MYSTERY AT HAWAII.

Secretary Gresham is said to have "smiled" when he received the news "smiled" when he received the news in this city, and thereby save your lo by the latest steamer, and the president is still covered with silence "like a poultice to heal the blows of sound."

He is as mysterious about the Sandwich Islands as he was recently about his 571 Third street. visit to New York, in which the strongest testimony that he went to see his physician is that he was at pains to spend the evening at the theatre.

Why should the president and secre tary of state be masquerading and monkeying with public business, as they are doing regarding Hawaiian affairs? Is there anything the people should not know about that? We know the administration is opposed to annexation, because the Harrison treaty was snatched from the senate, and we know the policy is the restoration of the bar baric queen, for Secretary Gresham has said so. Why is there such a pomp of reticence about the detail? The gen eral judgment of the American people is that the existing state of affairs is highly discreditable. The indications are that the president is aware he has been mugwumped into a scrape that the departure of the last noted that the royalist faction in Honolulu had, by private channels, the news that Cleveland and Gresham were for the restoration of the monarchy, and the royalties were drunk accordingly on champagne and loy. Later it was learned that the provisional goverpment was warned, and had better sense than the royal crowd. The pres ping." He evidently expected some thing from Minister Willis that he had not received when the last steamer that arrived from Honolulu took her de parture. The agents of the provisiona government have been quiet, but they have in all probability seen and reported the contents of the inner instructions Mr. Willis carried; and it is plainly true that the Minister must have had a margin of discretion in writing tucked away among his passers

The Illinois state Federation of La bor in its session at Galesburg, disowned and denounced the anarchial go ernor of the state. Altgeld was declared by the Federation to have "played the sneak" and "neglected his duty," and "insulted organized labor." The representatives of organized labor owed It to themselves to put a mark of their disapprobation upon the concelted demagogue, who has poured the contents of the penitentiary into the political pool

There is a mystery or two about the strike on the Lehigh Valley Railroad There came to the men one of those sudden, mysterious orders, from an un al puted power, to go out, and out they did go. The story is that the road made war on the men, prohibiting them from being members of labor organ landons. Of course, if such arbitrary action was taken, the men are justified in fighting for their rights. But there is another matter. The strike came bust in time to raise the price of coat.

and the coal owners have a picnic while the men are out. How was this arranged? Has capital interested labor by strategy to participate through its leaders in the spoil? It is difficult to find the bottom of some of these simple business adjustments.

Congressman Boutelle says of the administration's policy of stealthily destroying a civilized republic and setting up a barbarian monarchy at Hawaii: "There have been times when the commander of the United States naval forces would have broken his sword across his knee and sent the fragments home with his resignation before he would consent to be instrumental in such an un-American outrage as the restoration of a rotten monarchy that had been deposed by an uprising of the intelligence and business interests of a community in which American civilization had substituted itself in place of ancient barbarism.

The Christmas number of Scribner's Magazine, contains five short stories of unusual beauty in sentiment, espe cially chosen for their appropriatenes to the Christmas season. The authors are Robert Grant, Thomas Nelson Page Henry van Dyke, Edith Wharton, and Herbert D. Ward. There is in addition a hitherto unpublished work of fiction by Sir Walter Scott which is here printed by arrangement with Mrs. Maxwel Scott, and introduced and edited by Andrew Lang. The poetry of the pres ent number represents an equally no table list of authors including Thoma Bailey Aldrich, Richard Henry Stoddard, Edith M. Thomas, Duncan Camp bell Scott and Graham R. Tomson.

Dear Sir: I am glad to say a good word for Krause's Headache Capsules.
After suffering for over three years with acute neuralgia and its consequent insomula (which seemed to baffle the efforts of some of our best physicians) you suggested this remedy which gave me almost instant relief. Words fail to express the praise I should like to bestow on Krause's Headache Capsules.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually remade from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayer loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making annew is so accelerated by purging with Brandredth's Pills that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or totomonths and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with Brandredth's Pills the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.
