TODAY'S WEATHER.
Portland, Or., Aug. 28.—For Oregon and Washington: Continued fair weather; slightly warmer; dense fogs in coast district Tuesday morning.

Local weather for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m., yesterday, furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, weather bureau.
Maximum temperature, 62 degrees.
Minimum temperature, 51 degrees.
Precipitation, none.
Total precipitation from July 1st, 1893, to date, 1.13 inch.
Deficiency of precipitation from July 1st, 1893, to date, 1.16 inch.

To the Public:
Yesterday, as mortgagee of the Astorian-Columbian Publishing Co., and Mr. P. W. Parker's interests in the same, I purchased the plant, good will, and appurtenances of the institution at public auction. From this time on, therefore, I am owner and proprietor of this newspaper, and desire in that capacity to reiterate the statements and pledges made by me in these columns on the 19th inst. The Astorian will in the future as in the past, stand on the representative of Clatsop county and the City of Astoria, and more than ever will strive to merit your hearty support.

Very respectfully, SAMUEL ELMORE.

THE GOOD CAUSE WINS.

Bland and his free silver hypocrisy have been forever squelched. Yesterday's proceedings in the house, as detailed in such an interesting manner by our dispatches this morning, not only repeated the Sherman act but showed by the vote on Bland's amendment that there is an overwhelming majority against the silver folly. We are glad that our faith in the common sense of congressmen, irrespective of party, has not been misplaced. And now, looking at it in the light of past events, what a humbug was the Bland theory and how shallow were the "silvermen" their primary contention has been that, without regard to the markets, there was an inherent an inalienable right to pay all debts in silver dollars; and that the lower the price of silver the greater the advantage of the people. This was the core of the silver question.

Once there was a great, almost overwhelming outcry that the national debt should be paid with greenbacks. The idea was that there was no sense in paying interest on any portion of the national obligations. If there was a bit of paper stamped as a dollar by the United States, it was a dollar. Why then should we not pay the bonds in our own free green paper? All that was needed was an order from congress signed by the president, some weeks of printing and the debt was paid. The argument ran this way: "Here, you, I want more money in this country. Don't you? The greenback is a good thing is it not? Then let us have some more greenbacks. The nation will pay its debts, and we will pay our debts. As for redeeming paper, let us wear it out." This was really the Confederate—the grayback system of finance. It was a very base form of repudiation.

We are in receipt of the following letter from "A Lover of the Gold Dollar":
In these times of scarcity of currency, and much discussion how to relieve the same, will you please make known the fact that there is such a thing as a gold one-dollar coin? A fact in the last few days may seem strange, and needs publicity if much of such ignorance is widespread. I paid one of my girls a one-dollar gold coin. She took it in surprise; tried to purchase some things in two or three stores, only to have it refused, saying they did not know of any gold coin less than $5. Failing to pass it, she brought it back, with the request to give her "another dollar," as she could not get people to accept that one. The $5 or $9-cent dollar would have found a welcome and procured a purchase, but a 100-cent dollar had no friend to give it shelter. I've done a deal of thinking, and now ask you to say in your columns a good word for this little stranger, as I may want to start it going again soon, and do not want others to (suspecting an honest coin though its size be small).

The gold dollar is too small for convenience, and the mints have discontinued its issuance on orders well considered. Our faith in gold coinage is in no way shaken, and we are in half-cen-gles. The five-dollar gold piece is the coin for circulation. One-dollar gold coins are curiosities. There have been a few fifty and twenty-five cent gold pieces struck, and they are still more curious.

The passage of the repeal of the silver bill came yesterday. There was a splendid majority for it in the house. That is almost as positive as the position of the Voorhees bill will pass the senate and that the first test vote will confirm this judgment. Senator Voorhees speaks for the policy of the president, which is enlightened bimetallicism, and his argument has no doubt the sanction, and possibly the suggestion of the president and secretary of the treasury. Two remarkable letters from Secretary Carlisle have had a liberal influence on the course of the country over silver purchase stoppage. The first showed that the silver purchase law was used to capture for silver smelters the coined gold in the public treasury; and the second disposes of, for the present, as an expedient, the change of ratio now used by the free coinage men as a compromise by showing the immense cost of re-coinage involved. Both flanks of the silver raiding army have thus been turned, and the fact that the sound money standard is on the winning side will quickly be disclosed. This will do much good, but with money settled so as to limit silver, the next and more important matter will be the limitation of tariff reform, by the repeal of the Chicago platform.

A New York paper which ought to know something of American history, but evidently does not, says the disappearance of Anna Augusta Orr from her home near Bridgeport, Conn., "has brought to view a phase of New England life having many of the characteristics of the old Puritanical days, when New England ran wild over witchcraft, and when condemned women were burned at the stake as witches without a fair hearing." Everybody but the ignorant pretender who framed that remarkable statement knows that on all occasions where capital punishment was considered necessary in the colonies it was administered, as it is today, in a civilized way, after due process of law.

The legitimate organizations of workmen should beware of the black flag and the red flag fools. When it comes to flags, there is but one in this country. As for famine, those who are making false proclamation of it are the worst enemies of the people, who, if the hard times are continued, may want bread.

The Willapa Pilot says: "Astoria, Or., is the only city on the coast that denies the Salvation Army the privilege of holding open air meetings. The Astorian very properly takes issue with the council in this matter and proposes to see that such privilege is finally granted."

—WORTH KNOWING.

That Alcock's Porous Plasters are the highest result of medical science and skill, and in ingredients and method have never been equalled. That they are the original and genuine porous plasters, upon whose reputation imitations trade. That Alcock's Porous Plasters never fail to perform their remedial work quickly and effectually. That this fact is attested by thousands of voluntary and unimpeachable testimonials from grateful patients. That for rheumatism, weak back, sciatica, lung trouble, kidney disease, dyspepsia, malaria, and all local pains, they are invaluable. That when you buy Alcock's Porous Plasters you absolutely obtain the best plasters made.

Deserving Praise.
We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Buckler's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Sold by Chas. Rogers, Druggist.

A CHANCE FOR HARD TIMES.

OUR RAPID TRANSITORY EXISTENCE.

Is brief enough without our shortening it by seeking medical aid, when we are somewhat unwell, from sources where it is only obtainable at great risk. Even if the old doctrine were true that violent diseases require violent remedies, it does not follow that drastic purgatives, narcotics, powerful "medicines" of the nervous system are advisable in cases where slight disorders manifestly call for the use of milder means of recovering, involving no subsequent danger, but equally efficient. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters not only relieves, but ultimately and completely relieves disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, and nerves. It is a genuine tonic, healthfully stimulates the kidneys, is a thorough alterative, and a most effectual preventive of chills and fever and bilious remittent. The utmost confidence can be reposed in the purity and safety of its medicinal ingredients.

THE OPEN SWITCH.

AN ESTABLISHED SAFEGUARD.
Anybody who travels by cars knows what is meant by "an open switch." It is the terror of railroad men, and the dread of the traveler. Its victims—killed, horribly mangled or maimed for life—are numbered by the score each year.

Yet even the dreaded "open switch" is not so widely fatal as is a certain disease, which, without ceasing its activity for an instant, is daily filling hundreds of graves. What is that terrible ailment? you ask. It is Heart Disease! "But," you reply, confidently, "I haven't any heart disease—my heart is all right." Are you sure?

Dr. Franklin Miles, of Elkhart, Ind., the distinguished specialist in diseases of the heart and nervous system, states that disorders of the heart are as common as those of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels or kidneys, though often unsuspected. The reason people are not aware of this important fact is because symptoms of heart disease are not usually recognized as proceeding from this organ, but are attributed to some other source. If you have shortness of breath, fluttering or palpitation, pain or tenderness in left breast, shoulder or side, oppressed or choking sensation, fainting or smothering spells, your heart is affected.

"I had been troubled with heart disease for years. My left pulse was very weak, could at times scarcely feel it, excitement would weaken my nerves and heart, and fear of impending death stared me in the face for hours. Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure are the only medicines that have proved of any benefit and cured me."—L. M. DYER, Cloverdale, Md.
"My wife has been taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart. She thinks it wonderful. She has not been troubled with pain or smothering spells since using it. We have also used Dr. Miles' Pills, and we find them all they are claimed to be."—GEO. L. FINK, Philadelphia, Pa.

These and hundreds of similar testimonials are convincing proofs of the wonderful powers of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart. It is a specific, agreeable, and above all, SAFE. Sold by druggists on a positive guarantee, or Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
