ALDERBROOK SCHOOL.

The following is the report for the year ending June 9, 1893:

Number of months taught, 10; number of days taught, 183; total number of days' attendance, 9,410; number of boys enrolled, 23; number of girls enrolled, 37; total number of pupils enrolled, 60; average number belonging, 51.6; average daily attendance for term, 69.

This school includes all grades, from the chart class to the eighth grade, but all have worked in harmony to the expressed satisfaction of the patrons and of the directors, and a marked advancement is noticeable in all the classes. Mrs. Williams has ably assisted in teaching all through the term. Many of the parents have shown their appreciation by their frequent visits and words of encouragement.

The attendance and punctuality have been remarkable, the pupils themselves being very earnest in these respects. Most of the tardiness has been by the members of two or three families.

Florence Goddard, Allie Goddard, Arthur Agren, Tillie Williams, and George Olson are placed on the roll of honor for being present every day for the whole ten months, while Annie Haaven, Ella A. Nelson, and Tina Peterson were neither absent nor tardy while members of the school. Several others were absent only a few days on account of sickness.

We have had several public literary entertainments which were all well attended, the closing one on Friday being among the best. But the final closing exercise was a Demorest medal contest by members of the school, as follows:

Song, "Happy Reulah Land," School Song, "Don't Go Out Tonight," Contestant No. 1, "The Cry of Today," Contestant No. 2, "Myrtle With No. 2, "Not Dead Nor Dying," Contestant No. 3, "Stay at Home Tonight," Contestant No. 4, "Ellen Hess and May Young No. 3, "The Bumeller's Legal Right," Contestant No. 5, "Annie Lewis No. 4, "You Can Stop It If You Will," Contestant No. 6, "Lizzie Ansty Song, "Father is Drinking Again," Contestant No. 7, "Three Girls No. 5, "In the Bushel or in the Jug," Contestant No. 8, "May Young No. 6, "Prohibition Warriors Form in Line," Contestant No. 9, "Mabel Williams Remarks and Presentation of the Medal to Contestant No. 6, by the Judge, J. A. Rannels, Lizzie Scott and Lucy Morton. Song, "Vacation Song," School.

All did exceedingly well. The medal was awarded to contestant Number 6.

ALBERT WILLIAMS, Teacher.

ALONG THE WHARVES.

The staunch and trim Telephone yesterday made the run from Portland to Kalama (forty miles) in one hour and fifty-five minutes. The trip included two landings. At this rate the Telephone could make the trip from Portland to Astoria in four and a half hours. Captain Crang was in the pilot house and Evans was engineer.

The Haytian Republic finished discharging her coal last night, and leaves this morning for Portland with the 161 Chinese passengers. Considering the information received in Washington relative to the invalidity of the claims of the Mongolians, it is not thought that Mr. Lotan will admit a large proportion of them.

The steamer Truckee leaves San Francisco for this port today.

The steamer Ocean Wave came down from Portland yesterday afternoon, and crossed to Ilwaco.

The British ship Craigorne, hence for Queenstown for orders, was spoken in latitude 19 north, longitude 42 west on the 13th of May.

The ship Reaper received lumber and salmon yesterday.

The Western Belle will take a dock load of small spars and lumber to New York. A number of the former were received on board yesterday.

The barge load of ore from Port Townsend for the Linton Smelting Works, arrived in port yesterday, having been towed to the bar by the tug Mogul, and then taken in charge by the Wallowa. There are 700 tons of ore on board.

Appropos of the trap fishing suit it is observed that the game and fish protector is not confined to the justice courts in prosecuting offenders. The act of February 22, 1893, creating the office of game and fish protector and defining his powers and duties, gives him two methods of procedure. Section 5 empowers him to direct any district attorney to begin prosecution of offenders in the district court in which offenses are committed. The district attorney has no option in the matter, and must act if so directed. The other procedure is defined in section 3, which empowers the game and fish protector or any other peace officer or deputy in the state to arrest without warrant any persons violating the statutes for the protection of game, fish and song birds, and take them before a magistrate, who must try them without delay.

The salmon run yesterday was very poor, judged by the returns at some of the canneries. At George & Barker's three or four boats were "skunked," or, in plain English, got no fish, while many others brought in but few. The average was very low, and the same report was received from several of the other canneries.

Some time ago a barber of German birth came to this city and interviewed several of the tonorial artists with a view to purchasing the good-will of an established house, and among others called upon was Mr. Schone, of the Occident Hotel, who talked with his countryman, but refused to sell out. A few days ago Mr. Schone received a letter from a sister in Germany, and from it he learned that it was an old schoolmate who had called upon him. The two left school some time in the sixties, branching out to make a living for themselves, and both decided to learn the barber's trade. They had never met or heard of each other in the interval.

The following letter has been received by Miss Powell, of the Oliver Wendell Holmes Society of Court street school: Boston, May 26, 1893.

My dear Madam: It gives me great pleasure to learn that your school is to do me the honor of devoting an hour or two to the consideration of my writings.

I hope your scholars may find something in them to pay them for their trouble and I assure them that they have my thanks and my heartiest good wishes.

Very truly yours, OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.
