WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, July 10th, 1893.

Rumors are flying thick and fast of an intention on the part of the free coinage democrats to bolt the Democratic caucus and vote the republican caucus nominee for speaker, in order to defeat the administration program, which includes the re-election of Speaker Crisp. The new house will have a total membership of 356, of whom 128, are republicans and 13 populists. Should 33 of the 215 democrats bolt the democratic caucus it would be possible to defeat Crisp, but while it is possible, no well informed person considers it probable. It is more likely that these rumors are started for the purpose of obtaining concessions to the democratic silver men in the make-up of the house committees through the fear of Crisp and the administration that such a combination might be made. While the republicans could not prevent the populists and bolting democrats voting for their nominee for speaker if they wished to do so, they do not as a rule regard the election of a republican speaker under such circumstances as a very desirable thing.

Two members of the cabinet will take their vacation at government expense. Sec. Herbert, who has just returned from the World's Fair, will this week start upon what he is pleased to call an inspection of the eastern navy yards. He will go on the Dolphin and the trip will be along the Atlantic coast as far east as Maine. Sec. Hoke Smith goes Herbert several better, as he, in company with his wife and three children, his father and mother, two nieces and three invited guests, is now on a western inspection tour, in a private car, and will take in the World's Fair and other points of interest along the route. Great is the "inspection tour," particularly when it is manipulated by a so-called reform administration. Democratic editors use to call such trips "pleasure junkets."

In addition to his efforts to reduce the pension roll, through the various methods already widely published, Commissioner Lochren has been directed by the president, according to information from a trustworthy source, to prepare a number of bills to be introduced in congress, which would drop a large number of pensioners should they become law. The intention is to put forward the most harmless of these bills first, as congressional pulse feelers, the others to follow in regular order if congress appears to be in accord with the administration, or to be laid aside until a more propitious time should the contrary prove to be true. Representative Holman is not in accord with the administration on the pension question, notwithstanding his general fondness for economy. He is reported to have said the other day that if the pension program which has been drawn up by Mr. Cleveland and Sec. Hoke Smith be carried out the republicans would have a majority of at least fifty in the house of the fifty-fourth congress, the members of which will be elected next year.

By the death of Justice Blatchford Mr. Cleveland gets an altogether unexpected (that is, unexpected until about two weeks ago) plum to dispose of where it will do the most good to Clevelandism. Sec. Carlisle would very willingly give up the cares and responsibilities of the head of the treasury for a lifetime berth on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

It was said at the time that Mr. Carlisle was hesitating about becoming a member of the cabinet that he was promised a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court before the end of the administration, but even granting that promise to have been made it does not necessarily follow that he will get this vacancy. Sec. Gresham was reported to have received a similar promise.

There was a delay of four days in the issue of the last weekly Patent Office Gazette, owing to the contract for printing it having in the interest of democratic economy been taken away from a concern which has the facilities for getting it out properly and giving it to one that lacks them. The same experiment was made in the early days of the first Cleveland administration, and had to be abandoned because of the delay and bad work.

Mr. Cleveland's health is again a leading topic of conversation. That it has not been entirely good has for some time been apparent to those who have come into close contact with him and that his physician has forbidden his doing any work for the present is known here, but it is generally thought to be nothing more serious than overwork, caused by his queer habit of spending hours over routine work that might just as easily be performed by one of the clerks at the White House. A doctor who knows him sums up his case thus: "Oh, Cleveland is just like most fat men; he is a slave to his stomach, and every once in a while it brings him to his knees. If he does not learn to control it, it will eventually kill him, just as other fat men are being killed every day."

A musicale will be given at the M. E. church, Thursday evening, July 27th, under the auspices of the young people. A splendid program will be furnished and all are cordially invited.

A. W. Utzinger, with his usual enterprise, will open up a first class theatre in the Cosmopolitan, where he has lately had erected a new stage and dressing rooms. Muller & Morris, the first company to appear in the Cosmopolitan will arrive on the steamer State of California next Saturday, and they come well recommended. It is the intention of Mr. Utzinger to have only first-class people show in his house, so that people who visit the new theatre may expect something well worth their time in going to see. A new show will be put on every week. The program for Muller & Morris' show will be published in due time.

The Astoria Library will be opened Tuesdays and Saturdays at 1 p. m. for the use of county subscribers. Time on books is extended to 21 days.

It happened at Shanahan Bros.: Was there ever anything like it? Long before 8 o'clock a great company filled the sidewalk in front of our store. Down the street, up the street, the dense crowd waited patiently for the doors to open. Everyone of the hundred knew that great bargains awaited them; everyone knew the value of the promise. They were there because of that promise, and because of better faith in it, they filled the store in a moment. They saw, and they were conquered. They came pretty near conquering us, too. We were obliged to close the doors at times, the store was so full. How our clerks bent to the work! How the goods went! And then when night came, how the clerks went down tired with the strain! Today the work will be continued. Doors open at 8 o'clock, to give us time to get all things in order. You will come again for more of the goods you bought yesterday. You will come with your friends whom you told all about it. The same bargains will be here. We will welcome you again, and all your friends. Yours for low prices. Shanahan Bros.
