Debate on the Hawaiian Question in the House.

INTERESTING SPEECH BY RAYNOR

Stevens Accused of Conspiring to Overthrow the Hawaiian Monarchy.

Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 3.—In the house Blaine presented a report on the bill to coin the silver seigniorage bullion in the treasury, and gave notice he would call it up at the first opportunity. Sayers presented the sundry civil appropriation bill. This bill as reported appropriates $3,291,882 for the fiscal year of 1895.

The bill for 1894 carried appropriations of $4,716,311. The estimates submitted to the committee for 1895 amounted to $38,381,302. The greatest saving is the item for rivers and harbors, the sum recommended being $3,300,000, against $4,156,153 in 1894. For public buildings and grounds the appropriation drops from $1,071,500 to $347,000; artificial limbs for soldiers, from $647,000 to $150,000. The claims for back pay and bounty are reduced from $750,000 to $440,000.

The Hawaiian debate was resumed. In his speech on the Hawaiian resolution, Raynor, Democrat, of Maryland, today said: "In the first place, I am convinced beyond all manner of reasonable doubt that Stevens was an active participant in the overthrow of the monarchy of Hawaii, and in the second place, the president, having submitted the matter to congress, I am satisfied, according to usages and principles of international law, we have no right by use of arms or force to remedy a wrong committed, and that all efforts for a peaceable solution of the matter having terminated we have no right to intervene, and that it is our duty for the present to recognize the de facto government now in charge, and our duty in future to recognize such form of government as may be determined on by the wishes of the people of those islands. While Raynor was dwelling upon the missing letter of Blaine to Stevens, in which the latter asked for instructions should the revolution occur in 1891, he said significantly, "I would like to tell you what I infer those instructions were. 'Id like to tell you—'"

"Go on, go on," came in a chorus from the Republicans. Raynor, however, declined to do so, saying he thought it would be unfair to give the inference, but added: "If this letter is produced, and it ordered Stevens to keep his hands off, I will take back all I have said."

Later, while discussing Boutelle's resolution of inquiry as to the authority by which Blaine had ordered the flag hauled down, he said Boutelle seemed possessed by the flag idea. "He is with the flag," said he, "like the Irish is with the shillelah—wherever you see a head hit it; so wherever he sees a place for a flag he wants to haul it up." (Great republican applause.) "Better haul it up than haul it down," interjected Boutelle.

"He has not stopped talking about it in twenty years," Raynor continued, amid laughter. "And he never will," said Boutelle.

"It seems to be the dream of his sleeping and waking hours," continued Raynor. "If he were to start for the north pole, solitary and alone, with the folds of the flag about him, the nineteenth century would find him standing in majestic solitude upon the frozen axis of the world waving the stars and stripes."

"But not under the orders of the secretary of the navy who ordered the flag hauled down," added Boutelle, amid renewed applause.

Nothing of a sensational nature occurred during the Hawaiian debate. As yet there has been no break in the party lines, and the indications are that the McCrary resolution will be passed by a strict party vote. On account of pressure of time, it was agreed just before the house adjourned to extend the debate until 3:30 Tuesday afternoon, with the understanding that the Boutelle resolution be included in the special order. A vote will be taken at the conclusion of the debate on the other resolution.

A GENERAL DENIAL.

Six Separate Answers Filed to the Ives Petition.

Milwaukee, Feb. 3.—There were filed today by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., Sheldon & Co., P. B. Winston and Reeders Oakes, Payne, and Reese, in the circuit court of the United States, six separate answers to the Ives petition for the removal of the Northern Pacific receivers. The answers present exhaustive replies to every charge made, and comprise over 500 printed pages. The answers not only meet all specific charges, but explain and refute insinuations. It is shown that the branch line policy originated during the Ives-Harris administration, and the receivers bring proofs to show that by rejecting the branch line leases they have saved more than $1,000,000 per year. The receivers have already paid $5,000,000 preferential debts and about $2,000,000 interest, with economies in operation. In his answer Oakes denies he was a partner in or profited by the construction of any lines, or guaranteed the bonds of the same. He also denies that the directors profited thereby. He shows that under his management the gross earnings increased $12,000,000, until the recent extraordinary depression which solely caused the bankruptcy of the company. All twenty-three branches now in operation, with the exception of five, were commenced or authorized by the Ives-Harris board; the acquisition of branch lines was necessary in the railroad management and upon the whole, beneficial to the system. The branch lines now constructed or acquired during the period Oakes was director furnished a business to the Northern Pacific railroad company of over $4,000,000. The Central Washington, Green River and Northern, the Spokane and Palouse, and the Northern Pacific and Montana roads were all constructed or under construction provided for under the Ives-Harris management. On the Spokane and Palouse business last year exceeded by $500,000 the net revenue paid on all interest on bonds issued on account of the extension. The Green River and Northern was authorized by the Ives-Harris faction of directors, and the contract for construction signed by Robert Harris. The answer shows not a cent of money was paid the Oregon and Transcontinental Company for services in purchasing the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern. As to the Northern Pacific and Manitoba railroad, the answer shows a syndicate was organized by Villard to construct the road, but he has no personal interest in it. The entire road, including terminal properties at Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, and Brandon, and the Winnipeg transfer road, cost $5,000,000, and the profits for the year ending June, 1892, were over $300,000. As to the Chicago terminals and the Wisconsin lease, the answer shows that before the lease or any contract was entered into, the value of properties was thoroughly and carefully examined by independent experts. The Ives-Clews report last year placed the value of the Chicago terminals at about $28,000,000, while they were acquired under lease by the Northern Pacific on a rental at about $18,000,000, and Oakes had no interest, direct or indirect, in the acquisition and control of these properties.

THE RECONCILIATION.

Satisfaction Over the Renewed Friendship of Bismarck and William.

(Copyrighted 1894 by Associated Press.)

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Every day adds to the urgent desire of the emperor to have it understood that his attitude towards Prince Bismarck is changing his admiration into friendship. His thanks, officially announced in the Reichsanzeiger, his special thanks to the municipal authorities, his renewed letter to Bismarck and the interview with the minister of war, all bear testimony to this point. General Von Schellendorf, when presenting his report Thursday last, thanked his majesty on behalf of the army for arranging a reconciliation with Bismarck. "This caused the emperor to exclaim, in a tone of surprise and pleasure, 'In the name of the army, too!'"

BLAZE IN OMAHA.

Omaha, Feb. 3.—Shortly before 7 o'clock tonight a fire broke out in the show window of the Boston Store, and five minutes later the entire building was ablaze. The store was crowded with clerks and customers, being the custom to keep open Saturday night. The third floor was occupied by a night school. Consternation reigned among the people in the store and a mad rush for the exits began. Men, women and children crowded for the streets. Everybody escaped alive, but a number of girls employed in the millinery and cloak department were badly scorched and blistered, several losing all the hair from their heads. The losses of the Boston Store were $235,000; insurance, $110,000. The other losses are estimated at $60,000.

ZALINSKI RETIRED.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Orders have been issued by the war department placing Captain Edmund Zalinski on the retired list on account of disability incident to service. The case of Zalinski has attracted wide interest in army circles, owing to the desire manifested by him last year to accompany the Brazilian cruisers from New York in order to operate the Zalinski dynamite gun on board.

COLORADO'S LEGISLATURE.

Denver, Feb. 3.—By a vote of 18 to 10, the senate refused to take up any bills sent over from the house, and adjourned until Monday. The house is not in session.

Seizure of a British Tug by President Peixoto.

BRITAIN'S ALLEGED NEUTRALITY

Attempt by the Cardiff to Place Dynamite on the Insurgent Vessel Trajano.

Associated Press.

(Copyrighted 1894 by Associated Press.)

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 3.—A fresh sensation was created yesterday by the summary seizure of a British tug by order of Peixoto. The English friends of De Mello and De Gama, it has been asserted, have not only given ammunition to the insurgent sailors, but have attempted to supply them with dynamite. The boat captured by Peixoto's men is the tug Cardiff, the property of an English coal company, and arrived here some days ago, loaded with coal, which was discharged and has since remained in the harbor. Shortly after she left the wharf she was overhauled by one of Peixoto's boats, and the Brazilian officials went aboard despite the vigorous protests of the captain. The Cardiff was taking dynamite to the insurgent warship Trajano. The Brazilian officials compelled the captain to return to the wharf, where the dynamite was taken ashore and put in possession of the government. The matter was reported by the captain to the British officials, but nothing so far has been done except calling the captain's statement and Peixoto's reasons for making the seizure to the home government. The action of Great Britain over this incident is awaited with much interest. English residents here are disposed to condemn Peixoto, and have grown indignant over what they term the ill treatment of the Cardiff's captain; but in all other quarters Peixoto is considered justified in doing as he did. Outside the English colony, Great Britain's pretense about observing neutrality between the belligerents receives little credence, and the people cannot imagine how she will explain so violent a breach of the faith with Peixoto. De Gama has again asked foreign ministers if Rio to recognize the insurgents as belligerents. They have made no reply to the message.

News is received here of a battle at Curitiba, 18 miles west of Parangua, on the left bank of the Curitiba river. The insurgents drove the enemy from the field. It is said between 3,000 and 4,000 men were engaged on each side. The government troops had 200 killed. The insurgents also suffered considerable loss.

The statement adds: The accrued interest from the date of deposit of the money in payment of principal and premium at the rate of interest realized by the subscriber, will be added by the assistant treasurer with whom deposits are made. Each subscriber will be notified when the bonds will be ready to deliver.

UNEMPLOYED JEWS

Refused Permission to Meet in St. Paul's, London.

London, Feb. 3.—This afternoon a procession of German Jewish unemployed gave it out that they would hold a meeting in historic St. Paul's church, in order to call attention to their grievances, and started towards the church for that purpose. The police met and clubbed them vigorously. The procession then went to Trafalgar square and held an excited meeting, at which fiery speeches were made. A strong force of police is guarding St. Paul's, and will remain on duty all night.

REMOVED INDIAN OUTBREAK.

Washington, Feb. 3.—No information has been received at the Indian bureau concerning the reported outbreak of Indians from the Apache reservation.
