LOOK AT THIS! A PRACTICAL STEAMBOAT MAN.

Columbia Harbor No. 22, has endorsed Captain Wm. T. Forsman for supervising inspector of steam vessels for the First District, comprising the Pacific coast. Captain Foreman was born in the city of New Albany, Ind., June 11, 1852, and went to California with his parents in 1866. He graduated from the public schools of Santa Rosa, Cal., after which he served an apprenticeship of three years at the machinist's trade. He then secured a position in the engineering department on a steamer on the Sacramento river, where he advanced step by step and proved himself worthy of pro-LARGE LIBRARY FREE motion. From the engine room he went to the pilot house, and for more than twenty years Captain Forsman has been recognized as one of the most skilful masters and pilots on the inland waters of California. He is greatly respected by his fellow craftsand he is highly endorsed by the owners of steam vessels, for the position of supervising inspector. He is a man of sterling integrity and his years of practical experience as a steamboat master and pilot, and his familiarity with all the uses of steam and of machinery on steam vessels, together with his thorough knowledge of the wants of the First District, which go to improve the inspection ities as an executive officer are of the highest order and cannot be questioned. It is believed that the service would be benefited by his appointmnt. Captain Forsman has also been en-

Business rivalries cause a good many little frauds. A merchant explains why "As soon as I get up a good thing, say in chocolate-but it would be the same if it were candy, butter carpets, handkerchiefs, paints or pills some rival will imitate it in quality and put it on the market at a lower rate. To hold my own I've got to cut his price, but as I can't do that and make a profit I must adulterate the article a little. He knows the dodge and he will do the same thing. So we go, cutting at each other, until both of our articles are so cheap and poor that nobody will buy them. Then I start the pure goods again, under another name, and the whole circus has to be gone over again."

Seven hundred tons of butter arrived in London in one shipment from Australia two weeks ago. Its total value was about $340,000.

There is a man in Griffin, Ga., who is hoarding a million dollars of confederate money in the hope that it will become valuable some day.

In Table Rock, Neb., the wife of the present republican postmaster, whose term has about expired, has appealed to the administration to let the office remain in the family because she is a stalwart democrat. Her case is not unlike one that attracted attention in England recently. The occupant of a destrable postmastership there was about to be retired because of having reached the age limit, and his wife applied for and obtained the place,

"What is manslaughter?" asked the teacher. There was a dead silence. "Well," he continued, "if I should point a pistol in fun at some one, and if it should go off and kill him, what would it be?"
