THE COUNT PROCEEDS

Western Oregon About Counted and the Eastern Coming In.

GLORIOUS REPUBLICAN VICTORY
Great Majority Over All for Lord in Multnomah, with Majorities and Pluralities Elsewhere.

Several of the counties of Western Oregon completed their count yesterday, affording, with a few estimates not likely to be far wrong, a pretty good idea of the general result so far as they are concerned. What progress was made in Eastern Oregon is still a matter of some doubt, except as to Umatilla, the wires working badly. From the increase appearing in counties reporting it seems probable that the prohibition strength and the missing precincts will bring the total vote up to $2,000 or more. The incomplete status in Multnomah county prevents any certainty as to state pluralities, the indications being that Lord's plurality over Pierce will be in the neighborhood, as previously estimated, of 15,000. Returns are remarkably incomplete on the vote for state school superintendent, many places, as in Multnomah county, having apparently made no effort to tabulate this vote. At the present showing Irwin cannot have less than 10,000 plurality over Reid, and the Eastern Oregon counties, of which practically nothing is known, ought to materially increase this lead.

The vote of the first congressional district, as returned and estimated, will be somewhat larger than was first supposed, and will probably increase Hermann's plurality. In the second district nearly everything is conjecture. Columbia county is the only one with complete returns, Umatilla being nearly so. The vote of Multnomah county on congressional is given for its supposed 16,000 votes in the proportions obtaining in the 11,000 counted. In default of reports from many Eastern Oregon counties, the figures on congressmen may have to be revised considerably, as Ellis is not given credit for the gains he should make over the vote for Harrison in 1892, upon which the computations are based. The report of Cameron's (Rep.) defeat in Jackson is confirmed.

For the lower house, M. Davidson, Pop., is returned by the completed count from Columbia county, instead of Cleaton, Rep. This change is offset by the election in Jackson county of George Dunn, Rep., who was reported Tuesday as defeated by Marksberry, Pop.

According to the official returns, supplemented by the most reliable estimates, the counties of Baker, Coos, Jackson, Lake and Wallowa gave small pluralities for Pierce, and the counties of Crook and Harney small pluralities for Galloway. The remaining counties of the state all went for Lord, with majorities over both Pierce and Galloway in Multnomah of 4,239, Marion 679, Washington 258, small majorities in Columbia, Klamath, Sherman and Wasco, and varying pluralities in the other counties. In the first congressional district Hermann has a plurality over Weatherford of 10,557 and over Miller of 8,682. In the second district Ellis' plurality over Raley is 12,000 and over Raley 8,000. In the third district a plurality of over 11,000. Take it altogether, the victory for the Republicans is more sweeping than any of the so-called landslides in the eastern states.

THE EFFECT IN WASHINGTON.

A dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian from Washington, D. C., says: Full knowledge of the Republican victory in Oregon was not obtained until today, and has been the theme of discussion all over the capitol. Senator Aldrich read the press dispatch giving the facts of the victory. Dolph stated that the Democrats made such a showing in the senate by the fact that seven of them were holdovers. There was general rejoicing on the Republican side. Dolph was warmly congratulated. The Democratic senators sat silent and disgusted. Oregon men everywhere were congratulated that the state has repudiated Populism. Even Democrats express some satisfaction in that. Last night Hermann attended a big Republican meeting in Baltimore, and when he was called to speak cheer after cheer was given for Oregon and for Hermann and Ellis, the first men named to the coming Republican congress. Oregon's election has inspired the Republicans to make a stronger fight than ever against the outrageous tariff bill.

THE COUNTY VOTE.

G. Wingate Leads the Ticket, With Judge Gray a Good Second.

The following are the corrected official election returns for Clatsop county. A careful analysis of the vote will show a good safe Republican majority in the county. G. Wingate, candidate for the state board of equalization, leads the ticket with 1,431 votes, to 724 for his opponent. Following him are Judge Gray, Richard Harry, C. J. Curtis, James W. Hare and F. J. Dunbar, in their respective order. Under all the circumstances it is a great victory for the Republican party, and puts Clatsop in the line of solid Republican counties:

COLUMBIA AT A STAND

A Further Rise Not Now Expected.

REPORTS FROM FRASER RIVER
The Greatest Flood Since the Year 1876—Immense Damage at Many Points.

The greatest of all Columbia's floods attained its maximum height at midnight. Such was the opinion of Weather Observer Pague, who has watched it closely during the past two weeks. The rise of Tuesday night was but three-tenths of a foot, bringing it, at 7 a. m., to the 32.8 mark. Up to a late hour last night the 33-foot mark was still a little above the water line. It is the topmost notch marked on the government gauge at the foot of Stark street, and it looks very much as if it will be the highest notch reached. Observer Pague does not say positively that the maximum point has been reached, but that it is hardly probable the 33-foot mark will be passed. His opinions are based on the fact that the Upper Columbia and Willamette are falling quite rapidly, and cool weather prevails in regions where floods originate. The morning gauge reading at Umatilla, taken at 11 o'clock, was 34.3 feet, showing a fall of .2 during the preceding 24 hours. On the Snake river, at Riparia, a fall of 20 inches was recorded.

The readings on the Upper Willamette at 9 a. m. yesterday were: Albany, 9.9 feet, andalem 9.6 feet, indicating a fall of .7 at the former place and .4 at the latter. Cool weather prevails at points up the valley, and there is no prospect of higher water at present.

It was on May 28, about 10 days ago, that the weather bureau first called the attention of the public to the fact that high water might be expected. The river then stood at 25 feet above the low water mark. While a rapid rise was anticipated, the official observer did not think that the outlook was at all alarming. Then came an unexpected term of hot weather, which lasted three days and turned every mountain stream into a torrent. The Columbia and its tributaries rose rapidly, until May 31 the river at this point reached a height of 28.7 feet, the highest on record. During the past week the Willamette has been steadily rising, until the entire wholesale and nine-tenths of the retail districts are submerged, and the water stands from 2 to 6 feet deep on Washington, Morrison and Third streets. As the flood now stands it is 4.7 feet higher than the notable flood of 1876, and 4.8 feet higher than that of 1890, which was considered the highest on record.—Yesterday's Oregonian.

UNION PACIFIC DAMAGES.

Three Months Will Be Required to Rebuild and Repair the Track.

It has been estimated by railroad men at Tacoma that the damage done by floods throughout the northwest will be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. Supt. Baxter, of the Union Pacific's Pacific division, is quoted as saying that it would take 90 days to rebuild the 50 miles of track washed out between Troutdale and The Dalles. It is thought it will take the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific a month or so to fully repair their tracks and the Northern Pacific nearly as long.

Supt. Bancroft, of the mountain division of the Union Pacific road, returned to Salt Lake June 6 from the flooded regions along the Snake and Columbia rivers in Idaho, Washington and Oregon. He reports that the damage is simply incalculable. The water cannot be controlled and will continue to rise for some days, as there is an immense amount of snow in the mountains and at the heads of the tributaries to the rivers named.

THE FRASER RIVER.

Tremendous Damage to the Canadian Pacific.

Reports received at Vancouver, B. C., on June 6, from Fraser river points, say the waters are receding. At Westminster the Fraser is still rising, owing probably to prevailing very high tides. Since yesterday the flood had risen an inch in Westminster. The current was 5.43 miles per hour, the swiftest ever known at that point. The swamp district, where all the mills are, is completely under water. The fires under the boilers at the electric power house were put out last night, and a fire engine is employed pumping, in order to keep the water below the furnaces. Many now believe that the farms of the Fraser valley have not been so seriously damaged as at first supposed, and that the ranchers will be able to raise crops this season in the flooded lands. At Westminster the flow of water still covers the Great Northern along the south side of the river. In the Canadian Pacific yards the tracks are over three feet under water. It is now believed the Canadian Pacific Company's loss will be nearly $1,000,000. The passengers who were started east by the Canadian Pacific Sunday have returned, having been unable to proceed beyond North Bend. From points up the river it is reported the flood is receding at the rate of an inch an hour.

REPAIRING THE DAMAGE.

The people are now bringing their minds to bear regarding the means by which the misfortunes of the settlers may as speedily as possible be repaired. Public works of very great magnitude in the way of dikes must be begun with as little delay as possible. The highest water previously recorded was in the year 1882, and that record was everywhere regarded as the maximum height to which it was expected the water would ever reach. This record having been obliterated by the experience of this year, the water having risen from 20 to 18 inches higher than in 1882, it is manifest that the whole scheme of diking these lands must be built higher by at least two feet, and the extra height must be strengthened by widening at least eight feet additional the base of all the dikes. The general character of the dikes, too, must be strengthened in many places by substantial piling, and possibly in some instances by masonry work. This will involve, before finally being completed, an expenditure of many hundreds of thousands of dollars. The work to be undertaken is of such magnitude and importance to the country at large that it becomes a matter of national concern. The various boards of trade of the province are at present engaged in drawing up petitions to the federal government at Ottawa, pointing out the absolute necessity of a large and immediate appropriation of funds for the prosecution of the new diking scheme.

Methods of communication are in such a demoralized condition that it is as yet impossible to estimate the loss of life or damage to property. A number of bodies have been recovered, and it is known that many persons have been drowned. Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo are the only towns in British Columbia not affected by the high water.

The steamer Skagit Chief has been chartered by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to go to Ruby creek and load a cargo of perishable freight and passengers for Sound ports. All the available steamers on the Fraser river have been pressed into service by the government to assist the settlers in the flooded district. The straits of Juan de Fuca are full of driftwood brought down by the freshets, making navigation by small craft somewhat hazardous.

AN ENTERPRISING CONCERN.

We have received the following notice, and publish the same, as an evidence of the enterprise of Portland business men:

We've leased a mountain. We are right in it—both flood and business, but principally business. Having several floors, we have transferred our type department to second floor, and shall continue to handle all orders with customary promptitude, even if it is necessary to conduct business on the roof. If that should fall us, we have an "option on a mountain."

You can always depend upon us for the most complete stock, lowest prices and advantageous terms—the only printers' supply house in the United States operating a successful business in three feet of water—and we are not water-logged either. We have no competitors. Be sure to write us before ordering elsewhere. Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting a flood of new business, we are, yours truly, Palmer & Rey Type Foundry.
