CLEVELAND TO WILSON

Deprecates a Departure From Democratic Principles.

TRAINS ARE ALL MOVING.

The Situation Throughout the Entire Country Improving—Brief Telegraphic Dispatches.

Associated Press.

Washington, July 19.—Intense interest was created by Wilson's announcement in the house today that he had a letter from President Cleveland which the latter had permitted to be made public. The letter was read amid profound silence. It is in the president's vigorous style, and was a striking tribute to the Wilson bill. In the letter to Wilson written before the tariff conference, the president said:

"The bill in its present form, falls far short of the consummation for which the party has labored, and our abandonment of the cause and principles upon which it rests, means party perjury or party dishonor. It must be admitted that no tariff measure can accord with Democratic principles, and promise or bear a genuine Democratic badge that does not provide for free raw material. In these circumstances it may well excite our wonder that the Democrats are willing to depart from this most democratic of all principles, and that inconsistent absurdity, such as the proposed departure, should be emphasized by a suggestion that the woolens of the farmer be put on the free list, and protection of tariff taxation be placed around the iron and coal of the corporations and capitalists. How can we face the people after indulging in such outrageous discriminations and violation of principles?"

In reference to the sugar schedule, the president says:

"Under our party platform, and in accordance with our declared party purposes, sugar is the legitimate and logical of revenue. Unfortunate incidents have accompanied certain stages of legislation that aroused in connection with this subject, a national Democratic animosity to the methods of the manipulation of trusts and combinations. I confess to sharing in this feeling, and yet it seems to me we ought, if possible, to sufficiently free ourselves from prejudice to enable us to coolly weigh the considerations, which in forming tariff legislation, ought to guide our treatment of sugar as a taxable article. While no tenderness should be entertained for trusts, and while I am decidedly opposed to granting them, under a guise of tariff taxation, or give any opportunity to further their particular methods, I suggest we ought not to be driven away from the democratic principles and policy which lead to the taxation of sugar by fear, quite likely exaggerated, that in carrying out this principle and policy, we indirectly encourage a combination of the sugar refining interests."

SUPT. FILLMORE SATISFIED.

He Says They Are Running Freight Trains Regularly.

Sacramento, July 19.—General Superintendent Fillmore was asked about the business done by the railroad here today, and replied:

"We sent out from here today 154 cars of freight, of which 37 were fruit cars, eastbound, and the balance mostly freight north and west. We received from the east today, 99 cars of ice. Two east-bound passenger trains went out. All the main line locals in and out of here are running on schedule time. Tomorrow we expect to get out six east-bound freight trains, about half of them being fruit. Some fruit cars will also be sent out on the passenger trains. We will have five or six west-bound freight trains out of Truckee tomorrow. We have sufficient switch men coming on the trains to arrive from Ogden and Portland tomorrow, to fully equip our yard; also additional brakemen and firemen to man all our trains. In some cases where we are putting on new firemen—experienced men, but new to this division, where we use heavy engines—we are putting two firemen on an engine, until they get broken in. This will prevent the necessity of tying up trains on account of over-worked firemen. The Oregon Express will leave San Francisco on tomorrow night, while the fast mail service to the east will be resumed Saturday morning."

"Have you heard the rumors that the strike is to be declared off by the American Railway Union?" asked the reporter.

"Yes," replied Fillmore, "I have heard it intimated that the strike would be declared off within forty-eight hours, but it makes no difference to us. So far as the railroad company is concerned, the strike is off now. We do not care one iota whether they declare it off or not."

DEBS' STAR FADING.

Chicago, July 19.—The Debs manifesto, resulting in the Overton edict warning the railroad men at the stockyards to desist from work or be branded as "scabs," seemed to have little effect. The railroad employes returned to work today as a result. The stockyard company will endeavor to secure protection for its men out of working hours by lodging them in its buildings. The workmen are frequently beaten by strikers.

MGR. SATOLLI'S RULING.

Will Take Effect in Columbus Diocese Only.

Chicago, July 19.—Mgr. Satolli's decision sustaining Bishop Watterson's decree prohibiting saloon-keepers from membership in the Roman Catholic societies, will be received with satisfaction by Catholics generally, and by all interested in the work of temperance, said W. J. Monahan, secretary of the church congress held here during the fair. "It shows how closely Mgr. Satolli is in touch with the moral sentiment of the country, and the growing sentiment against the liquor traffic."

"I think Mgr. Satolli's decision means that he did not want to interfere with Bishop Watterson's affairs in the diocese of Columbus," said P. J. Hennessy, secretary of the whiskey trust. "The ruling has effect only in that diocese."

"Is not the church opposed to the liquor traffic?"

"To the abuse of it, yes."

"If on so much liquor as may be used by drinking men without going to excess were consumed, would the sales fall off greatly?"

"I think not. A few men who drink to excess are always in evidence, and attract attention to themselves, while a vast majority of men who drink moderately are not noticed. I believe the largest proportion of liquor consumed in this country is used by men who drink quietly and moderately, and who do no harm to themselves or any one else."

FLASHES FROM MT. HOOD.

Circular Issued by Receiver O'Neil, of the O. R. and N.

Portland, July 19.—Heliograph signals of the party on Mt. Hood were seen from the Oregonian tower this afternoon. Smoke, however, was not visible. Fire was seen at 11 o'clock tonight, but it is not thought it was burned from the top of the mountain.

REED WAXES WARM

He Sarcastically Denounces Cleveland's Letter.

MR. PERKINS OF ILLINOIS.

Says Cleveland's Letter is Without Precedent in This Country—A Bloody Deed.

Associated Press.

Washington, July 19.—The Democrats of the house today without division of sentiment, so far as surface indications were concerned, and amid a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm, sent the tariff bill back to conference with instructions to the conferees to stand firm against the amendments which the senate had placed upon the bill. A special order was brought in from the committee on rules which limited the debate on a motion to disagree, to two hours, and was worded so as to prevent speeches until after instructions on sugar or any other particular schedule. After the primary debate over the adoption of this resolution, Johnson, of Ohio, a radical free trader, protested against the course of the proceeding, which would give the house no opportunity to give specific instructions on sugar. The debate which occurred on the adoption of the motion instructing the house to insist upon its disagreement, was practically confined to Chairman Wilson on one hand, and ex-Speaker Reed on the other, although a short speech was made by Wheeler, of Alabama, and ex-Speaker Grov, of Pennsylvania, before the vote was taken. The utterances of Mr. Wilson, who was suffering intense pain, and whose head was bound with handkerchiefs that extended to his chin so that he was practically blindfolded, created some intense enthusiasm among his colleagues. Every sentence he uttered in opposition to the concessions which the senate sought to force was applauded to the echo, and the climax was reached when he sent to the clerk's desk and had a letter read from President Cleveland, declaring that the future welfare of the Democratic party depended upon the adherence to the Democratic principle upon which the house bill was framed.

Reed's reply also met with uproarious applause from his political colleagues.

"I take it for granted, Mr. Speaker," he began, "that the gentleman to whom the letter is addressed, and to whom I have just listened, has observed all proprieties which gentlemen ordinarily observe in regard to their correspondence, and that the letter, which is marked 'personal,' having been addressed to him, he has not been guilty in any way of making it public in this fashion without the express consent of the author. Hence we have here the somewhat remarkable spectacle of a message sent by the president of the United States to the house through a faithful committee on ways and means. This seems to be a justly reciprocated action on his part, for the house will recollect the committee on ways and means communicated to this house its intention of having an income tax through the kindness of the president of the United States. (Applause on the Republican side.)

"Whether the relationship thus intimate between the committee of this house and the president were contemplated by the constitution of the United States, is hardly worth the trouble of inquiring in the shape in which the matter stands before the house. Least of all, would anybody on this side find fault with the severe language which the president—the Democratic president—has seen fit to use about the Democratic senate. (Applause.)

"Undoubtedly his personal intercourse with the members of that body and his official relations with them have enabled him to put all the strength of a representative of what the letter contains. But the transaction as it stands today is between him and them. Far be it for us to interfere. He has made a righteous charge, though its character is blackened, and if he has made a false charge, it is for them to see that justice is done, for the truth of history. (Applause.)

"We have no concern in it, except as spectators. The public aspect of this affair, however, shows that the newspaper rumors have had all the truth the newspaper rumors ever have in regard to regulations between this committee of the house and the president, and it is shown very clearly that the committee has had his directions to consent to a sufficient tax upon sugar in consideration of the fact that coal and iron ore shall be brought here free. In other words, the great contest between the true manufacturers of the sugar of this country and that which is a home corporation and the great corporation which is to exploit the mines of Nova Scotia, and enrich by $10,000,000 a set of men who are engaged in that enterprise, the president and committee of this house takes the side of the Boston corporation. (Laughter and applause.)

"Which is best? Let them decide. Which is the most satisfactory to the people? Let the country decide."

A DESPERATE HUSBAND.

Attempts to Kill His Wife, and Is Himself Killed.

North Yakima, July 19.—Justifiable homicide was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury today after inquiring into the circumstances of the death of David Seaman, who was shot last night by George Bosdet, Seaman and his wife had separated on account of the former's brutality, and Mrs. Seaman had taken rooms at a large apartment for which Bosdet is agent. Last night Seaman followed his wife to her room, and after throwing her out of a bed, placed a revolver to her side, saying: "Sally, I'm going to kill you." The woman screamed, and catching hold of the gun struggled frantically for its possession. Alarmed by the outcry, Bosdet entered the room, when he was furiously attacked by Seaman, who is a large and powerful man, and was inflamed by heavy drinking. The struggle continued out into the hall, Bosdet fighting desperately for his life, and covered with blood from blows inflicted by his assailant. He had possession of the gun, however, and at last when he was forced down upon his knees and both had hold of the revolver, a cartridge was exploded and the ball entered Seaman's abdomen. A second shot lodged in his breast coming out under the left arm. Seaman struggled into his room, falling across the bed, and in a few minutes was dead. Bosdet gave himself up. Decided was formerly a deputy sheriff of King county, Wash., under Sheriff Woolery.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Washington, July 19.—When the senate met today, the conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was agreed to.

Voorhees, state manager of the conference on the tariff bill, said he would ask leave to have the bill laid on the table, to be taken up for consideration tomorrow. The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

When the tariff bill had been thus disposed of, the Indian appropriation bill was taken up. An amendment was agreed to directing the secretary of the interior to inquire into the propriety of discontinuing the Indian contract schools as rapidly as possible without interfering with the education of Indian children, and to report at the next session of congress an estimate of the cost of substitution for all contract schools now existing. The bill was then passed.

At 5:40 the senate went into executive session and shortly thereafter adjourned.

CLEVELAND A DESPOT.

Washington, July 19.—From a Republican standpoint, the following view was expressed by Mr. Perkins, of Illinois, member of the ways and means committee: "President Cleveland's letter is without precedent in the history of this country," said he. "The Queen of England, even the Georges, in their most arbitrary days, would not have dared to have expressed such views to a legislative branch of the government."
