TODAY'S WEATHER. Portland, March 13.—For Western Oregon and Western Washington, rain. For Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington, fair weather.

Local weather for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m., yesterday, furnished by the U. S. department of agriculture, weather bureau: Maximum temperature, 46 degrees. Minimum temperature, 37degrees. Precipitation, from July 1st to date, 55.61 inches.

This paper has the largest Circulation on the Columbia river. An honest and complete telegraphic report gives a newspaper a right and title to the name. The news of the world, fresh every morning at your breakfast table, is what you can find in the Astorian. It holds the exclusive telegraphic franchise, and its service is improving daily.

We respectfully desire to call the attention of the circuit judge to a few facts. On Saturday last, during the impaneling of the jury in the Carruthers case, Mr. Harrison, of Warrenton, was called to a seat in the panel. On being questioned concerning his knowledge of the case, he announced that he had been approached on two occasions by one Walter J. Ingalls, a grand juror, who had both times spoken to him of the matter.

We have in our possession the following letter. It speaks for itself: "Astoria, Or., Mar 8 1893. E. C. Llewellyn:— Dear Sir: You must be on your guard and not let Mr. Cerrothers bonzoze you. I heard that he was treating in Bill Buck's and Sam Harrieses last night. I have no idea that he will get you to swaver false or any such a thing, but he might try to have you leave, or try by friendship to get you to modify your statement as sworn to before the Grand Jury, so I wish to put you on your guard. Yours, W. J. INGALLS.

Some weeks ago this man Ingalls was an applicant before the county commissioners for the position of road supervisor. It was the vote of Mr. Carruthers that threw him out, and gave the place to a candidate whose qualifications were a thousand per cent. better.

It is hardly necessary to say any more. We feel certain that Judge McBride will find a way to bring to account an individual who dares to tamper with justice, and who has so shamefully attempted to make the purest and best power in the land a weapon for private malice and vindictive spite work.

We are sorry to see that the Portland Telegram is still losing itself and floundering around all over the compass about the horrors of the gold standard, and the disastrous demoralization of silver. The gold standard is still the world's market measure. The story that there is not gold enough to serve this purpose is as unreasonable as to say there is not enough wood grown to provide yard sticks. Ninety-seven per cent of the obligations measured in dollars are discharged without handling money. It is done by checks and exchanges—the appliances of civilization and the outcome of it in public credit and general confidence. That which we need is the most exact and inflexible standard of the measurement of value, and gold answers the purpose better than anything else. It is true that for the support of paper currency for the convenience of the people, there should be an abundance of coin; and, also, there are many people who like to carry actual coin in their pockets. Therefore, silver should supplement gold and go alongside it, but not as the metal market stands at the coinage valuation. There should be a new ratio. The object of Senator Sherman in consenting to the law that bears his name, and which, as the Telegram very well knows, is a compromise, was to prepare the way for the actual support of the gold standard with silver. The law is good as far as it goes, but it has one defect that prevents the development of its usefulness—that is, it does not authorize the secretary of the treasury to sell the bullion to replenish the gold reserve. The Cleveland-Carlisle compromise is the abandonment of the gold standard, the resumption of the coinage of silver at the rate of thirty-six millions of dollars per year, and paper inflation at that rate. These wisacres know all about it. We will watch with interest and see where they pull up.

We notice in yesterday's Oregonian a letter that contains statements of special significance to residents of Clatsop county. It is written by Mr. T. K. Roberts, of Woodburn. Here is an extract. "I solicit your effort for securing an amendment to the criminal law of our state. Under the existing law prosecutions can be instituted on the slightest pretext and many times are, as is well known, begun without just cause, for that matter. Innocent parties are subject to a species of undesirable notoriety, to the humiliation of arrest and sometimes imprisonment, and the necessity of defense, through base motives or ignorance, that is of itself criminal. In the absence of a more practical method, I would suggest an amendment to the present law, requiring the party filing information to give security for costs incurred by the preliminary examination, in case the state failed to find against the prisoner. The above named amendment is anything but new, having been for years in force in other states. It would annually save thousands of dollars thrown away in our courts to serve personal ends."

The lectures that President Harrison will deliver at Stanford University will command the attention of the whole country, and particularly interest the legal profession. President Harrison is first, after being a good citizen, a great lawyer. He consults all the proprieties and considers all the possibilities of usefulness in returning to his home at Indianapolis and lecturing on law at the University of California.

Ten years ago, when the phylloxera damaged the wine crop of France, the French wine makers thought they had found the fruit they wanted to assist in the production of claret in the currants of the Ionian Islands. But the currants spoiled the wine. Now they have struck the very thing—the American huckleberry.

The coarse "wit" that crops out in some of our republican exchanges in the shape of silly rhymes on the names of the new Cleveland cabinet, is nauseating. Such silly work is sure to bring about a result the very opposite of that desired by the brilliant minds from which is emanated.

Gov. Flower gives a good reason for not having ridden at the head of his staff in the inaugural procession. He says: "He had seen Hill in the saddle, when he was Governor, two or three times, he declared, and that settled the matter with him for once and all."

This morning we print the result of our first weekly public school contest. We hope that the number of competitors will increase every week, and that interest in the competition will be redoubled.

STRICKEN DEAD. TRUSTWORTHY STATEMENTS. A recent New York dispatch reads: "James C. H., a fine looking and apparently healthy man, was observed to stagger while walking on Fifth Avenue this afternoon, and after taking one or two certain steps fell to the sidewalk. When picked up he was dead. A physician examined the body, and pronounced heart disease the cause of death. A peculiarly sad feature of the case is that Mr. H. was on his way to Maine, to settle in the home of his boyhood. He had passed the previous ten years in the western mining country, and had amassed a fortune. IF YOU have any of the symptoms given in the following testimonials you should lose no time in seeking relief.

From John L. Roberts, Slatington, Pa.: "I have suffered with palpitation, irregular pulse, fainting and aching soles, pain in shoulders, side, and arms for over forty years. For twelve years have been treated without avail by prominent physicians in my neighborhood and in New York. Growing constantly worse, smothering spells followed one another, so my life was often in danger and I needed constant care. As my son had been cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, he sent me three bottles. The first dose gave me instant relief. Before using the last bottle I was completely cured. Although seventy-five years old I feel twenty years younger. I claim my cure to be almost a miracle."

Here is a letter from Mrs. John Kolges, of Cleveland, O.: "I had been troubled with my heart and stomach for years, but for sixteen months had been confined to my bed. I had four of the best doctors in the city, but none of them could benefit the weakness of my heart. I also had dropsy and rheumatism. I never took medicine that relieved me at once as Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure does. I am much stronger. My appetite is splendid. I gain strength with every dose. I have gained more in six weeks from your treatment than in sixteen months from all the doctors."

"Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists. It is safe, effective, agreeable, and does cure." Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
