"THE MONKEY ON THE STICK."

Astoria's army of bicyclists is grow ing larger every day, and Genevleve Third, and Second are very seldom without one or two safetles, for in this summer weather the heard roads afford soft and smooth riding for pneumatic tires. In the recent victory of was stated in one report that he "won casily without having to lean on his machine." If this athletic young man will continue to ride in the same manner he will cast a powerful influence on the side of those who favor the erect posture on the bicycle, and condemn in every way possible the position which so forcibly recalls that toy of our childhood known as the "monkey on the stick." Everyone who rides a wheel is aware, of course, that assistof some of its weight, but the cases riders can so school themselves that durable, the movement may be entirely dispensed with. The triumph of Zimmerman demonstrates the fact that even

muscles, a bicycle rider can sit perfectly crect in the saddle and make good time and get greater benefits from the exercise than he can by leaning over and imitating a frog in the act of jumping. Some bicycles are made so that the rider cannot sit erect

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently : "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adop-tion of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the All these are bad enough to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national erime-of overwork. The mad rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year.

A very decided sentiment has been manifested against this freak in bicycling, and some good results have already appeared. The younger element of riders in this city should take our bint, given in all kindness, and brace up.

On a tree on the Turner road a few miles south of Salem is planed a card which bears the plainly written words "Go to Alhany-Salem is dead." This is sentiment of a humorou genus tramp, for she presses him into active service, makes his bread by the sweat of his face, which is the severest pun ishment to him. This writer is not posted on the disposition of tramps by the Albany authorities .-. Statesman.

On catching sight of this paragraph an Albany paper of course, selzes on it and after extolling the writers of the latter town, supports the idea that Salem is dead, and crows over its own supposition. In addition to being a dis-courtesy, this is a plain lie. Salem is today one of the brightest and mest solid little cities in the Northwest. It On catching sight of this paragraph is very possible that Albany may be too, nome day, but it is a mistake to imagine that that position can be attained by a perpetual attempt to cast mean slurs at towns more fortunate. and faster in the race.
