THE WEATHER TODAY.

Portland, May 23.—For Western Oregon and Western Washington: Fair weather; cooler; light northerly winds.

AROUND TOWN.

Born.—To the wife of W. F. McGregor a daughter.

Strawberries got down to 10 cents a box yesterday.

The Young Men's Institute holds a meeting tonight.

More sellers than usual have been in town the past few days.

Pat Lawler had a brand new deed for 160 acres of land yesterday.

As a freckle preventer, the red parasol is said to be the most efficient of all colors.

A man from Ilwaco says all the bloods there have gone to smoking cigarettes and playing high five.

The funeral of Wilton Crosby Ferguson, the son of J. E. Ferguson, took place yesterday afternoon.

The very finest in photographs is the Swiss Panel. It will be introduced by Crow, the Photographer, at $2.50 per dozen.

It is said the widespread belief that ivy trained against the walls of a dwelling house is productive of dampness is a fallacy.

The absence of the card of the Leader Millinery Company, of Portland, in yesterday's issue, is made up by its presence today.

And now Miss Frances Willard, of the W. C. T. U., has learned to ride a bicycle, and says she sometimes rides ten miles a day on it.

The man who came down town yesterday morning without his spring overcoat was notified by a cold wind of his negligence before evening.

The gymnasium girl uses a decorated wood dumb-bell for an ornament to hang glove buttons on instead of the ribbon-beaded rollingpin.

At the regular weekly drawing of the Hill Lot club yesterday, D. M. Moorer drew lot No. 46, in block 27, and N. H. Webber lot 4, in the same block.

Frank Dunbar is going to surprise everybody when the votes are counted next June, and the knowing ones will wink and say "How is that for high?"

Alderbrook school has prepared an elaborate program for the Memorial exercises on Friday afternoon, and all friends are cordially invited to be present.

A man in Grant county has had the experience that is awaiting John H. Smith. Last week, while moving a house, a jack-screw broke and the house fell on Mr. Grant County man.

Dr. M. M. Walker will leave this morning for San Francisco, on the steamer Columbia, to attend the session of the American Medical Association to be held in that city. The doctor goes as the duly accredited delegate of the Medical Society of Virginia. He will return by the 10th proximo.

Steve Barity, a fisherman, who was upset near the mouth of the river Tuesday, was up town complaining bitterly of the inattention, of the life-saving crew. It is generally understood that the crew has always heretofore been extraordinarily prompt and his denunciations were a surprise to his hearers.

"Osceola" was presented last night to a delighted audience. Eugene Kay, as the "Windy Major," was extremely comical, and received a hearty reception. J. G. Stutz as Osceola, and E. Alma Stutz as Cutby, the runaway negro, added to the success of the play. Mr. Stutz by his forcible and picturesque character and Mrs. Stutz by her limble comedy. The entire company were at their best. "Osceola" will no doubt be greeted by a large house again tonight.

AN ATTRACTION.

The Leader Millinery Company, of Portland, Or., will, for the next three days, place on sale at the Occident Hotel, fifty elegant pattern hats, an assortment of choice flowers, also the latest thing in Sailor Hats, including the Knox style. The ladies of Astoria will be delighted with the styles and prices, as the hats that will be shown are the cream of the most stylish millinery parlors in Portland.

The most courteous attention will be given to visitors.

OUT OF LUCK.

D. J. Ingalls lost a fine colt on Monday from excessive hemorrhage. Mr. Ingalls has been very unfortunate with his live stock, having lost a number of horses in the past two years.

ELECTION TICKETS.

County Clerk Trenchard has given the official ticket for the coming election to J. S. Dellinger for printing. It contains the names of 84 candidates, without the precinct officers, and in size will be 9x22 inches. There will be 2,400 printed, and it will take a quarter of a ton of paper.

AN INCORRECT MAP.

In J. K. Gihl & Co.'s indexed pocket map of the states of Oregon and Washington, published in Portland, the town of Astoria is left out of the list of towns in Oregon. Is Astoria left out purposefully, or are the maps worthless by reason of the same error as to other towns?

CORRECTION.

In the case of Wm. S. Kinney vs. Capt. Nelson, which was tried in Justice Cleveland's court Tuesday, the jury brought in a verdict for Mr. Kinney, and not in favor of Capt. Nelson, as was stated in The Astorian yesterday. Mr. Kinney states that in 20 years of business experience he has brought but two suits of any kind.

PITCHING SEASON.

If you should find a chunk of rosin in your beer during the next few weeks, do not think that your favorite brewer is manufacturing his beer from rosin, for he is not. This is the season of the year when they pitch their kegs, and the taste of rosin in the beer is because the keg is yet green, or a small chunk of that gum may have found its way into the beverage.

LOOKING AROUND.

The Stanton party took a jaunt down to Seaside yesterday, starting early in the morning and returning late in the afternoon.

The object of the trip was to investigate the possibilities of Clatsop Beach and surroundings. They gave their unanimous verdict that it would be to the Pacific Coast what Newport and Cape May is to New York.

A SURE SIGN.

J. C. Swope, the painter, is at work on a 25-foot sign, that will be stretched from the McKinley club across the street, announcing to the public that at that point they can find the "Republican Headquarters." It was thought best to have such a sign, in order that the many Democrats deserting their party every day may know the whereabouts of the place they are seeking, and inquiring for.

ANOTHER KICK.

"Say" asks a female kicker, "who is responsible for so many educated cats in Astoria? Why there are cats in this city that can lift a collar door and turn a barrel from off a brood of young chickens with as much ease as a man can lift the cover off a cheese box in a grocery."

That's right, and they are allowed to live in perfect peace and in happiness—monarchs of all they survey.

NEARLY WORN OUT.

Sup. Smith, of the water works, states that the pipe-line from Bear Creek to the reservoir has to be watched carefully, as parts of it are nearly worn out. The line is liable to frequent and serious leaks.

Had it been laid when first put down in solid ground it would today be almost as good as new, but the shifting soil and the exposure to salt water have worn it out very rapidly.

A WELCOME GUEST.

Mr. J. A. Bullen, of Leavenworth, Kas., arrived in Astoria on the steamer Telephone yesterday. Mr. Bullen is president of the Bullen Bridge Company, the builders of the new steel bridge in Portland, and it is understood that he is here to submit a proposition to the Astoria and Seaside Railroad Company for the construction of a steel bridge across Young's Bay, to connect Astoria with that railway. He is looking into the question of new water works for this city also.

IN LINE.

Contractor Houston has a force of men at work placing the fence about the custom house square in line. To do this it is necessary to move the fence 20 inches to the north and the same number to the west. The fence will also be put on the grade of the street.

Mr. Houston states that every survey that is made now is run so as to line up with Flavel's brick block, or the Odd Fellow's building, and the moving of the custom house fence will either make the street narrower or the buildings in Chinatown 20 inches in the street.

A BAD ACHE.

There is a gentleman in this city whose soul is almost wrapped up in fine china, and a desire to possess as many exquisite pieces as possible. He has in his cabinet some of the choicest products of the potteries of Berlin, Worcester, Limoges and other famous factories of Europe, which he handles as lovingly and tenderly as only a connoisseur can.

A short time since, while in Portland, his attention was attracted by a fine display of Chicago ceramics in a shop window, and he stopped to admire and covet the graceful shapes, with their spiral flutterings, the shell-figured borders, and all that sort of thing. Presently the proprietor came to the door and invited him to enter, which he did with alacrity, feeling certain that in a china shop an affinity existed for him.

and he could pour out his soul on the symbolical character of an outline, etc. After he had complimented the proprietor on the fine display, and received a half growl about hard times in response, he glanced from the contents of the show window to those about the store, and inquired of the proprietor: "Have you Belek?"

"No," answered the shopman; "but it will ache unless trade picks up pretty soon." We draw the veil.

CHILD DROWNED.

Yesterday evening, as the little 12-year-old daughter of John Lukinen, who fishes for the Columbia cannery, was trying to obtain some malt from one of a number of barrels which stand outside of the railing on Hemlock street directly over the river, she leaned too far over, lost her balance, and fell into the water, and was drowned before any one realized the accident. A little boy saw her fall, and instead of reporting it to the Columbia cannery, which was near by, he went home and informed his father, who was at work, but by the time he reached the scene and had inquired if any of the children in the neighborhood was missing it was too late to save her. The body was found by her father near the place in five feet of water.

A POINTER. Many people believe that all blacksmithing jobs are alike—that they are nothing but muscle and material mixed. That is true of ordinary jobs. Brains are also used to make a good job. Friedman's Consignee Sale

Has revolutionized Astoria. It has changed the prices of clothing that the people begin to purchase at home and don't go to Portland for them as before.

The merchants are now afraid that if a railroad should come to town it would bring more people here, and among them there is liable to come men that will engage in the clothing, hats and dry goods business. Therefore it puts them to the necessity of getting another ordinance through so as to prohibit any railroad company from bringing any persons here that will sell clothing, dry goods, and hats, and they will ask the council to enact an ordinance to prohibit cars coming here with goods such as they sell, and all railroad cars that may hereafter bring here new goods shall pay a license to the city of $400 for each car load, and $400 for each passenger who intends locating in Astoria and engaging in the clothing or dry goods trade.

And be it further enacted, that the city of Astoria be fenced in against all intruders, such that would dare come here and bring a nice stock of clothing or dry goods, and offer the same for sale here for less than the old merchants who have kept their old stocks on their shelves for years and have had the trouble of dusting and brushing them so long, and they will pray to have the ordinance passed in one night and become a law immediately after its passage.

The only one excepted from the penalty of the above is S. Friedman, of the Consignee Sale, at 600 Third Street, corner of West Ninth street, Astoria, Oregon. Buy your Clothing, Hats, and Furnishing Goods there.
