TRAIN THE BOYS.

The veterans in yesterday's parade under a great disadvantage at the outbreak of the war because long years of quiet had engendered a feeling of se curity in the minds of the people which, although apparently justified by the ecudition of affairs, was really without good foundation, and came near costing in any part of a room conversation can be lovel element of the country dear, be carried on by each person simply the loyal element of the country dear. Even with the American alertness in emergencies, and the ready adaptability of our people to a change of circumstances and surroundings, it was some feeting to meet the armed assault so long prepared for by the men of the by the Grand Army of the Republic in the east for the introduction of military instructions in the public schools will into his transmitter and keep his cars prove a very effective guard against future surprises of the kind referred to and should be imitated here in Astoria and throughout the whole Pacific Coast region. There are good reasons why of the country, and the old adage, "In time of peace prepare for war," has a special and local application here. The proposed instruction need not be in the nature of added labor, but rather that of recreation, and it would prove of value to the boys in many ways, both now and later in life; teaching them the value of discipline, the habit of prompt obedience, self-rellance and self-control in all sorts of emergencies. Disciplined disaster has been averted by the coolness engendered by discipline. The expense of such additional instruction in the schools would be very light, and loops, which are afterward cut. The a double good might be done by the employment of old veterans as instructors, of whom there are still plenty left fully competent for the duty, and who would infuse a spirit in the work entirely lackine to the instructions of any other class up, and thus gain the distinction of introducing the movement in the west, Since Populism has drawn the baser element out of both parties, says the Oregonian, those who are laft have much in common on fiscal and economic questions. Probably more Republicans and Democrats will vote together this year than ever before in Oregon. They will vote together for the confusion of Populism and the defeat of Pennoyer.

in their chapels, and in the last days of the papal government the French soldiers substituted for the procession of the palii that of the bue grasso. The pope's dragoons used to gallop through the Corso to clear it before the race, and to warn the people that it had actually started. Either mortars were fired or trumpets blown, but accidents were perpetually occurring, and when in 1886 two people were killed just below the balcony where stood the Queen Margherita, the Barbary races were forbidden in the Corso for the future, though onewed last year in a very much modided form around the Piazza del Popolo.

The horses had no riders, but carried two balls of lead, covered with prickles, loosely attached by leather thongs below the neck and on the back. So of ourse the harder they galloped the more these prickly balls danced up and down and goaded them on.

Dashing furiously along the Corso, they were past almost before people knew that they had started, and in such a narrow street, with such a crush of people on either side and somebody always trying to cross at the last moment or stepping out of the throng to see if they were coming, it was small wonder that it was a dangerous game, though of course the danger was in part also the attraction.

A sheet was stretched across the street to catch the horses at the back of Piazza Venezia, in the passage still called Via della Ripresa de Barberi, in front of which was a cord covered with wet red paint. This dropped before the rush of the foremost horse, leaving a streak of paint on his chest, and thus all knew at once which was the winner.-Gentleman's Magazine:

To this end the usual induction coil is discarded, and the two instruwill remember how the country labored ments, transmitter and receiver, are directly connected in circuit with the line and the battery. The transmitter at one end of the line is connected to the receiver at the other end, and two separate lines are employed having a common return wire. Two correspondents can thus talk quite freely with each other, and as the receivers speak out so as to be heard speaking to his transmitter.

The apparatus is attached to flexible conductors and is held in the hand. To open a conversation it is sufficient to pick up the portable transmitter and press a button in its casing, so as to establish the circuit. The receiver at the other end acts as its own call bell by the loudness of its voice, and the response comes equally prompt and loud. The user has therefore no need to listen carefully with one or two receivers held up to his head. All he has to do is to speak

Sisterly Devotion. The beautiful Margaret of Navarre was devoted to her brother, Francis I. When he was apparently dying at Madrid, she found her way to him through privation and danger and succeeded in effecting his deliverance. When he was ill at a distance from her, she went every day and sat down on a stone in the middle of the road to catch the first glimpse of a messenger afar off. And she said: "Ah! whoever shall come to announce the recovery of the king, my brother, though he be tired, jaded, soiled, disheveled, I will kiss him and embrace him as though he were the finest gentleman in the kingdom.

When he died, she seemed literally heartbroken, and she did not long survive him .- Youth's Companion.

PECULIARITIES OF A WOMAN WORTH

She Is Old Fashioned In Appearance, Sc-

Not a small part of the fame of Brooklyn can be laid to the credit of the remarkable women who have lived and live now within its borders-women who have taken rank and honor in almost every walk of life. It is a well known fact that a very large proportion of the real Filing Petition. estate of the city is held in the names of women. It is not a widely known fact that the woman who is reputed to be the richest in the United States lives in the City of Churches and right in the classic section known as the heights too. Her wealth is variously estimated at from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000, and her name is Mrs. Hetty Green. Her name and personality are more familiar to Wall street than they are to Brooklyn society. That is because Mrs. Green has B. S. WORSLEY. chosen to devote all her time to themanipulation of her fortune and has let society get along without her. Hetty Green at an Ibpetonga ball would create a sensation indeed, but it is not likely that such an occasion will ever be recorded by society writers.

Hosts of people have brushed elbows with a shrewd and rather calm faced woman, apparently 50 years old, rather short, wearing a plain, old fashioned shawl and a bonnet so far beyond fashion's pale that no one would ever suspect it had been in it, even years ago. Nobody ever saw her with a dress which was not severely plain, and seldem has she been noticed when she did not carry an old style and well worn black satchel. Her appearance would never cause the uninitiated to think that she was anything more extraordinary than an old fashioned woman of moderate means and simple tastes, who was on her way to the corner grocery or the bakery on the block below. Yet, if money is power, this same staid looking person is one of the most powerful human beings in

In an old fashioned house on a cerner in Pierrepont street Mrs. Green and her daughter Sylvia have lived for several years. The modest apartments they occupy are hired from a pleasant faced woman, who keeps the house and who has an admiration for Mrs. Green, which she does not conceal. The richest woman in the United States has a son, who has been spending some time in Florida seeking to improve his health. Mrs. Green has been a widow for many years, and her daughter is about 20 years old. Since the death of her hushand Hetty Green has become a financier of unusual shrewdness. She has indicated by her actions that she has small faith in brokers, and that if she wants anything done the best way is to do it herself.

The weather beaten satchel has carried securities representing millions of dol-lars. It has knocked about New York and Brooklyn and other big financial centers with precious burdens, and Hetty Green has always had a tight grip on it. She does dot believe in spending her money on things she does not want, and her daughter become one of the leading actors in the famous Four Hundred of Manhattan island. Something of an obstacle in the way of this is the daughter herself, according to report. Miss Green is credited with caring as little for the dazzle and newspaper notoriety of a social career as her mother. She is a girl whose tastes are quiet and to whom dress is a matter of little consideration.

Mrs. Green, by way of a foundation for her daughter's social debut, some time ago settled a large sum of thoney on that young woman in government bonds. The amount is stated to be $5,000,000.

Incidents in the career of this remark able woman have stamped her as a bold yet cautious operator in stocks and securities. When the financial panic of 1884 occurred, Mrs. Green had a large deposit in a firm of Canadian bankers named Cisco & Co. of New York. Information reached her that the bank was in an unsafe condition, and without waiting to hear more she went to the institution and withdrew her entire deposit. The firm had no elternative, and after paying her her money was compelled to suspend and finally failed completely. Hetty Green is the largest property owner in the city of Chicago. She holds title to block after block of land in the business section, and her son assists in looking after her interests there. For many years she lived in the western metropolis, and she spends much of her time there when away from Brook-

Her characteristic bargain with ex-Judge Henry Hilton is fresh in the minds of financiers. The money which the judge wanted so badly is generally conceded to have been used in buying out the interest of his son, Henry G. Hilton. in the dry goods firms of Hilton, Hughes & Co. and Hilton Bros. He went to Mrs. Green, or his lawyers did, and made a request for a loan of $1,250,000 in cash. Mrs. Green was willing to lend, but insisted on having a mortgage on the marble palace at the corner of Broadway and Chambers street, New York, the Stewart building, which, with the land, is supposed to be worth $3,000,000. She would take no other security, and after a two months' search of the title the fara two months' search or the title the far-grest mortgage ever given on a single piece of property in New York was recorded. But Judge Hilton needed the money be-fore the search had been concluded, and after he had placed in the hands of Hetty Green title deeds representing $15,000,000 worth of property she advanced him $800,000. And in addition to this the shrewd speculator forced him to sign a paper agreeing that she should hold the until the mortgage was executed. -Brooklyn Eagle.
