear as delegates. At that session it was voted that the matter be submitted to all the churches in the country, to be voted upon in October or November of 1890, as to whether lady delegates would be admitted at the next session in 1892, for the general conference meets but once in four years.

The polls will be open at the M. E. church in this city, on Thursday afternoon next, from 2 to 9 p. m., and every member of the church over 21 years of age is entitled to cast a vote. The judges will be Oliver Stewart, Mrs. W. I. Crawford and Rev. G. W. Gramis.

Passengers to Portland. The following is the list of passengers leaving tonight on the steamer R. H. Thompson.

Harry Stubbs, J. Strauss, Mr. Jan F. Grant, E. Parrington and wife, Mrs. Young, Mr. L. G. Haven and wife, Mr. McLeod, J. R. McDonald, Mrs. Bots, Miss Fletcher, Mrs. H. S. Travis, A. H. Turner and family, J. Daniel, R. Ammered, D. E. Insley, W. P. Smith, F. Bowen, John Axton, J. H. Langworthy, J. O. Hanthorn, Mrs. Douglas, E. T. Johnson, C. W. Fulton, C. P. Thompson, Mr. Maple, H. A. Smith, Capt. Ewart, Mrs. Langsbury, L. C. Scott, F. Scott, J. G. Bolin and wife, A. J. Johnson.

PERSONAL MENTION. State Fish Commissioner E. P. Thompson, who had been in the city for a couple of days, left for Portland last evening.

State Senator Fulton was a passenger for Portland last evening. He denied that his trip had anything to do with railroad matters, stating that he was going up on private business.

Herman Wise has a large number of fine Christmas presents displayed in his corner window. Not to mention the $100 lot at Chelsea, fine lounge, music box, etc.

A fine bed lounge in Heilborn's window, a lamp at Carahan's and a baby buggy at Strauss', are three very fine presents for Herman Wise's customers.

IMPORTANT. Every person purchasing Ten Dollars worth of Goods from Herman Wise, the Reliable Clothier, in the Occident Hotel building, will receive a Ticket free of Charge, entitling the holder to a chance in the Drawing for a number of Handsome Christmas Presents.

THE M. E. CHURCH. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Kummer Yesterday Morning. At the reopening of the M. E. church yesterday forenoon, the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Kummer from the text: "All things work together for good to those who love and serve the Lord."

He divided the text into three heads as follows: 1st, All things work; 2nd, All things work together; 3d, All things work together for the good of those who love and serve the Lord.

He illustrated the first division of the text by referring to the human body or any other living organism, and considering the numerous parts and how they all work in harmony to accomplish the appointed end; how if one part was lacking the work would be imperfect; even in sleep the brain was working, and the circulation was continually going on or death would ensue. And then he stated about the quantity of blood the heart would pump each minute, and that several thousand million beats the heart would lift a good many thousand tons of blood, and thus he drew the conclusion that all things work and that it is the most necessary fact or feature of all things.

Then he considered the second clause together; for an illustration on this part of the sermon, he used his watch, he showed the audience how each part of the instrument was put together, as necessary as any other part, and that all must work together to fulfill the demands of its maker, so each part must not only work, but they must work together.

Under the third head he inferred that every man would admit that there was an infinite principle, or being, or ruler of the universe, who made and controlled every part of the creation, and that we should not use ornamental telescopes wrong and forego to see Him properly we should bring Him near to us and trust Him as a child would a parent, for we are all in the pit and must look up trustingly until we are rescued.

After the sermon a collection was taken up, and nearly $500 was raised towards paying for repairs on the church.

"TEMPTATION." Synopsis of an Address by Rev. Dr. Kummer Last Evening. A large audience was assembled at the M. E. church last evening to listen to the second sermon of the day by Rev. Dr. Kummer. The discourse was more in the nature of a lecture, and the subject was "Temptation." It was ably handled, and listened to with much earnestness by all present. Sin is abundant in the world and all men are subject to temptation, but if the grace of God is strong in the heart, we can pass unscathed through all surrounding inducements which sin may offer. We cannot escape temptation, but if fortified with the love of God we will be able to resist it.

An example was quoted where a member of his church who had formerly been a drunkard, who for eighteen years had been sustained by the power of God, and kept from drinking by the appeal he still remained in all its force during those long years to such an extent that when the smell of liquor was wafted towards him, it was a temptation to indulge in drink, but prayer to God had enabled him to keep his pledge in the midst of all the temptation.

The speaker admitted that there was considerable fascination in sin, and that some forms of sin were more attractive to one person than to another, but that each person, knowing his strongest form of temptation, must strive to guard against it. Beer is a strong temptation to one person and champagne to another, but whether the one or the other, which has only unfolded to this commonwealth during the past year, to be observed on the part of the whole people by acts of devotion and charity.

Dear Sir: I send $5, for which please return a half dozen of your vegetable sanaparilla. I have moved here from Sierra City, Cal. I took three bottles before leaving, hence I send all the way here to California for more. It was just before I left Sierra City I had a severe cold and my head very miserable. My skin was very yellow, and I was all pain and ache, especially under my shoulders and in my head. The doctor said it was my liver, and gave me some medicine which relieved me somewhat. One of my neighbors happened in and told me she had started to take Joy's Vegetable Sanaparilla, and advised me to try it. I did, and with such good effect that I now feel like a new being. I have persuaded one of my neighbors here to take it, so part of this is for her and part for myself.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Interesting Sermon Last Evening by Rev. G. C. Hall.

ADVICE WELL WORTH HEEDING. "Let your Speech be always with Grace, Seasoned with Salt," was the subject of a discourse delivered in the Congregational church last evening by the pastor, Rev. G. C. Hall, which was listened to by a large and attentive audience. A synopsis of the sermon is given as follows:—

I am ever grateful to him who, in a spirit of meekness and love, privately reminds me of my faults, but I hold him in contempt and pity who gossips about the faults of others. However, it is of little use to talk to the gossamer and flatterer about the beams in his own eye, for he is ever too busy with the motes in the eyes of other people to pay any attention to that. Let not our speech be outlandish, bitter, insolent or angry, neither let it be feeble, insipid, flat and powerless, but let it be with grace, graceful, apt, attractive, interesting, striking, penetrating, cleansing. Let it be with salt, salty.

It is a good rule never to speak of one of whom no good thing can be said; at least, never speak evil of any one, however true it may be except you hope to accomplish some good thereby. There are few so bad that there is no good in them. It is possible to say something good of almost any person.

It is written, "to the pure, all things are pure," and it is fair to say conversely, "to the impure, all things are impure." If you are careful in these respects and industriously store the mind with things honest, just, true, pure and lovely, you will have many delightful things to say and your speech will be with grace, graceful, well seasoned with the salt of righteousness. A well stored mind is essential to fitness of speech.

A minister should study well the people to whom he ministers in the light of all experiences. He should study well the place in which he lives, through current literature and in the light of the history of the past. He should study faithfully he may prove a blessing to his people, to his community and to the age in which he lives.

The speaker alluded to the tendency of many preachers to give gossipy, sensational sermons which entertain those the best to entertain people, but while such may please, tickle or entertain some classes of people they are not the kind of sermons to teach godliness or that tend to save souls.

How much need there is of the salt of righteousness in this corrupt city! How much need of true need of consecrated effort. How much need of christian unity and love. Dr. Kummer preached this morning on the great text, "All things work together for good to them that love and serve the Lord," and as he told about how busily all things worked and how well they work together to conserve the purpose of God, the good of them that love Him, I prayed that this church might work earnestly and work together lovingly for the kingdom of our Lord.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION. By the Governor of the State of Oregon. In pursuance of a time-honored custom, I do hereby appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November, 1890, as a day of public Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the manifold and great blessings which he has graciously unfolded to this commonwealth during the past year, to be observed on the part of the whole people by acts of devotion and charity.

In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the State of Oregon to be affixed, this tenth day of November, A. D. 1890.
