CARNOT'S ASSASSINATION.

The assassination of the president of France will excite alarm wherever the detestable society of which the cowardly murderer is a member is known to exist, and nowhere is there more reason for concern than here in our own country. The United States has been used by the cities of the old world as a dumping ground for their vicious classes for many years, and many of the most desperate of all anarchists, after being chased from one capital in Europe to another, have finally taken passage for this country. Here they have not only found an asylum, but have met with positive encouragement from the highest executive officers of several of the most important states. More than one-half the labor troubles in various sections of the country have been fomented by these people. The acts of violence and murder which have characterized all the important strikes from and including the Homestead troubles down to the present time, have been invariably perpetrated by this class of foreigners. The most dangerous phase of the situation here consists in the fact that there are a large number of such men who openly parade the influence of their people. While in other civilized countries they have been hunted like wild beasts and forced to flee from the civil authorities here they have been protected and defended by such public functionaries as Waite, Penoyer, Jewelling and Altgel. Under the government as Washington and Jefferson left it these open and confessed revolutionists and disorganizers would have been impeached and thrown out of office long ago, instead of being applauded and sustained in their illegal policies, as they have been, by the votes of native-born citizens. It is to be hoped the assassination of President Carnot may have the effect of arousing our people to a sense of their danger, and rendering the election of such men as those named impossible in future, besides leading to a radical change in the laws relating to immigration.

The immigration question has suddenly assumed a new phase; that is to say, a new feature thereof has been discovered, though the crime charged may have been carried on secretly for months or years past, for all that may be known. The authorities at Ellis Island believe they have discovered a well planned and systematic conspiracy on the part of one of the leading trans-Atlantic steamship lines to evade the immigration laws and assist into this country steerage passengers who would not be allowed to land in the regular way. The company alleged to have offended is the Netherlands-American Steamship Navigation Company. It is charged by the Ellis Island authorities that two Americans who were on their way home on one of the steamers of that company discovered the scheme, which, in brief, is the teaching in classes of the immigrants on the points on which they are questioned by the immigration officials in this country. This instruction is said to consist of a set of questions and answers formulated to evade the provisions of the laws. The ineligible foreigners were required to learn these questions and answers, both in English and their native tongue, which in most cases was German. A congressional committee is now investigating the matter, and it is reported that the two Americans who gave the information to the immigration authorities have made affidavits which will be submitted to the committee, and every effort will be made by the local authorities to see that the company is punished for its wanton violation of the laws governing the duties of carriers of immigrants. The offense is a serious one; the law providing that such offense shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. It is an outrage that any steamship company should be allowed to evade the law in the manner ascribed to this company. It will be a thousand times better for the United States if immigration be stopped entirely for a period of at least a decade, thus allowing the working people now in America to recover from the awful setback they have received for many months past. If the present immigration laws be allowed to stand they will continue to be evaded. There seems to be no possible way in which their spirit can be enforced. There is a growing feeling that only by forbidding all immigration can the American working-man have a chance to attain the position he once held in the field of prosperity. This may be the most practicable and the quickest solution of the labor question in America.

Many a man has "broken out" in a passion, and felt all "broken up," trying to get a new pair of shoes "broken in." He has had to "break off" many an engagement on account of crippled feet, and has gone "broke" many a time trying to get relief for his corns—the direct cause of ill-fitting shoes.

You will find all this obviated by purchasing your footwear at the store of
