WEEKLY. Sent by mail per year, $2.00 in advance. Postage free to subscribers.

The Astorian guarantees to its subscribers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

Advertising rates can be obtained on application to the business manager.

This paper is in possession of all the telegraph franchises, and is the only paper on the Columbia river that publishes genuine dispatches.

The Daily Astorian's circulation is five times as great as that of the combined circulation of the other daily papers of Astoria.

The Weekly Astorian, the third oldest weekly in the state of Oregon, has next to the Portland Oregonian, the largest weekly circulation in the state.

Subscribers to the Astorian are requested to notify this office, without loss of time, immediately they fail to receive their daily paper, or when they do not get it at the usual hour.

Handley & Haas are our Portland agents and copies of the Astorian can be had every morning at their stand on First street.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER. Local weather for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m. yesterday, furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture weather bureau.

TOTAL PRECIPITATION from July 1, 1893, to date, 69.68 inches; excess of precipitation from July 1, 1893, to date, 18.41 inches.

TODAY'S WEATHER. Portland, Ore., Feb. 23.—For Washington and Oregon: Fair weather and warmer.

A southern manufacturer has written to a New York merchant as follows: "I cannot order any more goods now. I have worked for thirty years to get the south in control of this government, and now, after six to nine months' trial, I wish the d—d republicans would take it off our hands."

The logic of anarchy is seen in London "leaflets" that favor setting the British capital on fire in a hundred places because of the execution of the bomb-thrower in Paris the other day.

The Hebrew suburb of Brownsville, N. Y., seems to be a good field for the circulation of Confederate money. One rabbi has recently come to grief, and a number of laymen are in danger, speculating in the "graybacks."

The taste of American girls who marry foreign princes is not commended in this country; but they are so fascinating, princes are glad to get them for wives, especially if they happen to have money enough for both; and the titled lovers of Europe do not always demand cash considerations, for several happy marriages have taken place between American girls without lumps of money and gentlemen whose incomes exceeded their titles in value.

were on the Kearsarge, and this was used as a substitute for armor. The Alabama, in addition, had the advantage of tonnage and length, being a few feet longer than her opponent, while she used seven guns, as against five for the vessel, flying the stars and stripes. Marksmanship, it is well known, was a potent factor in deciding the question of superiority, the Kearsarge's shots striking five times for each well-directed shot from the Alabama.

What this great country needs most at this time is the settlement of questions the agitation of which unfavorably affected the general prosperity. Business structures cannot be erected on shifting sand. Our reformers who have destroyed public confidence claim that other nations are suffering as we do, and that there are world-wide reasons for depression. They are mistaken. The hard times in Europe were caused in England by her enormous losses in loaning money in Australia and South America, and in the armed nations the cost of supporting the military is a potent factor. We are suffering because, as ex-speaker Reed has so well said, a party that asserts the policy of a lower civilization than has been dominant for thirty years is in possession of power. The democratic party has become the instrument of a sectional commercial warfare upon the north, and it is even more injurious than that which has just terminated between Germany and Russia. The New York democrats, ever since the war until now, have ruled the party. Now the solid south rules, and the Wilson bill, as thrown into the senate, displays the spirit and the policy of our rulers. As for any settlement of the tariff question, there are but few signs of it. According to the latest from Washington, there is no certain progress, except in the consumption of time and the popularity among democrats of the income tax.

"AN ATTRACTIVE PAINTING." Every one who visited the California state building at the Chicago world's fair last year remembers the oil painting of a family of cats belonging to a wealthy lady of San Francisco. The painting was a fine one and valued at $15,000. They were discussing its merits the other night, its value and the attention it attracted, when Al. King, who was over on a visit from Ilwaco, astonished the Astoria crowd by making the assertion that he painted some animals once, when he was a boy, that attracted the attention of his whole neighborhood, and would the crowd in Chicago if they had seen the painting.

Alex. Campbell, who is well acquainted with Mr. King, was astonished at the information that his friend from Ilwaco was an artist, and wanted to know what became of the painting.

It was then that Mr. King told his story. He said that when he was a boy there was always a drove of hogs that lay in the shade near a wagon-shop next to the school house. The boys used to scratch the hogs' backs as they lay in the shade with a lat, just to hear them grunt. One day there were more boys than lats, so he took an old, worn-out paint brush and scratched his hog. In using the brush he noticed it left a mark of green paint, so he called the attention of the other boys, and they were soon hunting old brushes thrown from the wagon paint shop and empty buckets that had been discarded, but had some paint left in them. Soon the workmen, who had been watching them, got interested, and they gave them more old brushes and more paint, until their combined efforts had turned out some of the finest colored hogs ever looked at under the sun. They were green, red, yellow, blue and white striped, and when they drove them out into the street they resembled traveling barbers.

"But driving them out in the street was a fatal mistake, for as soon as they got into the hot rays of the sun the turpentine that was in the paint began to smart. At first the hogs stared and uttered faint grunts, but as the turpentine got hotter they laid back their ears and with unearthly yells started down the main streets of our town, and it is safe for me to say that there was never a painting of animals that caused such universal attention of a neighborhood as mine. Why, gentlemen, the cats from California ain't in it."

IN SEARCH OF WIVES. A New Field of Industry Opened to Aspiring Men and Women. It seems that an entirely new field of industry has been opened to the energetic young man that will no doubt be emulated by the clever young woman. This idea emanated in the "Wild and Woolly" west, and seems especially suited to the sensible young woman who knows her own sex well.

It is that of wife hunting. About one hundred young eastern men, who have gone to Perry, Okla., and different towns to settle, and have prospered, and live very luxuriously without woman's society. Of course, as everybody knows, there are no women to speak of in these new towns. Therefore, the men have hit upon a novel plan. They have clubbed together and engaged a Mr. Emmet Whitmer, of Perry, to come east and select wives for them, as their duties prevent them from coming in person. Mr. Whitmer has in his possession the photographs of over thirty good-looking young men, who are pining for the charms of matrimony. He is making a bee-line for the New England factory districts, where his strange mission will cause a flutter in quiet, orthodox New England.

This is as romantic as what took place during the early days of Seattle's boom. There was the usual death of woman, so a ship started from the east laden with a unique freight. There were forty adventurous women on board, and they were all married within three hours of landing. They are even today referred to as the "ship women," and many of them are living and enjoying the social triumphs of their accomplished daughters.

INSTINCT. The Bride (as they emerge from the tunnel)—Law's asks, James, you men hab a natural-born instinct fo' kissing.

The Groom—Instinct! Wha' yo' mean, honey?

The Bride—Why, how in de worl' you eber found my mouf in all de darkness ob dat tunnel is pas' my undahstandin'.

TRUE AS PREACHING. The widower about to remarry is the most selfish of mortals. He seldom thinks of number one.

In the free soup the onions covers a multitude of sins of omission.

From the way some men offer prayers it is difficult to tell whether they are ministers or auctioneers.

LIFE OF JAMES G. BLAINE. The Astorian has determined to bring the life-work of this wonderful idol of the people closer to the minds of its readers, to put them in possession of the incidents of his career, his ambitions, his sacrifices, his honesty and his sterling manhood.

How? you ask. Read carefully, and see for yourself. We have secured at a very large outlay the magnificent volume entitled "Life and Work of James G. Blaine," (Memorial Edition).

This work is the only authorized publication of the memoirs and history of Blaine. It is written by John Clark Redpath, LL.D., Gen. Selden Connor, ex-Governor of Maine, and the eminent friends of the dead statesman.

It contains a full length portrait of Blaine, with his autograph negative and an autograph letter sent to the publishers.

It contains an autograph letter from Mrs. Blaine, which proves its authenticity and its claim to being the only volume of the kind published by authority.

It contains several hundreds of splendid pictures, nearly all of them being original copyrighted drawings.

It contains 565 pages of description, printed on the heaviest book paper, in large, handsome type, and is heavily bound in cloth—two colors—with gold lettering and ornamentation on the covers.

This book cannot be purchased elsewhere. It is not on sale at bookstores, and you could not buy it for less than FIVE DOLLARS if it were. It is a work of art, and a book that no citizen should be without. The reading matter is of extraordinary interest.

Our regular subscription price for the Weekly Astorian is $2.00 per annum. Our regular subscription price for the Daily Astorian for six months is $4.00. You can, by paying in advance, receive the Weekly Astorian for one year and the Life of Blaine for $3.00.

You can, on the same terms, have the Daily Astorian for six months and the Life of Blaine for $4.00, making the cost to you of this wonderful work $4.00.

Don't take any snap judgment. You would be foolish if you gave us your order without first coming to this office and seeing the book for yourself. It is so delightful all who have looked at it. It will delight you. Our subscribers can rest assured that the only reason why we have taken hold of this work is its surpassing excellence and its wonderfully cheap price.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS. Rev. L. Nisesh, Scandinavian, German and English Lutheran Pastor, has removed to the house of Mr. M. Larsen Berrin, W. Fifth street, at the back of Sew Bay Foundry, opposite the Finn church.

LIQUOR DEALERS' ASN. "A TALENTED EDITOR." Gentlemen—I had occasion to use several boxes of Krause's Headache Capsules while traveling to Chicago to attend the National Democratic Convention. They acted like a charm in preventing headaches and dizziness. Have had very little headache since my return, which is remarkable.

BRACE THE NERVES. Sedatives and opiates won't do it. These nerves do not make the nerves strong, and failing to do this fall short of producing the essential of their quittance—vigor. And while in extreme cases—and these only of nervous irritation such drugs may be advisable, their frequent use is highly prejudicial to the delicate organism upon which they act, and in order to renew their outletting effect increased and dangerous doses eventually become necessary. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an efficient substitute for such pernicious drugs. It quiets the nerves by bracing, toning, strengthening them. The absorption between weakness of the nervous system and that of the organs of digestion is a strong and sympathetic link. The Bitters by imparting a healthy impulse to the digestive and assimilating functions, promotes throughout the whole system a vigor in which the nerves come in for a large share. Use the Bitters in malaria, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble.

MERCURIAL. Mr. J. C. Jones, of Fulton, Arkansas, writes: "About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of blood poisoning. Leading physicians prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without any relief. I also tried mercurial and other remedies with unsuccessful results, but which brought on an attack of mercurial rheumatism that made my life a misery. After suffering four years I gave up all remedies and began using S. S. S. After taking several bottles I was entirely cured and able to resume work. It is the greatest medicine for blood poisoning to-day on the market."

"I do not Eat Pastry." How often you hear this expression, and the explanation that usually follows: "I am troubled with dyspepsia." The explanation is not far to seek. In the past lard has been used as the principal shortening in all pastry, the result—dyspepsia. The dyspeptic need no longer be troubled, providing
