

A TALK WITH ASTORIA DRESS-MAKERS.

Now that the season will soon merge into summer, one can quite safely say that the fashions for the next few months are settled.

Among the host of pretty waists designed for evening wear, with any sort of a dark dress skirt, is one that shows very prettily in rose brown and deep green colorings.

Epaulettes of lace cover the upper part of the wide balloon sleeves and the entire garment has a very dressy, fly-away appearance.

The blouse and blazer has become almost a craze and are likely to remain a favorite, as they give much opportunity for individual taste.

The new sleeves does not drop over the elbow, but has stiffening in it to make it stand out whenever the goods is such that it will not admit of this addition.

The Eton jacket still obtains. The large cape that falls over the shoulders and is somewhat similar to the serpentine collar changes its appearance greatly from the original Eton jacket.

Moire silk does not wane in popular favor, and grows prettier as the season advances by reason of the exquisite flits and patterns which the manufacturers have evolved, to make the old-time watered silk, that was never a favorite in the past, considered a novelty under its new guise of dainty colorings.

Some of the new silks show the Dolly Varden pattern, but tiny checks are more favored and are, indeed, "all the rage."

Traveling dresses are of tan or russet shades, dull greens or grays, with very little trimming, and often just a few rows of stitching here and there on the edges of the garment, is the only trimming.

The white petticoat is returning to public favor. Many persons favor those made of some light-weight silk, as they may then be utilized to wear under other dresses of any thin sheer goods.

The white toilet is the season's favorite, and white lace over white China silk is the loveliest dress imaginable for evening wear.

Sashes are coming in again, and their width is regulated by the taste of the wearer. One point, however, on which fashion is arbitrary is, that the ends of the sash shall fall quite to the hem of the dress.

BORN, NOT MADE.

Weak by imprudence, are many stomachs. Puny people have, invariably, weak digestion. The robust as a rule eat heartily and assimilate their food. A naturally weak stomach, or one that has become, although not so originally, derives useful aid from this thorough stomachic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

STANDS WITHOUT A RIVAL.

Gentlemen: I have been troubled with very severe headaches for years, and have taken a great many different remedies, but have never found anything to give me as speedy and permanent cure as Krause's Headache Capsules.

Blue Devils

The business man who says that advertising does not pay does not advertise. He is the one that always doubts the prosperous trade reports he hears of his competitor, who does advertise. He sits in the back of his store, smokes his pipe and wonders why he isn't making any money.

Why is this so? It is because his competitor lets the public know in an intelligent way through the local papers what he has to sell and when he has it. The successful advertiser looks after his advertising space as he does his clerks. He changes his ads. in such a way the people are attracted by them. He feels that to make money he must be willing to spend some; that there is strong competition in all lines of business, and to get his share of the trade he must advertise, and to do it in the most skillful and intelligent way.

He cannot write advertising matter himself, he seeks the aid of some one who has made the writing of advertisements a study—some specialist, who will see that it is properly written in a catchy and displayed way—some one whose duty it is to take off the shoulders of a busy man all the worry of making up an ad.

No business man attempts to cure his own sickness, pull his own teeth, make his own clothes or attend to his own law cases. He employs specialists for each of these various services, and saves money by doing it. It is through its language and arrangement that an advertisement gets its business-bringing qualities. There must be something to attract public attention and hold it; something of interest, something out of the ordinary, something that is different from others of the same line of business. To give it these peculiar features requires experience, and the owner of The Astorian has engaged the services of such a specialist for the benefit of its advertising customers who may wish to take advantage of his services.

The Evening Star, of Washington, D. C., has an advertisement writer connected with its business department, and its terms to advertisers are, "So much blank space, so much money. The same amount of space, with the assistance of the advertisement writer in getting up ad. attractively, so much additional."

The Astorian charges nothing extra, the services of the expert being thrown in.

LET IT RUN, and your cough may end in something serious. It's pretty sure to, if your blood is poor. That is just the time and condition that invites Consumption. The seeds are sown and it has fastened its hold upon you, before you know that it is near.

It won't do to trifle and delay, when the remedy is at hand. Every disorder that can be reached through the blood yields to Dr. Fierco's Golden Medical Discovery. For Severe Coughs, Bronchial, Throat and Lung Diseases, Asthma, Scrofula in every form, and even the Scrofulous affection of the lungs that's called Consumption, in all its earlier stages, it is a positive and complete cure.

It is the only blood-cleanser, strength restorer, and flesh-builder so effective that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back. All medicine dealers have it.

"Now good digestion wait on appetite, And health on both."

To assure both the above ends, good, wholesome, palatable food is demanded. It is next to impossible to present a sufficient variety of appetizing bills of fare for our meals without a liberal allowance of pastry and other food in which shortening is required. How to make crisp, healthful, digestible pastry has puzzled the cook. A difficulty in all good cooking in the past has been lard. Always tickle, never uniform, most unwholesome—lard has always been the bane of the cook and the obstacle to "good digestion."

COTTOLENE

comes now into popular favor as the new shortening—better than even the best of lard with none of lard's objectionable qualities. And comes attended by both "APPETITE AND HEALTH." Grocers sell it all about. REFUSE ALL SUBSTITUTES. Made only by N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., ST. LOUIS and CHICAGO, NEW YORK, BOSTON.
