CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

In the circuit court yesterday the case of F. F. Honeyman vs. O. J. Thomas et al. was on trial. It was taken under advisement by the court. The case of August Kynzie vs. J. E. Saari et al. was set for argument on Monday, July 2d at 10 a. m.

In the matter of the assignment of Elmer Warnstaff, the report of the assignee was taken under consideration.

The suit of C. W. Shively vs. the city of Astoria was on trial, the following witnesses being sworn: W. B. Ross, H. B. Ferguson, G. Wingate, Maxwell Young, Mr. Stuart and W. A. Sherman. The case differs from the other tax suits recently decided by Judge McBride in favor of the city, in that Mr. Shively made a legal tender of a certain amount of taxes without demanding a receipt in full, but claiming that he has been over-assessed. In the other suits Judge McBride ruled that in order to make a legal tender of tax it is necessary that the tender should be unconditioned and without a demand for a receipt in full.

A SLAVE-BORN CONGRESSMAN.

In the biographical sketch which he furnishes for the new congressional directory, the following story is told:

"George Washington Murry was born September 22, 1853, of slave parents, near Rembert, Sumpter county, S. C. Emancipation found him a lad of 11 summers. Bereft of both parents, thrown upon the rugged shores of early emancipation, after a cruel and dehumanizing war had deprived the population of almost all the finer sensibilities of human sympathies and philanthropy, without a friend upon whom to rely for either aid or advice, he entered upon the fierce combat then in progress in an impoverished section for the indispensable bread of life.

"Among the waifs of his neighborhood, in 1866 he picked up his alphabet and acquired an imperfect and crude pronunciation of the monosyllables; during the next five years he so industriously applied himself in efforts to improve his meager stock of knowledge that in January, 1871, he entered, while in session, for the first time, a day school, but as teacher, not scholar. He taught until the fall of 1874, when he successfully passed a competitive examination, and obtained a scholarship as sub-freshman in the reconstructed university of South Carolina. Having passed through his alma mater to his junior year, the accession to power of an administration unfriendly to the coeducation of the races (1876) forced him out doors. He re-entered the public schools of his county as a teacher, and was successfully employed until February, 1880. In the contest for the nomination he was approved by such brilliant leaders and astute politicians as General Robert Small, Hon. T. E. Miller, Hon. E. M. Brayton, J. H. Ostendorff and others. On the third ballot he was nominated, having received 20 to 9 ballots. Although he was opposed in the election by one of the wealthiest and most popular democrats in the state, he was returned by the managers of elections, nearly all of whom were democrats, by about 1000 majority, notwithstanding twelve of his strongest polls were not open. Having thus run the gauntlet of the various boards of managers and canvassers, he was elected as a republican to the Fifty-third congress, receiving 4955 votes, against 4955 votes for J. W. Moore, democrat, and 42 votes scattered."
