

FROM FORT STEVENS.

Regrets That the Employees There Must Leave—Other Matters of Interest.

The Astorian's Fort Stevens correspondent sends the following:

Fort Stevens, Ore., March 26, 1894.

Editor of Astorian: The jetty work will shut down indefinitely this week, and the employes will scatter to various parts, with many regrets, for all unite in saying that the time here has been very pleasantly spent. All of the people have been of a first-class order, which is due to Mr. Hegardt's skillful judgment in selecting his help. We all join in hoping that wherever he may go he will have unbounded success, and also his efficient clerks, Mr. Philbaum and Mr. Sanberg, but the latter-named will never have to ask for blessings, as he is so tall that he can reach up and take them. We understand that he wanted his picture taken standing, but Photographer Crow was unsuccessful in securing a plate of sufficient length.

We feel that we owe a great deal to Mrs. Sherman, who organized our Sunday school, and has since conducted it, with her able assistants, Mrs. Hall as organist, and Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. McBurney and Mrs. Mudd as teachers. We also thank Mr. Hegardt for the trouble and expense he was in fitting up a room, and in making everything comfortable, where we could meet and listen to the sermons of Mr. Rounds, of the M. E. church of Warrenton, who has been here once every two weeks, rain or shine.

And again, we must not forget that gentleman on the Mendell, Capt. Brown. The ladies especially say they appreciate the many courtesies he has shown them on their frequent trips to and from town.

The latest arrival at the Fort is Lucretia Vivian Mudd, who will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Mudd, and now Willis wears such a bright smile that everybody feels happy in his presence. Willis said he could not afford to buy cheap articles for playthings, so he sent over to town and purchased a nice bright faucet, with about a foot of galvanized iron pipe attached for a handle.

Mr. W. Hall and family will return to their home south of Portland.

Mr. Morrison will return to his family in Astoria.

Mr. Lowe will move his family to Astoria.

Mr. Wilson and family will move up the Lewis and Clarke.

Mr. Slams will move down into the Kindred settlement.

Mr. Danielson, who has been on the sick list for the past three or four months, is rapidly recovering, under the skillful treatment of Dr. Jansen, of Astoria.

The destination of Mr. Stoneman, our worthy foreman, has not been learned.

A farewell dance will be given Friday evening in Furney's hall. C. W. B.

THE SOCIETY MINERVA.

A Large Attendance at the Usual Weekly Meeting.

There was little standing room left in Kearney's hall last evening when President Belland called to order the meeting of the Scandinavian Young People's Society Minerva. The election of officers for the second quarter was held, and resulted as follows: President, Sofus Jensen; vice-president, Peter Walde; secretary, Miss Lund; treasurer, Miss Hess. Five new members were also elected.

The program was as follows: Vocal solo, P. Anderson; paper, Mrs. Foiden; recitation, Miss Thompson; dialogue, Julius Willbur, Lambert Larsen, Miss Clara Larsen and Miss Emma Larsen; reading, E. Lund; vocal solo, Ludwig Christensen; reading of society paper, "Fremad," Editor A. T. Brakke.

A resolution was unanimously adopted extending the thanks of the society to the Uppertown Troubadors for the meritorious manner in which they have on several occasions entertained the members and friends of the society.

A vote of thanks was also extended to the retiring officers for their faithful service.

THE LOSS OF THE ARCHER.

Report That One of the Boats Was Picked Up By Indians.

The many friends of Capt. Dawson, of the British bark Archer, are beginning to fear that all hands perished after the vessel was abandoned on the west coast of Vancouver Island recently. The hull, which is in tow of the tug Pioneer, has not reached port. It is thought probable that the tug will take her to Port Townsend or Port Angeles, unless arrangements were made by the owners of the British steamer Maude to tow her to Victoria. The Maude was the first on the scene. A terrible gale was raging about the time the vessel was abandoned, and for that reason fears are entertained that the men were unable to reach the shore. In any event, it is likely to be some time before any definite news is received, on account of the country therabouts being inhabited chiefly by Indians.

A Victoria dispatch says that one of the boats was reported to have been picked up by Indians near Uclulet. From the appearance of the wreck, when found in Barclay Sound, it is evident the trouble was caused by the shifting of the ballast. Had it been properly stowed before the vessel left Victoria the accident would not in all probability have occurred.

THE ART OF ADVERTISING

Novelty is the Key to Success—Be Original and Your Fortune Is Made.

Does advertising pay? You are often puzzled over this problem. Sometimes you think it does, and then again you are not certain.

There are days when an attractive advertisement just "picks" your store with trade, and inquiries come dribbling in for a month afterward for articles advertised that day. But some days the advertisement seems to fall flat. It is on these days that your faith grows shaky, and if you do not doubt the utility of advertising you blame the card.

If you write your own advertisements and lose confidence in yourself, you had better employ some one who makes advertising his special business.

To write an original advertisement, every day in the year, on the same never-changing theme, is very much like taking ten yards of dress goods and making a new and entirely different dress of it 300 times in succession. It takes a clever head to do either. He must see the store side of the advertisement and the customer's side of it, the one as clearly as the other. Unwise advertising can pull down trade and exhaust your finances more rapidly than good advertising can build up the one or add to the other.

Think of a house which, in the "busy season," when everybody is buying costly outer garments, wasting its advertising space on three cent and five cent notions, often not mentioning their valuable stock once in a whole week. It is like a sportsman who wastes his ammunition on sparrows when ducks are flying overhead. The harvest time for expensive merchandise is at best but a short month or two. The cheap, little profit stuff, like the poor, we have always with us. If an advertiser does not possess business wit, along with literary ability, he will never make a success of his calling. We often see advertisements without the slightest literary merit, written in faulty English and set up atrociously, which nevertheless are great advertisements—great in their power of attracting people. They were full of business, even though they lack "style."

The kind of advertisements which would prove a success for one store might not do at all for another, even though in the same line of business, and perhaps located right next door. The capacity for knowing his audience must be innate in the writer; so must the business sense.

Remember there are other stores, just as good as yours, who sell at equally low prices. Your only advantage—and it is yours if you take it—is to have better advertising than they. This does not necessarily mean larger advertising or more costly, for it is not the size of the space that tells, but what is said and how it is said that attracts notice and excites curiosity.

If you cannot spend $1,000 a week in advertising, spend $200. If you cannot spend so much, spend $100, and if your business will not allow more than $10 to be so invested, spend that. Do not say there is no advertising except in a large way. One might as well say that a five-cent package of seeds from the florist will not grow as well as the same good seed and plant it in good soil. In other words, write a good advertisement and put it in a good paper. Ten dollars in The Astorian will pay for 100 lines of display advertising, nonpareil measurement. One can do more with 100 lines in The Astorian than with 200 lines in most other papers, because a line in The Astorian means generally a line of type, whereas those papers which are printed in larger types, a line of advertising display type will take up two to ten lines of space or even more.

A little study will enable you to evolve many other attractive ways of setting up your ads. In The Astorian type. There is hardly any limit to the combinations possible. Large type cuts space, but you are not obliged to use it in order to make a showy ad. In The Astorian, then, we would advise you, if using the plain type, to have your ad, on those pages of The Astorian where all adbers are so set up, as then your small ad, has an equal chance of being seen. A plain ad, might be lost to view entirely when printed alongside of fancy type neighbors. There the contrast is against you, but on the page with other ads, printed in the same type as yours the advantage of the most attractive setting is yours if you but choose to have it so.

The advertiser who has his eyes and wits about him has his finger on the public pulse and knows its beat. In cases of emergency his art and wit may do wonders. Observe the unique use which a Yankee advertiser makes of the classics. This man had dog collars, name-plates and rubber stamps to sell. It was a most unpromising theme—for what can one say of dog collars? Here are some of the things he said:

IT IS SELDOM

IN THIS cultured city that we see signs in the windows announcing that "Here we speak French," or "Here we speak German," &c. These signs are common from New York to San Francisco. In Boston, owing to the culture, it is taken for granted, without the signs. We do engraving in any language, especially on Dog Collars, also Door Plates and Badges, Medals, Stencils, Steel and Rubber Stamps, Corporation Seals, Hangers, Brands, Ribbon Badges, &c. JOHN SMITH, 2600 Blank street.

IT IS NOT

TO BE supposed that the Mahomedans look with favor upon the possibility of the rise of a Christian power to the south of Turkey and Egypt, and if this shop did not fit out an expedition for the relief of Stanley, it was solely for the reason that we were so crowded with orders for Door Plates that we had no time to attend to the necessary demands. This we say in self-defense, as the rumor has gone abroad that we were favorable to the Mahomedans. Also Badges, Medals, Stencils, Steel and Rubber Stamps, Corporation Seals, Dog Collars, &c. JOHN SMITH, 2600 Blank street.

This he said every day, each time using another incident of past or current history, or quoting a different author of ancient or modern times. Always winding up with some absurd or comical allusion to the universal and crying need for dog collars, name plates, etc., and apparently proving the impossibility of being happy in this world without them. Who with a canine could resist these appeals? Who with a front door would let it go bare; who, indeed, would write his name with pen when a rubber stamp could be had with which to do it? Novelty in the great charm of advertising. Originality is what the world sighs for. Be original and your fortune is made.
