

OUR DAILY RHYME.

Last November a scribbler named Mofet Loved an idol, a guide, and a prophet; G. Cleveland, his name was. He now says the same was A silly old man and a noodle, Who only looks out for the boodie; In fact states that Grover, since Mofet he rebuffed, Is a prophet, no doubt, but a prophet that's stuffed.

At 3 o'clock this evening there begins the solemn fast of "Yom Kippur," or Day of Atonement, a day generally set aside by the Jewish race for prayer and fasting. The fast continues until 5 o'clock tomorrow night, and all Jewish places of business in this city will be closed until then. In the synagogues throughout the country the services will be impressive, for it is this celebration on which the "Shofar" or ram's horn is blown, reminding all Jews of the last trumpet to be sounded by the angel Gabriel. Most of the worshippers spend the whole day in the synagogue.

Mrs. Bushong will begin to take an active part among the young people in the work of the church, next week.

News reached this city yesterday morning of a sad accident near Knappa on Saturday night, by which Frank E. Nelson of that place, lost his life. Nelson was at Brownsport slough, three miles above Knappa, and at about 5 o'clock in the evening, put off in his skiff to board his scow which was anchored in the stream. In pushing off the boat he overbalanced himself and fell into the water. After rising to the surface he clutched hold of an edge of the skiff which turned over on top of him. Several people on the bank saw the accident, but could render no aid. The body was not found till Sunday afternoon. Coroner Pohl went up to Knappa yesterday and brought the remains down in the afternoon. At the inquest, Dr. Estes stated that death was not caused by drowning but by the bursting of a blood vessel. The funeral will take place today at Greenwood. Nelson was an unmarried man, 35 years of age.

"A White man and an American" in the last issue of the Pacific Journal, has this to say to the proprietor of the Evening Budget.

"In regard to the trapmen, we always supposed they were white men, but you seem to intimate that they are not, for they say that you are going to drive the fish traps out of the river, so that white men can live. Come over Mr. Dunbar and see the Ilwaco trapmen, and we will wager that you cannot find one that is not a white man, and placed side by side with yourself, will shine like an angel is supposed to shine. We are a quiet, peaceable people, earning our money and spending it in improving and building up our country. We utter no threats, nor make any anarchistic assertions, nor wish to lay a straw in the way of men who wish to earn an honest penny by gill-netting, and there is not the slightest need of any clash between the two methods, as one fishes in the channel, and the other from the edge of the channel, to shoal water, were it not for such anarchistic sheets as the Budget, which stops short of no filthy method to gain a personal end. You refer to the fish traps in the river, but the same argument applies to the bay and river alike, and if you can get away for a day and come over here, we'll show you a different looking white man than you are used to seeing in your mirror."

Tonight and tomorrow night Samwells and Giovanni's trained animal show and dog circus will appear at Liberty Hall. A Statement and Proposition Made Yesterday by Mr. Case.

A movement was made yesterday in the affairs of the suspended bank of I. W. Case which created a great deal of interest. Early in the day Mr. Case started out among his depositors with the following document to which he asked for their signatures:

Whereas, I. W. Case, banker of Astoria, Oregon, has been compelled to close the doors of his bank, by reason of the unprecedented withdrawal of deposits, during the financial panic in this community; and whereas, I desire to aid said bank to resume business, which I recommend; and whereas, I have confidence in the integrity and resources of said bank, and desire to lend my influence to the restoration of public confidence in it and its management; Now, therefore, I, the undersigned depositor in said bank, having funds on deposit therein, either upon open account, or evidenced by certificate of deposit, in consideration of the premises, and of the resumption of business by said bank, do hereby agree that I will accept for and instead of, and in payment of my said balance, as follows:

- First.—All amounts under $50 payable on or before November 1st, 1893.
Second.—15 per cent. of all amounts over $50.00 payable, December 1st, 1893.
Third.—15 per cent. thereof payable April 1st, 1894.
Fourth.—20 per cent. thereof payable August 1st, 1894.
Fifth.—20 per cent. thereof payable December 1st, 1894.
Sixth.—20 per cent. thereof payable April 1st, 1895.
Seventh.—10 per cent. thereof payable August 1st, 1895.
This contract not binding until signed by ninety-eight per cent. of depositors having fifty ($50.00) or more, each, on deposit with said I. W. Case, July 31st, 1893.

The above is substantially the same basis on which the suspended banks of Portland have resumed and are resuming, and will go into operation with a 5 per cent rate of interest on all payments. That is to say, depositors will get everything they have entrusted to Mr. Case, and an additional 5 per cent. of interest besides. The Commercial National Bank in Portland, it is stated, will pay 4 per cent. to its depositors; the People's Savings Bank of San Francisco, which reopened last week, only paying 2 per cent. So it will be seen that the terms offered by Mr. Case are a good deal better than those of the great majority of the institutions which suspended at the time of the panic. The bank will be open from 9 to 12 a. m., and from 2 to 4 p. m. for the convenience of depositors who wish to sign the document.

Mr. Case yesterday met with great success in his canvass, only finding one depositor who was unwilling to sign. It is believed, however, that even this one, after investigation will come in with the rest.
