OUR PEERLESS ADVANTAGES

The average human whether young or old is generally possessed of a be flet that he has to struggle agains greater difficulties than do those who live in some distant neighborhood-"Distance lends enchantment to the It is well, therefore, that one should occasionally have an opportu the Golden State after an absence of several years spent in Oregon, and particularly in Astoria. Residents of the emerald clothed North west, with its occasional summer showers and prolongued season of rain, are often disposed to yearn for the cloudless skies of a southern clime But let them leave this webfoot coun try with its fir-clad hills, and slivery

Southern California is a ric hand properous section and people there probably enjoy themselves as much as those of other places. There are many beautiful homes, but they are almost en tirely the result of artificial conditions brought about by irrigation.

Private gardens and public parks are heautified by the luxurbant shade trees, of the temperate and semi-tropic zones. Citrus fruits are abundant, Evening parties out of doors are unthreatened by rain; everything favors social intercourse after the labors of the day are done. Orange blossoms float in the sensuous air and everyone is married or expects to be in this "Land of the Afternoon," as its people and fond of calling it.

Careful observation has convinced the writer that for healthfulness, agreeable diversity of weather and scasons. Patural advantages, insuring certain and abundant reward for intelligent lodustry. Oregon is without a peer.

NATURE DEMANDS A TONIC.

We ought never to forget, even those of us who possess vigorous health, that we are wearing out—that the vital clock work, so to speak, must event ually run down. This, of course, we cannot prevent, because it is in the ordinary course of nature, but we may retard the too speedy arrival of decay by the use of an invigorant which takes rank of every other—namely. Hostet rank of every other—namely, Hostet ter's Stomach Bitters. This century has not witnessed a parallel in success to this famous medicine, which not only sustains health by promoting vigor but overcomes constipation, dyspepsia but overcomes consupation, dyspepsas-chills and fever nervousness, rheuma tism, and other disordered conditions of the system fostered by weakness and an impoverished condition of the blood. The feeble, persons convalescing after exhausting disease, and the aged, derive infinite benefit from the use of this helpful and efficient tonic.
