The Astorian guarantees to its subscribers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia River.

Advertising rates can be obtained on application to the business manager.

This paper is in possession of all the telegraph franchises, and is the only paper on the Columbia river that publishes genuine dispatches.

The Weekly Astorian, the third oldest weekly in the state of Oregon, has next to the Portland Oregonian, the largest weekly circulation in the state.

Subscribers to the Astorian are requested to notify this office, without loss of time, immediately they fail to receive their daily paper, or when they do not get it at the usual hour.

Handley & Coles are our Portland agents and copies of the Astorian can be had every morning at their stand on First street.

RESENT IT, DEMOCRATS.
 To one unused to Oregon politics it seems a little strange to see the leader of one political party directing the affairs and campaign of another, to the extent, even, of dictating who shall or shall not run on the ticket.

Among the liveliest and best edited weekly newspapers that find their way to this office is the Telephone-Register, of McMinnville, Ore. This week it comes to us filled with the best and newest reading matter and artistic advertising cards of enterprising merchants.

Senator Lodge's description of the Democratic tariff theory as "the gospel of despair" will be thoroughly appreciated by thousands of workingmen, whom the Wilson bill has deprived of their livelihood.

What do some of the croakers who infect Astoria now think of the town's chances for a railroad?

MOTHER.
 (Communicated.)
 Mothers of Astoria, do you have any curiosity to hear a sermon beforehand to your burial, while you have life and opportunity to file your objections or commendations? Husbands and fathers, do you care to listen to your wife's funeral sermon while she lives, and you are in such a composed state of mind and health of body as to profit by it?

Children, I know that you cannot bear to talk about any thing that relates to your mother's death; but if you wish to be assisted in preparing for that awful event that must come to you sooner or later, I solemnly and tenderly invite you, with your father and mother, to attend divine services at 11 a. m. next Sunday, April 22, in the First Presbyterian church.

SIDE LIGHTS.

The editorial in the Call of a few days ago, with the above heading, is well worth a reproduction as a matter of especial interest to our citizens. What a city Astoria would be under the maritime policy of Great Britain. The editorial is as follows: "Mr. Richard P. Joy, of Detroit, Michigan, has put in pamphlet form some facts that may not be familiar to the general reading public. These facts throw some light upon the decline and fall of the American merchant marine and the rise and progress of the British merchant marine. While our cousins across the pond were preaching free trade, they were practicing protection. To quote from the pamphlet:

"In 1838 the first British steamers to cross the Atlantic appeared in our ports, and the next year the Cunard line of steamers was announced to run regularly between Liverpool and New York. It was subsidized at $425,000 annually by the British government; this sum proving insufficient, the pay was increased to $550,000 in 1840, but still failing to realize profits, Cunard had its subsidy raised to $735,000. He enlarged his steamers in 1852 and again his pay was raised, this time to $850,000, to give him enough protection to beat the Collins American line, the British premier advising Cunard, so it was said at the time, to run without freight if necessary, to kill off Collins. In 1858 congress came to the aid of Cunard, and his government took off the subsidy protection under which Collins had started and run his ships, and then the victory was easy and full freightage might be carried."

"It is not claimed that congress in taking the subsidy from the Collins line was knowingly acting in the interest of Great Britain. But the policy congress adopted was exactly the policy England would have suggested if suggestions had been in order. The congress of that period failed to comprehend that an American line depending upon legitimate business could not compete with a line that was receiving $850,000 from the government. The present congress proposes to enact a law which will afford England a market for her surplus vessels. The American fancy is to be tickled with the spectacle of British-built vessels steaming into foreign ports with the stars and stripes flying at their mastheads."

"The value of this ocean-carrying trade is considerable. In the last fiscal year the United States paid for sea conveyance of United States mails the sum of $449,405, of which American vessels received practically nothing. The receipts from freight and passenger service was estimated at $200,000,000, of which American vessels got absolutely nothing. The Democrats think they want free trade in ships, free competition for the ocean-carrying trade. They propose to withhold subsidies from all American lines, apparently unmindful that the subsidies which England pays English companies will enable them to hold the trade they have gained."

"SACRED."

"A stamped letter is a sacred thing in the eyes of the United States government," remarked an official at the Occident yesterday. No one is permitted by law to open it except the person whose name it bears. A man committed suicide not long ago, and on his desk was found a letter addressed to some one away off in Iowa. The stamp was on the letter, and, though it had not been mailed, and the corner was most anxious to open it, for he felt sure it would throw some light upon the cause of the man's death, he could not do it. The small, pinkish, oblong bit of paper, with the head of Washington engraved upon it, which was gummed up in one corner, was as good as a body of armed soldiers to protect the dead man's communication, and every little stamp that is used does the same watch-dog service.

To abuse, attack or in any way delay a mail carrier, if he has his regulation suit on, whether carrying his letters sack or not, will bring a deputy United States marshal to your side at once to take you before a United States commissioner, who will commit you to a United States grand jury.

THE BEST OF REASONS.
 The reason why Alcock's Porous Plasters are popular is that they may be relied on to cure:
 1. Lame back, sciatica, stiffness or twitching of the muscles.
 2. Chest troubles, such as pleurisy, pneumonia, consumption.
 3. Indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney complaints.
 The success, however, will depend upon the genuineness of the plaster used. The popularity of Alcock's Porous Plasters has been so great that multitudes of imitations have sprung up on every hand. The only sure cure is to get the genuine Alcock's Porous Plasters.

CITATION.
 In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clatsop.—In the matter of the estate of James P. Metz, deceased.—Citation:
 To John L. Metz, Jess E. Metz, Mrs. Prudence Weekly, Mrs. Sarah Kearns, Mrs. Ralph Jackson, Mrs. J. Metz, and Mrs. T. A. Tompkins, greeting.
 In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby cited and required to appear in the County Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clatsop, at the court room thereof, at Astoria, in the County of Clatsop, on Monday, the 7th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to show cause, if any exist, why an order of sale should not be made of the following real estate, to-wit: Lots Nos. 3 and 5, in the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter, and the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section No. 14, township No. 3, north of range No. 9 west, of the Will. Mer., in Clatsop County, Oregon.
 Witness, the Hon. C. A. McGuire, Judge of the County Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clatsop, with the seal of said court affixed, this 2d day of April, A. D. 1894.
 Agent:

A PLEASANT SURPRISE
 is in store for you when you buy Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Peppermint Cure. If you ever took the ordinary liver pill, big and bulky, nasty too, you'd appreciate a good thing, especially when it is sugar-coated, tiny as a mustard seed but very effective. Other things being equal, the smallest is the best in liver pills—brocc, "Pleasant Peppermint."
 If you are troubled with Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness, Bloating, Headaches, and a hundred and one ills, which depend upon an inactive liver—use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Peppermint. With these pills you get not only temporary relief but a positive cure; they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money is returned.
 For fat people who suffer from indigestion, for hearty eaters and high liver-people whose livers are sluggish, this pill is what is most needed. Take a Pill after dinner.

THERE IS HOPE
 For every one who has blood trouble, no matter in what shape or how long standing, provided some of the vital organs have been so far injured as to render a cure impossible, there is a positive cure, and removes the cause, by expelling the poison from the body, and is the same thing as to have the whole system lowered, had your case, only so, there is hope FOR YOU.
 Cured free of a most malignant type of chronic liver trouble, for which I had used various other remedies without effect. My weight increased, and my health improved in every way. I consider S. S. S. the best I ever used.

No Use for Lard.
 That's the happy and healthy condition of thousands of housekeepers who have been bright enough to try
Cottolene
 which is a pure, perfect and popular substitute for lard for all cooking purposes.
 The success of COTTOLENE has called out worthless imitations with similar color and similar names. Look out for these. "All that glitters is not gold," and all that's yellow is not COTTOLENE.
 There is but one valuable new shortening, and that is COTTOLENE. It is healthful, delicate and economical as a single trial will prove.
