THE MESSAGE.

President Cleveland's message on the Hawailan situation is just such a document as might have been expected under the circumstances, and although he is loathe to admit the incorrectness of his stand, it is clear not alone that his action in sending Mr. Willis to Honolulu was based on a condition of affairs that had no existence in fact but that Mr. Cleveland new realizes that fact fully. He admits his intention was to restore the queen, and apparently expected to do it by a peremptory manner and a pretense that force would be used if necessary. But now he is "confronted by a con dition" which he has only recently been the Olympia, but their faultiness has informed of by Minister Willis, and while correspondence from the latter has been withheld, there is no room left for doubt as to its nature. He credited the stories that the people wanted the queen, and that if she way on her throne there would be peace and asked her not to be a barbarian. not to insist upon the punishment of her enemies. The provisional government was assumed to be a sham, that would pass away when Willis gave the word, just as the Stars and Stripes were pulled down at Blount's command. But Mr. Willis' astonishment at what he learned in Honolulu has given Mr. Cleveland a clearer insight into the actual status of the case than his pride and stubbornness will permit him to acknowledge openly. We are allowed to infer that he has been asked by Willis for explicit instructions and not implications. As President Cleveland has worked up his case against the provisional government, animated by a desire to discredit the administration of his predecessor in office, the English have as many rights in the islands as we have, but the verdict of the American people will continue, as at present. against him. There are no papers forthcoming that can extricate the presiden: from the position in which he has by some such plan, Christmas would 1 laced himself, and the American people are entitled to all the consolation there is in the reflection that, if President Harrison had been re-elected, the Hawaiian islands would have been long ago in the possession of the United States-without the cost of a dollar or the loss of a drop of blood-and with the consent of all the nations of the

THE OPEN SWITCH.

AN ESTABLISHED SAFEGUARD. Anybody who travels by cars knows what meant by "an open switch." It is the terror of railroad men, and the dread of the traveler. Its victims-killed, horribly man-gled or mained for life-are numbered by e score each year.

Yet even the dreaded "open switch" is not so widely fatal as is a certain disease, which, without ceasing its activity for an instant, is daily filling hundreds of graves.

What is that terrible ailment? you ask. It is Heart Disease ! "But," you reply, con-fidently, "I haven't any heart disease-my heart is all right." Are you SURE? Dr. Franklin Miles, of Elkhart, Ind., the distinguished specialist in diseases of the heart and nervous system, states that disorders of the heart are as common as those of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels or kidneys, though often unsuspected. The reason peo-ple are not aware of this important fact is Comptroller Eckles is not disposed to undervalue the service performed by the associated banks of New York and other citles by the issue of clearing house loan certificates during the recent panie. In the section of his report dealing with this subject, Mr. Eckles lakes occasion to state in emphatic language that the long certificates were neither intended or allowed to circulate as money, but were, in substance, due bills, and were only used between the banks in discharging obligations at the clearing-house. Issued at a time when unst amounts of money were being hoarded, they released the large syma of cash usually required for settling

THINGS WORTH REMEMBERING.

When you feel a kind of a goneness, about the stomach it is a sign that you food does not set well, and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion. When you begin to feel nervous and are inable to sit still confortably when your clothes seem to middenly lose their fit and become too tight is places the fit of indigestion is surely turies, and whose frontiers are not in- places the fit of indigestion is surely tpon you. When this fit of indigestion is re-peated from thay to day it finally tesolves itself into dyspepsia. Remember that three to ten of Bran-dredth's Pills will cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every night for a week or ten days, will act as a preventative of either complaint.
