The George Detrick Steamship Company is out in a circular denying a report that it intends to discontinue running steamers from San Francisco to Portland July 3, the Truckee stopped at Astoria, transferring her Portland freight to the Telephone. The company is now giving an eight-day service between San Francisco and Portland, and intends to continue to do so. On the last two trips up, a decided increase in the freight list was noted. L. P. The Astoria Herald's graphic likenesses of the gentlemen likely to be elected chief and assistant of the city fire department, leave nothing to be desired, except, perhaps, an elaboration of the readable and reliable biographies appended to the cuts. There seems to be, in one or two instances, some discrepancies in the dates, but that may be accounted for and excused the ground of necessary haste in compiling the statistics and reading the proof. It is to be hoped that the work will not fall under the gavel of Hubert Howe Bancroft, of Chicago and San Francisco, for if it should that enterprising publisher would tempt the general and gifted author to emigrate to those distant climes, at a salary of not less than $123,456,789 per annum, and we should lose the sunlight of his presence, and the effulgence of his genius. The Astorian suggests that he Curtiss preserve his incognito. Utzinger's Cosmopolitan Theater was thronged as usual last evening and every one was delighted with Miss Zola Vera, Miss Millie Morris and Frank Milles, the talented theatrical artists, in songs and specialties. Splendid music was furnished, and the excellent and varied program, which will be reproduced this evening, was an immense success, the audience showing their appreciation of a first class show. For the next thirty days I will sell a part of my stock of paper for less than cost. An oversupply and hard times force me to make this sacrifice. ASTORIA'S SPLENDID BANKING CONDITION. The exclusive announcement in yesterday afternoon's Astorian Extra that three more Portland banks, making six in all, had closed their doors, created a flurry in local business circles, but no excitement was noticeable, not even the customary gatherings on the corners to discuss the event. THE REASON THEREFOR is evident. Neither Astoria banks nor business houses are affected there by. Our banks are fortunate in having had conservative managements, and so, with no kites in the wind the financial breeze doesn't bother them. Every one of them has assets far in excess of all liabilities and in addition thereto they all have large capitals, property owners, and wealthy stock holders to back them. All that is needed is that our people shall USE ORDINARY DISCRETION and keep along in accustomed paths, letting the speculators and crazy headed bank raiders of the big cities, injure themselves by rash and injudicious runs on the monetary institutions. Instead of wilfully and intentionally crippling our banks let depositors gather up all the money they can and strengthen the hands of the managers. Simply stand by and protect the enviable standard of solvency our banks have attained, and a few days from now, when the scare is over, and the panic subsided, we will have the proud distinction of being one of the few cities in which not a single failure occurred. THE POLLY OF RUNS is indisputably shown by the senseless weakening of the Portland Savings bank a concern which has assets, at a very conservative estimate, of over $2,950,000, and liabilities of only $2,475,000, a clear and ordinarily available surplus of $475,000. The only reason why such solid banks as that, and the Commercial and Astoria National, close their doors is that they cannot, in an emergency realize on their securities. The banks' creditors will lose nothing; not a penny. They will have to wait a few days until things adjust themselves or current funds can be procured in exchange for bonds, deeds, notes, mortgages, and the other forms of interest paying securities, in which all banks deal. OUR BANKS ARE SOLID. For there is not one but has more wealth in sight, than claims against it, and every depositor therein is amply protected. Blow high or blow low. Keeping this satisfactory fact in view, and as much for self-preservation, too, let our business men and manufacturers, all classes of bank creditors, go out of their way to bar any chance or possibility of those institutions being embarrassed. It is a duty today and will be a glory hereafter. Common sense and public spirit were never more needed than now, and their exercise at this time will cover the city with credit and be the best possible advertisement for it abroad.

ASTORIA'S SPLENDID BANKING CONDITION. (Continued from previous page) We have the pleasure to announce a new departure—the location of an agency in New York city for the purchase and selection of our stock, in order to enable us to quote lower prices than others who buy on long time and ask big prices in these days of panic and hard times. Our agent has instructions to watch every sale and failure, to look after every house on the verge of bankruptcy and ruin, and with cash in hand to buy the lump, or in the lot, every class of merchandise that we can get at less than its value, so that we can mark in plain figures on our bargain prices that have not been named or quoted in this market or any other. Not by favor, but by merit alone, will we maintain and increase our unrivalled reputation. Big prices will not do in these times, when even the wealthy cannot afford to waste their money and the poor require double duty of every dollar and every penny. As our prices change with every sale, it will be impossible to give quotations, but it will be our aim to name figures that will compel you in self-defense to buy of us. We deal in good goods, not trash, and believe the masses will patronize the house that sells the best goods for the least money. Among our daily arrivals we shall place before our people some landlides that are positively beyond the whimper of competition, comparison or monopoly; prices that will teach you in the silent logic of truth the difference between dealing with live and dead men, between the cash and credit system, between the right and the wrong way. Hence we throw out among the masses these specialties—these matchless goods and matchless prices—to check the insane and criminal practice of wasting money for the paltry consideration of a little credit. Who can tell the waste of money when you get your goods of houses that buy and sell on long time? Gold is a good thing, but give us genius and ambition, and then an energy that never tires, a mind that never wanders, an eye that never sleeps, and a nerve that never quivers, and we will ride rough-shod all over the world. New advanced ideas are crowding out the old, pluck instead of luck, cash instead of credit, brains in the place of cheek, science and ability beating back and crushing into oblivion these moonshine merchants with their tough and tremendous long-time prices. What is the use of wasting a dollar when you may save it? Upon our counters will be thrown, day after day, new arrivals in panic prices, from houses that collapsed, others that will go down tomorrow, and still others who throw out these sacrifices in vain hopes to outlive the storm. From such sources as these we buy our goods, and the house that wants the trade of the people must go beyond these advanced lines, must beat these prices or go down, for if there is honor in man or virtue in good goods at low prices we mean to be masters of the situation—the live pioneers who dive down to rock bottom. We shall answer such unanswerable arguments as no house can match; leaders and specialties at quotations that no other can offer; stern and stubborn facts that will level your head on the subject of genuine bargains. Hard luck and harder times pinch some high-toned old concerns. They must have money to meet the inevitable note tomorrow. They all know we have the cash—the hard and solid cash—and a thousand will buy double the value, and we can offer goods at figures away below the regular wholesale jobbers. We wish to right the wrong, and believe the god of battle is ever with the right. When bankruptcy and ruin overtakes the victim we are always there with the American dollar. When the hammer of the auctioneer falls upon such grand and gigantic windshakes listen to our name. Thus we are fighting against the old, rotten credit system for money, for reputation and for the people. This is the music these low prices that crowd our store whilst other merchants sleep on their counters, little dreaming of the day of disaster and ruin awaiting all who buy on long time and sell on longer—who pay big prices, and all at figures that no people can afford to pay. We invite an early and repeated visit and inspection. Our stock will be replenished every few days, and to merchants we offer some special leaders fully 15 to 20 per cent. less than current prices in New York city.
