

ABOUT THE CITY.

The term of the circuit court is over. Jupiter Pluvius is still wringing that heavenly sponge.

The Smith's Point motor will not run again till further notice.

The bark Forfarshire crossed out for the United Kingdom yesterday from her anchorage at Sand Island.

An individual known as "Long Kelly" is in trouble. Sheriff Smith has a charge of larceny against him. He is out on $500 bail.

The committee of the Rescue Club met last night, and formulated plans for the grand benefit entertainment to be given next Saturday.

Subscribers whose Astorians are not delivered under cover in the mornings, and who find them wet with rain, will do this office a favor by informing the business manager of the fact.

Admiral John H. Uphur, father of Mr. C. P. Uphur, of this city, was an invited guest yesterday aboard the New York Yacht Club's steamer "St. Johns" and followed the big race off New York harbor.

Judge McBride and District Attorney Barrett left the city last night for St. Helens, where they will hold court tomorrow. They have both done hard and conscientious work in this city during the term just closed.

Three individuals who had celebrated Sunday by looking a little too long on the wine when it was red, appeared before Judge Osburn yesterday. The judge entered up 15 in his books to the credit of the city and let them go.

The salmon are now running a little better in the bay, as silversides have begun to come in, says the Headlight. The Elmore cannery now has twenty-five boats fishing and the average catch is about twenty-five to the boat. It is expected the run will improve after this rough weather.

The following ships are on the guide as due daily, and may be expected in at any time: The Iredale, from Ankerwerp; Paseldon, from Australia; Invercoe, from San Diego; Nordlyst, from Montevideo; Mouseking, from Rio Janeiro; Ophelia, from Australia, and the Embleton, from Rio Janeiro.

There will be no services at the Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran church on Sunday next. The Rev. L. Nissen will preach at the Fishhawk schoolhouse, Upper Nehalem, at 11 a. m., on that date, and will hold communion at the same time. He will preach at Mist at 3 p. m., in the Scandinavian language.

An $80 lot for $2. Groceries cheap for cash at Howell & Ward's.

The Belmont cigar can be had at Chas. Olsen's. Men of small means can buy real estate in Hill's first addition.

Remember McGuire's Hotel at Seaside is open the year around. All groceries sold at bottom prices for cash at Howell & Ward's.

For fine wines and liquors call at August Danielson's Sample Rooms. From the office of the lighthouse inspector at San Francisco comes the following notice to mariners: "Notice is hereby given that on and after this date the fog-signal at St. George reef light station, California, will run regularly during thick and foggy weather, the supply of water on hand being sufficient for all purposes."

It has been definitely decided that Rev. Mr. Gue, of the First Methodist church, of Portland, will deliver his great "War Lecture" in the Methodist church of this city next Tuesday night. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Young Ladies' Missionary Society. It is superfluous to speak of the merits of Dr. Gue as a platform entertainer. His skill in that direction is well known in every county in the state.

Only the purest wines and liquors are sold at Alex. Campbell's Gem. For $2, a lot is delivered every week to the buyer in Hill's First addition. Meany is the leading tailor and pays the highest cash price for fur skins.

For all kinds of job printing, go to Del. Ferguson, upstairs, Astorian building. For Sale—Three good lots at Smith's Point. A bargain. Address A. B., this office.

Lovers of a good cigar can always find mild, fresh Belmonts at Chas. Olsen's. There was a great deal of interest manifested yesterday in this city over the big boat race, and speculation as to the result was indulged in everywhere. As soon as the reports began to come to the Astorian office the bulletin boards were surrounded, and the crowd did not dwindle perceptibly till it was too dark to read. Very little money changed hands, there being a consensus of opinion that the Vigilant would carry the day.

Rev. L. Nissen performed a very interesting ceremony at the home of Mr. Alfred Johnson, last Saturday evening, the occasion being the wedding of Mr. Herman Johnson, one of the most popular members of the life saving crew at Fort Stevens, and Miss Josephine Carlson. The marriage was contracted according to the rites of the Norwegian Lutheran church, and the pastor, after he had tied the knot, delivered an eloquent sermon from a text in St. Paul's Epistles. At the conclusion of the ceremony an excellent supper was partaken of. A large number of warm friends of the parties were present.

Every girl that buys her school books at the New York Novelty Store will be presented with a miniature set. Every boy that gets his school books at the New York Novelty Store will get a nice memorandum book with mirror attached.

Probably never in the history of the Methodist church has that building been so completely packed with worshippers as on Sunday night. Dr. Bushong has certainly aroused an enthusiasm among the members of his church in the few short weeks he has been with them, and on Sunday night

Saturday was a day worthy of note on Tillamook bay, being an occasion when five steamers were in the bay at one time, says the Headlight. Five of these, the Truckee, South Coast, Roebart, Elmore and Harrison, were ocean going boats, the others, the Garfield and Improvement, boats which ply on the bay. A number of people went from the city Sunday morning to see the unusual sight. It happened several during the summer that a boat came in daily during the week, but it is doubtful if so many were ever in the bay at one time before. It will not be many years before it will be an everyday occurrence, however.

Mr. A. M. Wood, says the Victoria Colonist, has received a letter from Mrs. Shifeler, now resident of Albina, Oregon, in reference to the sudden death of her husband in this city recently. She is left in absolutely destitute condition, with five children, the oldest of whom is but 11 years of age, dependent upon her. One of the little ones is being cared for at the Boys' and Girls' Home in Portland, and an application has been made for the admission of another of the fatherless children. Mrs. Shifeler believes that worry over the unfortunate position of his family induced her husband to commit suicide.

J. P. Dunning has received the appointment of Pacific Coast agent of the Associated Press, with headquarters at San Francisco, to succeed Charles S. Diehl, who has been appointed assistant general manager. Dunning has been night manager at San Francisco for five years. As correspondent for the Associated Press at Samoa he prepared a narrative of the wrecking of the American and German warships and the great loss of life. The story of that disaster, and the faithful picture of the heroism of the sailors, gave him wide fame as a correspondent. He afterwards served with great credit as correspondent for the Associated Press during the recent Chilean war.

Suit has been brought in the state circuit court of Multnomah county by August C. Kinney, Jane Kinney, John Welch, Ann E. Welch, C. F. Pearson, Elizabeth Pearson, J. E. Payton, and George E. Payton, against L. B. Seely for $800 for breach of contract. It is alleged that about a year ago Seely entered into an agreement with the plaintiffs to purchase some land owned by them and located in Tillamook county. Large coal deposits exist upon the property. By the terms of the contract, if the defendant did not notify the plaintiffs of his refusal to purchase the land before September 2, 1892, his failure to do so was to be considered an acceptance, and he was to expend $800 in prospecting and opening the mines. This, the complaint alleges, he has not done.

he proved that his power would last to just as great a degree after the charm of novelty had worn off. His sermon "What I Know About Housekeeping" was listened to with the greatest interest and attention throughout. The theme, one of the commonest and plainest he could have chosen, needed no embellishment, and everybody who had the pleasure of listening to his comparison between their homes and their daily lives, went away delighted and determined to come again. The doctor handles his subjects well and knows how to talk. His creed seems to be a broad one, and no tinge of sectarianism is noticeable in the doctrines he sends out from the pulpit. Evidently Astoria can expect what may be termed a new impetus in church affairs.

The Chinese display at the California Midwinter Exposition will be extremely interesting. It will be contained in a quaint structure designed by John Gash, an architect of San Francisco. The building will be purely oriental, 100 feet long, by 90 feet in width. In the center will be a court yard 80 by 40 feet, set out in rare Chinese plants. In the center of the court will be a grave of Confucius which, being the only reproduction of the Confucian Cecca in America, will prove of interest to many visitors. The north end of the building will contain a theatre in which performances will be given by imported Chinese talent. The southern end will be occupied by a bazaar and tea house, on either side of a passageway sixteen feet wide entering the court yard. On either side of the court yard will be open booths for the manufacture of rare and costly Chinese productions, there being ten in all. One will contain a silversmith and his craftsmen, another rattan workers, while a manufacturer of ebony furniture will have his shop. There will be other booths filled with candy and preserves, women's embroidery, Chinese toys, glass workers, artists at painting, and drawing, and rare flowers. A temple is another feature promised, but the crowning glory of the building will be the Chinese pagoda seventy-five feet high, of octagonal shape, fashioned after the celebrated domes of Nan Kin, with its gay painting and rich gilding. The tiled roof with fantastically wrought carved work, and carved figures of the fabed dragon projecting from the several angles, and with its flag posts of quaint design and the fluttering dragon flags of blue, red and yellow, the tout ensemble, will produce a pleasing and fantastic effect.
