Among the passengers on the Danube are some very intelligent Chinese, and some who evidently have read newspapers from this section of the country. Evidence of this fact was furnished yesterday when Dr. Walker was going up the steamer's gangway. "Hello, Doctor," said one of the Mongolians; "any railroad news?" "Astoria and Portland railroad," remarked another, and then a general laugh was raised among about a dozen of them. The doctor was dumbfounded, but when he recovered himself sufficiently, he laughed as heartily as anyone.

A letter was received in this city yesterday from a well-known broker of New York and Philadelphia, stating that Mr. Arthur Schermerhorn, a prominent broker on Wall street, who had been talking of investing a large amount of money in Astoria, had come recently to one of the directors of the Union Pacific road, and after telling the railroad director of his intentions, asked him when the Union Pacific road was likely to build to Astoria. The answer was that there was no prospect of the road being built this year, as the financial situation did not justify it. Mr. Schermerhorn is one of the Astor family, and is thoroughly familiar with the history of the city.

There were lively times about noon yesterday on Second street. A crazy Chinese, who was said to have come from South Bend, began a series of pranks by beating another Mongolian over the head with a stick. Being overpowered the crazy man desisted, and walked up the street, gesticulating violently. He then took up a stool and with it broke two panes of glass in the window of a Chinese store. He then took off his rubber boots and coat, and issued a sweeping challenge to Chinese to fight him. While thus engaged Sheriff Smith appeared and laid his heavy hand on him and took him to the county jail. It was stated by others of the Chinamen that the demented one was cheated out of a year's salary at South Bend, and had become insane on that account.

The following from yesterday's Oregonian would indicate that the Union Pacific, for this year at least, has no intention of building to this city: "General Manager Edward Dickinson, of the Union Pacific, accompanied by E. Buckingham, superintendent of car service; J. H. McConnell, superintendent of motive power and machinery; L. H. Korty, superintendent of telegraph; and C. A. Coons and J. S. Sykes, who are also connected with the road, arrived from Omaha yesterday afternoon and are at the Portland. Mr. Dickinson says that the visit is not an important one, being simply the usual trip of inspection. Asked if it had any connection with the proposed resumption of work on the Astoria road, he replied in the negative. He says that the road was found to be in good condition, and some improvements and repairs under way are progressing rapidly. The Albu shops were inspected by Mr. Dickinson immediately after his arrival and were found to be in excellent shape. Mr. Dickinson will leave today on a trip over the company's branches in Washington, after which the party will return to Omaha."

A special meeting of the session of the Presbyterian church, called at the request of the pastor, Rev. R. B. Dilworth, to investigate certain newspaper statements prejudicial to his ministerial character, was held on the 16th inst. Besides the members of the session, there were present by invitation, the following members of the Portland Presbytery—Rev. Arthur J. Brown, D. D., Rev. Thomas Boyd, and Rev. W. S. Holt. The investigation resulted in the rendering of the following decision:

- 1. The session finds that the statements published are mostly untrue, and that while we consider some acts were injudicious, they were not immoral in their character, nor was any evidence adduced to show that they were actuated by improper motives.
2. That in the judgment of the session nothing has been proved concerning the character or conduct of Mr. Dilworth, or concerning any change in the attitude of the congregation toward him, which justify us in accepting his resignation, or which demand the action of the Presbytery.

C. A. HANSEN, JOHN T. ROSS, M. KRONQUIST, E. C. HOLDEN, Elders.

We concur in the above judgment: ARTHUR J. BROWN, Moderator of the Session, THOMAS BOYD, W. S. HOLT.

All members of Carpenters' Union No. 529 are hereby requested to attend the regular meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock, as there is business of importance to transact. By order of the president; Wm. A. Fry, recording secretary.

Governor Penoyer has pardoned six more criminals and turned them loose on the community. One of the six is Charles T. Michells, who was convicted of the crime of manslaughter in the circuit court of this county in March, 1891, for having killed a man named Johnson. The circumstances of the killing are, no doubt, still comparatively fresh in the minds of the readers of The Astorian. Johnson was accused by Michell's daughter, Nellie, of having seduced her, and Michell went after Johnson without delay, finding him in bed in the lodging house of Mrs. Vincent, near the Seaside cannery, and shooting him down while he was asleep. The body of Johnson was found in a pig pen, where he had run after being shot. It was supposed on account of Michell's well-known bad character and other circumstances connected with the case, that he would not get off as easy as he did, but the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter, and Judge Taylor sentenced him to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Mr. Penoyer, however, shows his belief in the advisability of attempting the reformation of criminals rather than protecting the community.
