The Astorian guarantees to its subscribers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia River.

Advertising rates can be obtained on application to the business manager.

This paper is in possession of all the telegraph franchises, and is the only paper on the Columbia river that publishes genuine dispatches.

The Daily Astorian's circulation is five times as great as that of the combined circulation of the other daily papers of Astoria.

The Weekly Astorian, the third oldest weekly in the state of Oregon, has next to the Portland Oregonian, the largest weekly circulation in the state.

Subscribers to the Astorian are requested to notify this office, without loss of time, immediately they fail to receive their daily paper, or when they do not get it at the usual hour. By doing this they will enable the management to place the blame on the proper parties and to insure a speedy remedy.

Handley & Haas are our Portland agents and copies of the Astorian can be had every morning at their stand on First street.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER.

Local weather for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m. yesterday, furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture weather bureau.
Maximum temperature, 41 degrees; minimum temperature, 31 degrees; precipitation, .07 inch.
Total precipitation from July 1, 1893, to date, 57.03 inches; excess of precipitation from July 1, 1893, to date, 15.53 inches.

TODAY'S WEATHER.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 19.—For Washington: Snow, followed by fair in the western and southeastern portions; fair in the northeastern portions; slightly colder.
For Oregon—Occasional snow; slightly colder.

The czar of Russia has been admonished by his physicians to live in the Crimea, as the St. Petersburg climate has too much pneumonia in it. Evidently his recent illness was one of severity. The imperial family of Russia had a winter residence in the Crimea before the war which made that peninsula memorable.

A Pacific county paper complains bitterly of "a prominent speculator of Astoria" and "an old settler of Willapa," who stopped their papers "without dropping us a word," and threatens to bring suit for the amount due. Each of the subscribers owes for about five years. Prompt collections at the end of each year would obviate such difficulties as beset the path of the Pacific county publisher.

The statement is going around that the Salvation Army proposes to court martial Col. Robert G. Ingersoll for infidelity. We do not find that among the military crimes and misdemeanors; and, anyway, the colonel doesn't hold his commission in that particular army, neither is a prisoner of war caught with his uniform illegally on. There is evidently some misunderstanding as to his powers and authority on the part of the commanding officer of the Salvation Army, who has ordered the court, or his ideas are confused as to the articles of war and the articles of faith.

The president of Hawaii has been interviewed by the Honolulu correspondent of the Boston Transcript, and states the case of the provisional government with the greatest clearness and force, thus: "When the queen rebelled against her own government, she abdicated." That is true, and a complete answer to all that Blount, Gresham and Cleveland have had to say. The provisionals knew there was a question of doubt about getting into the United States, but that was the preference. They could not think of submitting to the dinky woman who wanted to cut their heads off, even to oblige Mr. Cleveland.

A St. Louis doctor has opened a field of enterprise comparatively new, and that will be regarded by serious people with mingled misgiving and hope. He is said to be fitting up a "Jag" hospital. The institution is not intended, as the "gold cure" is for the destruction of the appetite for liquor. It is not meant to reform chronic cases of drunkenness, but to treat the instances of intoxication as they arise. It is the claim of the eminent physician that he can cure a plain drunk in half an hour. Coupes to catch the drunkard in his hilarious wanderings, and baths to open his pores for the escape of alcohol, even clean linen, are parts of the machinery. The St. Louis Globe Democrat says of the scheme: "The doctor claims that he can take a man that is suffering in the morning from the effects of a night's hilarity and over-drinking and put him on his feet, without a nervous tremor, all in the course of twenty to thirty minutes, without the use of any injurious decoctions whatever. The doctor also proposes to take in men in the wildest stages of intoxication, take care of them when friends find themselves unable to do so, fix them up, send them home, or do anything for their best interests." We do not see in the scheme so far as made, however, just how to catch the festive drunkard and run him in. A man on a spree, as a rule, does not want to be sobered up in half an hour. How is he to be persuaded to accept treatment? Perhaps it is to be a matter of compulsory education.

Saturday's Evening Bulletin (San Francisco) has the following item of news:

"It was reported about the new city hall this afternoon that three tax-rolls, one real estate and one personal property, have been taken from the tax collector's office. It is thought that the deficiency of $5,000 under a former administration has some connection with their disappearance. The chief of police has detailed a detective to work up the case."

If the work was as successfully done as was the stealing of the 1890 assessment roll of this city, the detective will have but a faint chance of success. Should the missing books be found, however, it might be well to engage the services of the clever disciple of Vidocq and have a search instituted for our missing records.

Watterson has become a happy politician. He has reached the point where he does not care enough to disturb him what happens. At a St. Paul banquet the democratic leaders were assembled, and the special spokesman said that Mr. Cleveland's second administration should have come first, so as to make an end of him. Watterson then got this off: "I have reached the height of democratic philosophy when I don't care a— what happens, so it don't hit me. I agree with Mr. Kelly, however, that Mr. Cleveland's second term should have come first." This is an improper reflection on the president—very improper—for his first administration was very much like his second one, only he did not fall into a trap in foreign affairs. It is mean and imprudent in democrats to be so hard on the president during the first year of his second term. Watterson, instead of Blount and Willis, should have been sent to Honolulu.

SCHOOL BONDS.

A Majority of Thirty-two Votes in Favor of the Bond Issue.

One hundred and fourteen citizens voted yesterday to bond the school district for $12,000, and 84 votes were cast against the proposition. The fact that the election was to be held had been almost forgotten, otherwise there would have been more negative votes. There is considerable dissatisfaction over the result, and rumors are afloat that the directors will be enjoined. The opposition grows out of the fact that the amount actually needed by the district is somewhere in the neighborhood of $8,000, and many taxpayers object to what they term the policy of "getting plenty of money when you're getting it." At the recent meeting in Cedar street school it was admitted that a tax of 21-2 mills would be sufficient to carry the schools along and reduce the floating debt to the extent of $1,000, and it was supposed that no attempt would be made to raise more than enough to pay what was actually necessary. The understanding reached between the taxpayers' committee and the directors and citizens was that the floating debt should be carried over for the year, and consequently many votes were cast against the proposition to raise about double as much money as they claimed was needed.

Mr. Patton, of the Astoria Savings bank, stated yesterday that he had received a letter from eastern parties saying they would take the bonds at 5 percent, and in addition would pay all the costs of printing, etc., in connection with the issue.

THE LECTURE.

President McClelland's Address.

The lecture last evening at the Congregational church was well attended, and followed with close attention by the deeply interested audience.

It was upon "Political Economy," and was given as an introductory view and outline of the science, and with the special purpose of leading up to the discussion of the labor question this evening. The definition of political economy as the science which deals with the problem of gaining a livelihood, and as therefore affecting life and character to much the same degree as religion, and a bird's-eye view of man's primitive condition from the hunting and fishing period through the pastoral, and to the agricultural and manufacturing seat, led the way to a more specific outlining of the subject as a science.

With a review of the mercantile theory, which foreshadowed the protective policy, and of its antagonistic theory developed by the Physiocrats of France, and elaborated by Adam Smith in his "Wealth of Nations," the lecturer closed the evening's discussion, making all ready for the specific discussion of the labor question.

The lecture was preceded by a charming duet by children from Cedar street school.

OVER AT ILWACCO.

From Pacific Journal.

Miss Elsie Ward returned from Portland this week.

Miss Ida Dalton has been visiting friends at Long Branch this week.

B. A. Seaborg and Charles Shubbe are in San Francisco on business. They expect to return next week.

James and Henry McGowan passed through town on Tuesday, bound for South Bend to attend court.

E. J. Sprague, builder and contractor, of Portland, with his wife, are at Ocean Park, arriving on Tuesday last.

Mr. Marrs left on Monday for Oregon City, having been called by a telegram announcing the serious illness of a relative.

The Knights of Pythias, of whom there are a number in town and surrounding country, are contemplating organizing.

The course of lectures on "Bible Truths," by Elder Ferro, will be continued for two or three weeks commencing Monday evening next.

Mr. W. N. Akers, of South Bend, is in town, and will remain for several days. He is on business connected with the organization of the Masonic lodge at this place.

The town received another black eye in the superior court. It would seem from such decisions a person need not obey the town ordinances unless they feel like it, or perhaps Ilwaco is not under the same laws as the balance of the state.

C. D. Rogers and family returned last Saturday from a four months' trip in the east.

Henry McGrotty, who has been B. Wise's right-hand man in the "Farmers' Union" for several months past, has resigned his position, and left on Wednesday for his paternal home on Lewis river, where he will spend a few months. He thinks some of going to the Cour d'Alene country this summer.

U. S. Commissioner Egbert, of South Bend, announces that when two or more persons, living in the southern portion of the county, wish to file, or if one more desire to prove up on government land, he will, on reasonable notice, meet them at Morehead & Co.'s store, at Sealand, and do their work.

The A. O. U. W. lodge of Ilwaco is installing one or two members every week. The lodge is composed of a fine lot of healthy, able-bodied men, the eldest of whom is still in the forties.

Cures Scrofula

Mr. J. D. Rowell, Medford, Mass., says he had been cured of Scrofula by the use of four bottles of ESS. After having had much other treatment, and being reduced to a low condition of health, as it was thought he could not live, he took ESS, and is now a free man.

INHERITED SCROFULA.

Cured my little boy of hereditary Scrofula, which appeared all over his face. For a year I had given up all hope of his recovery, when finally I was induced to use ESS. A few bottles cured him, and he is now a free man. No symptoms of the disease remain.

Our book on ESS (a Little Boy's Story) mailed free. Write for it to ESS, 1111 Broadway, N. Y.
