

THEO. LIEBE SHOT.

An Ex-employee Had a Grudge Against Him.

Portland, Or., Nov. 7.—Theo. H. Liebe, president of the Oregon German Baking Co., was shot today at noon and seriously wounded by Christian Hess, who, after shooting Liebe, shot and killed himself. Liebe's wound is not regarded as fatal. The bullet entered the back of his head and following the skull around came out near the right eye. Hess shot himself through the chest, killing himself instantly. The shooting occurred at the intersection of East Park and C. streets, Liebe being on his way home. From what can be learned it is supposed the trouble was brought about by the arrest of Hess some time since on a charge of embezzlement preferred by Liebe. Hess, who was the husband of a niece of Liebe's, was formerly in the employ of Liebe as a clerk in the bakery, and while thus employed he was accused by Liebe of abstracting money from the till. He was arrested and placed in jail where he remained until a few days ago, after succeeding in furnishing bail to attend his trial. On the body of Hess was found a letter in which Hess related his intention of killing Liebe and himself. Hess claims that Liebe had persecuted him with an intention until he was almost distracted, and that he would suffer it no longer.
