IN TWO SHADES.

Two varieties of the political woman are now before the public, and though they sprang from very different sourthe needs of the world and their own destiny. One of these is named Emma Goldman, who is from central Europe, Poland or Bohemia; the other is Mary J. Lease, who grew up in the stimujoint, but unlike the Prince of Denborn to set it right.

Mrs. Lease carries a knife for the political parties. To her, democrat and republican are as Trojan and Tyrian, she will sever the carotid of either of List of Letters Unclaimed at the Asthem with equal joy. She whetted her virgin blade on the wicked throat of chamber to see the corpse. To her the bitter president pro tem. replied: "Tell Mrs. Lease that she ought to be gatisfied with having slain me; it is need- Scely, Mrs. Eva. less cruelty to want to hold a wake over my remains." With which the Rellona of the prairie had need to be content, and to console herself with adulterating the ozone of her native air by slanging the New York bankers for asking the Kansas banks to Strange to say the police of New York and Chicago cherish an unreasoning prejudice against Emma, and have a fashion, which can not be too severely repremanded, or cutting her off in the middle of her most impassioned periods and yanking her out of the hall. She simply readjusts her curts, and goes to get her picture taken at the nearest photograph gallery.

If these two ladies are the types of our coming political leaders, when woman suffrage is established, men bad better look for some hole to hide in while it is still time. In the old days, Susan R. Anthony and Lucy Stone were women whom no one could help loving and reverencing. They were gentle and kindly and generous minded. In their honest contention for a principle they harbored malice for none. They had hearts as well as doomed. The Telegram ought to know It is mad at congress because congress has made known for all time that we parity of values under which they were contracted: that silver and paper, all currency, is to be as good as gold, now and forever; that life insurance pollcies, savings bank deposits, other bank deposits, building association accumu lations, goods on hand, incomes, wages, are not to be cut down 50 per cent, or any other per cent,; that if European

Let the Telegram whine. The next thing will be that the currency that has been hourded by the people and the bank notes are turned out according ountry a handsome send-off.

Yesterday's Oregonian says editorially: "Astories is still holding out rgainst allowing the Salvation Army to use its peculiar methods, a struggle one city after another has had to aban don. Astoria's difficulty appears to be ier to discipline the hoodlums than to silence the Army If experience is worth anything, this is what the ultimate solution of the question must be The Army will have a mission as long as yet reached a state where hell fire as a measure of police protection can be allowed to lapse into innocuous desuetude."

Isn't it about time that the city of Astoria, as unfortunately personified lating air of the Missouri valley. Both by a majority of the local council, indies agree that the time is out of dropped its pig-headed foolishness that is making it the laughing stock of the mark, they do not consider it a cursed whole state? The Salvation Army inspite, but on the contrary, an uncom- tends to win its fight here as it has monly lucky thing that they were done elsewhere. ## Attempt at Suicide.

It Might Have Been Prevented.

[From the Boston Post.] While the walks in the Public Garden were crowded yesterday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock, people near the entrance gates at the corner of Beacon and Charles streets were horrified to see a man suddenly plunge a knife repeatedly into his throat and fall to

While waiting for a conveyance an officer questioned the would-be suicide, who was about 50 years of age, as to his name, address, and reason for wishing to end his life, but the man steadfastly refused to give any information regarding himself. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital and surgical attendance given him. Although weak from loss of blood it is probable he will recover. About 9 o'clock last night a hospital attendant got a little information from him. He said his name was Samuel D-, and that he came some weeks age from New Brunswick. The last few days his head has felt queer, and he has been wandering about the city, not knowing which way to turn. What impelled him to commit his rosh not he was unable to say.

The above is the familiar but terrible story of the results of mental derangement caused by overstrain of the nervous system. People who have diminess, headache or backsche, or who are troubled with melancholy or Gentlemen:—Enclosed please and postal note for $1.00 for Krause's Head-road which leads to insanity and suicide.
