YESTERDAY'S WEATHER. Maximum temperature, 62 degrees. Minimum temperature, 52 degrees. Precipitation, .02 inch. Total precipitation from July 1, 1893, to date, 94.80 inches.

AROUND TOWN.

Rah! Rah! Rah! for our boys!!!! Did you see Charley Higgins slide? There is many a slip-on the football grounds. Three to two—How is that for the Astoria team?

Bring on your crack teams. Our boys can play football. The watchword of the Portland team—Watch Gibson.

The Three Cs will give an entertainment at Liberty hall Tuesday evening, June 12.

Dr. J. A. Fulton left for Portland last night to attend the meeting of the State Medical Society.

Sofus Jensen left last night for Portland on a business trip. He expects to return Saturday.

Nearly every store in the city was closed yesterday, and a general holiday was the result.

All the kicking was done by the Portland team. They wanted a new referee, and got it in the neck.

The streets of the city were almost deserted yesterday afternoon. Everybody and their friends were at the football game.

At the regular weekly drawing of Hill's lot club A. W. Utzinger drew lot 20, of block 27, and James Keating lot 14, of the same block.

Any football club coming to Astoria with the expectation of finding our boys will get badly fooled hereafter.

Don't fail to attend the concert to be given by the Catholic Sunday school at Rescue hall Friday evening, June 1. Admission 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

Three salmon were brought to the Cutting Packing Company cannery yesterday that tipped the beam at 192 pounds when placed on the scales together.

A Portland sport struck Ilwaco last week, and when the boys got through with him they took up a subscription to buy a bass drum to assist him in beating his way out of town.

The Portland boys are good players, but there are two or three of them who do not have to have their meals handed them through a cage to keep the girls away on account of their good looks.

The reserved seats for the Miss Peppi Sternheim concert to be given at Rescue hall Thursday evening are selling rapidly, and any person wishing to secure choice seats should call at Strouse's Novelty Store today.

John Stewart Hitchen was out to the football game yesterday, and upon looking up in the grand stand declared "that there are more pretty girls in more pretty dresses at Astoria than in any town in the state," and Hitchen reads the Ladies' Home Journal and knows what style is.

It is reported on the streets that J. W. Walker, candidate for county judge on the Democratic ticket, intends to withdraw. After a man's friends have carried his nomination through a convention at his special instance and request, thereby often knocking out a better man to accomplish such result, he shows a very poor appreciation of their friendship by withdrawing from the ticket on the eve of election.

Mr. A. W. Prescott, teacher of Clatsop school, down on the plains, left on the Telephone last evening for his home in Salem, where he expects to spend the greater part of his vacation. Mr. Prescott's success as a teacher and his popularity in the community are shown by the action of the school board in re-electing him to another nine-months' term of school, with a gratifying increase in his salary.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKING. Hon. William Galloway, candidate for governor; Hon. J. H. Raley, candidate for congress; Hon. T. L. Davidson, candidate for state treasurer; Hon. D. V. S. Reid, candidate for superintendent of public instruction; and Hon. W. H. Holmes, candidate for attorney general, will address the people of Astoria, June 1st, at 8 o'clock p. m., in Fisher's hall. Everybody respectfully invited to attend.

ALCOHOL FOR SALE. ALCOHOL can be purchased at the White House Corner, in flask or bottle quantities. WRIGHT & HARRIS, Proprietors.

REMOVED. Drs. A. L. & J. A. Fulton have removed to their new offices, over A. V. Allen's store.

BURIED TREASURES.

A Lewis and Clarke Exploring Party on the Trail.

A couple of months ago a medium over on Lewis and Clarke gave a seance at his home, in which sat Dr. E. Kins, of Portland, who had come down on a visit to some relatives in that neighborhood. Among the spirits called up was the well known pirate who once sailed the seas about this coast, and who is supposed to have buried a treasure-box somewhere around the Necarney mountains. Here was an opportunity to obtain a surplus, and they asked the spirit if he really did bury a lot of bullion and jewels galore. He answered in the affirmative, and went them one better by stating the place of burial—i. e., Carnahan's farm, at Clatsop; that it was in an iron box, and consisted of $160,000, besides numberless precious stones. But the exact spot he could not make them comprehend. The doctor was equal to the emergency, and proposed that they go over to the farm the following day and drive a quantity of numbered stakes and hold another seance the following night, if agreeable to the departed pirate. The "silent partner" agreed, and the next day the stakes were driven and that night another seance was held, in which they were told the exact stake under which they could dig and find enough to buy the railroad subsidy. The seance was stopped right there and then, and the crowd gathered up all the spades and picks on the place and broke for the gory rover of the seas, and upon finding it commenced to dig, nor did they stop until the sand caved into the pit and they were too much exhausted to shovel it out.

They returned home and held a third seance, but this time the spiritual member of the firm would not materialize to explain why the box was not found, much to their disappointment. They feel so certain, however, that the treasure is there that they have procured a lot of long iron rods, with which they are probing the sands, confident that they will soon find the coveted box.

RESCUE CLUB HALL.

The comedy and musical event of the year will occur at Rescue Club hall Thursday evening, May 31st. Since the advent of Miss Peppi Sternheim, the highly cultivated operatic vocalist, the ladies of Astoria have been importuning our worthy citizen, Mr. Utzinger, to give a concert and entertainment, so as to allow them to hear her sing, and he has consented to do so for their especial benefit, and will present the full strength of his entire company.

Miss Peppi Sternheim will be assisted by Mr. Peter Smith and Miss Lottie Ellis Cordray, favorite comedy sketch artists.

Miss Ella Hall, topical vocalist, and others. A magnificent orchestra of 12 musicians will present a choice musical program. A special number, "Charge of the Cavalry," is characteristic, imitating the charge, horses galloping, etc.

Admission 50c, children 25c. Reserved seats 50c. Now on sale at Strauss' N. Y. Novelty Store.

STUTZ THEATRE.

"Twin Dairy Farm" received its first performance last night, and nothing but praise could be heard through the audience, both for play and players. The tear and cry blended throughout, and none who ever witness "Twin Dairy Farm" can go home without feeling they had seen something to think of and remember. The same play is repeated tonight.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Elmore passed out yesterday morning.

The steamer Signal passed in with a miscellaneous cargo.

In the afternoon a square-rigger was signalled outside in the west.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Gov. Pennoyer and Joseph Waldron will address the public at People's Party Hall, Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. Everybody invited.

WIRES STILL DOWN.

The wires are still down, and it is, therefore, impossible to obtain any telegraphic news of any description.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

ON THE WATER QUESTION.

The Water Commission Files a Rejoinder to "Indignant House-keepers' Replication."

Editor Astorian—In reply to still indignant "House-keeper," in your issue of 20th inst., I note she says "some of his statements" in Tuesday's issue "are so ambiguous as to require more than one reading to get the gist of his meaning."

I admit that one whole sentence in that article must be used as the nominative or subject of the verb. That would have been considered good grammar in Dr. Murray's time, and before him in Addison's time.

I did not say, as she intimates, that being "civil, well-bred, polite, complaisant and obliging," with a plenty of money, would build good and ample water works, but I included as "lively" and as "little mossbacked" as any citizens in Astoria, as characterizing the commissioners. I now reaffirm my former statement.

Has said "Housekeeper" properly considered the character and capacity of men, commissioners, possessing those qualities? (I may yet become a live interrogation point, too.)

Please read that description of the commissioners again—and that is not the enigmatical sentence either. Let us see. Lively and not mossbacked implies readiness and courage to act at once, not drowsy or too conservative.

"Well-bred"—brought up where, among other things, they use plenty of water for personal and household cleanliness.

"Complaisant and obliging"—having a disposition to please and accommodate their fellow mortals suffering for water in the city.

Are my definitions disputed? Tell us wherein.

So I reaffirm, that men possessing these qualities and requisites—nothing else being in the way—could and would build good and efficient water works if anything mortal would. My characterization of the commissioners is admitted as true, and not denied by "House-keeper." The water works do not come.

What is the trouble? Something beyond mortal understanding, probably.

But said "Housekeeper" cites a certain physician and a dentist as being incommode and in fear of sickness in the family because of the insufficient supply of water and the like, and winds up, "Don't tell us the supply is ample for all but 20 or 30 families. Bosh!" Here, again, "Housekeeper" attributes to me what I never said.

Such allegations and misstatements by "Housekeeper" may be fitly termed pettifoggery—bosh.

I have never said "the supply is ample for all but 20 or 30 families."

I know the supply is not ample for anybody when it is shut off a part of each night, and I have never said otherwise.

But this pettifoggery and misquoting will naturally come to an end ere long, and then witnesses will be called to prove our opposing assertions. I am ready for the witnesses now—real ones, who will stand up and testify, openly, not covered by anonymous signatures.

I will prove that nine-tenths of the water consumers have been tolerably well supplied the past one or two years; that less than one-tenth of those who take and pay for water, or wish to be supplied, in Astoria, although considerably inconvenienced, are not "badly" incommode, and that in all such cases the small tank would have supplied them quite well; that the expense of the tank is small and within the reach of all our prominent physicians and dentists; that no prudent "Housekeeper" will commence washing (clothes, I suppose) at 4 o'clock in the morning, in Astoria, without having put part of the clothing "to soak" the evening or day before, and provided some tubs, buckets or other vessels of water ready for use in the morning for washing, cooking and family ablutions at 7 or 8 a. m.; and finally, that every statement which I have made in this matter, touching the supply of water for domestic use in Astoria, is absolutely true.

I have never said the works furnish an ample supply; but have all the time admitted a considerable deficiency, especially in the elevated portions of the city—comprising from 1-20 to 1-10 of the families in the city.

Our attorney has charge of the matter of securing the right-of-way by a decision of the circuit court and will do his best, I presume, in getting an early decree, which we hope will be favorable.

But with such favorable decree there are still some questions, as to character and extent of the proposed new works, which may be better explained to "Housekeeper" by her husband than by a communication in a newspaper by a member of the Astoria.

"BREAKING IN,"

Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up," trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement or account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes.

You will find all this obviated by purchasing your footwear at the store of JOHN HAHN & CO.

A POINTER

Many people believe that all blacksmithing jobs are alike—that they are nothing but muscle and material mixed. That is true of ordinary jobs. Brains are also used to make a good job. So is conscience. A job made without skill or honesty is no good. Our work is widely known for its quality, durability and economy in the end.
