

The Babies Bless Them

Keep coming to Astoria because they know it is a good place to grow up in. Their parents come to our store to get all the necessaries to make the baby comfortable: Toilet powder, puffs, brushes, combs, nursing bottles, nipples, etc., because they know we have just what they want. Our stock of infant foods include all the leading brands and we sell some of them for less than they are sold in any other town in Oregon. Our drugs are of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash price.

Quality

Is the first thing to be considered when buying medicine, after that comes the question of price. If you buy of us the first is guaranteed, and the second speaks for itself. Drop in and see for yourself. You are welcome, if only to examine and price goods. Our Saponaceous Tooth Wash is an excellent preparation for cleansing and preserving the teeth and gums, imparting a delightfully refreshing feeling to the mouth and leaving a delicately perturbed breath.

A SUNDAY MURDER

Peter Mattson Killed by a Half-breed at Seaside.
WAS AFTER R. L. EBERMAN.

In a Drunken Frenzy the Murderer Shoots a Bystander Through the Neck.
Yesterday evening about 8 o'clock, John Campo, a half-breed Indian and Mexican, shot and killed Peter Mattson, a rancher, in the Exchange saloon at Seaside, a ball from a 44.75 Winchester rifle striking him in the neck, killing him.

As nearly as can be learned, Campo did not intend that Mattson should be his victim, but either Ed. Alcaraz, clerk in J. H. Johansen's store, or Richard Eberman, proprietor of the Exchange saloon.
It seems that Campo, who was intoxicated yesterday picked a quarrel with Alcaraz, and it is said threatened to knife him. He is known as a quarrelsome man when under the influence of liquor, and they kept out of his way. He insisted on fighting, but was finally taken to a tent by the two men mentioned, and his knife taken away from him. It was thought then that he would sleep off his drunk, but no sooner had they left than Campo slipped out and going to his room secured a rifle and returned to the Exchange saloon.
The door was partially open at the time, a number of people being inside. Campo reeled up to the walk in front of the saloon, and pointing the gun toward someone inside, fired, the bullet passing through the casing and striking Mattson, who was leaning up against the bar, the ball going clear through his neck and killing him instantly. Campo attempted to pump another shell into the barrel, but it caught, and before he had a chance to loosen it, Constable Stanley had him covered with a gun and demanded him to surrender. The half-breed was not too drunk to understand the meaning of the constable's warning demand, for he instantly lowered his rifle and gave himself in charge of the officer, and was soon landed in the town jail.
Inside the saloon all was confusion when the sharp crack of the rifle sounded and poor Mattson fell, his lifeblood making a great stain on the uncarpeted floor. He was immediately picked up and carried to a room in the rear of the building and a physician sent for, but the latter act was unnecessary, as he was dead the moment he struck the floor.
The prisoner was brought to the city this morning by Constable Stanley and lodged in jail. His hearing will take place before Justice Abercrombie tomorrow morning.
Mattson was at one time a saloon-keeper in Upper Astoria, but for the past few years, has lived with his family on a ranch near Seaside.
Campo, the half-breed, has lived around Seaside for a number of years, in the employ of Mrs. S. F. Clayton, on her Elk Creek ranch. When sober he was a peaceable and quiet man, but just the contrary when under the influence of liquor.
There are those who contend that Campo did not fire at Mattson, but that the gun was accidentally discharged.

Gabriel Wingate came up yesterday to witness the regatta, but the weather was too warm and he went back to his ranch on Clatsop Plains last night where company can sit around in their shirt sleeves on the front porch in the very best neighborhood.

PORTIERS MUST HANG FROM RINGS ON POLES.
Fussy hangings and curtains that are too much draped to be moved are happily falling into disuse. A diligent inquiry among the best upholsterers reveals the fact that simple straight hangings depended on rings from poles are considered the best of all. The dust heaps which the folds became have always been open to rebuke, and curtains and portieres that are stationary must always fall of their end. Now that decorators send forth the flat and advise simple things, we may hope for reform and we may look forward to an improvement, of which we stand in sore need.
TWO LIVES SAVED.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill. was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas, 129 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else; then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Chas. Rogers' Drug Store.
FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

THE DAY AT SEASIDE.
The 14th Infantry Band Excursion a Grand Success.
Yesterday morning long before the hour advertised for the Seaside excursion, crowds began to gather on the Telephone dock, some of them there out of curiosity to see the picketers start, but most of them with round trip tickets in their pockets. They were a jolly good-natured crowd that went aboard the steamer, fully 250 in number, and when Young's Bay treatise was reached, it was found that the other steamer had already arrived, with fully as many more, and when all were on board the cars, nine coaches were pretty comfortably filled.
Late on Saturday night a fine drifting fog set in and continued throughout the night. Sunday morning found Astoria under a still heavier fog bank, that made the air rather cool, but far from uncomfortable.
On the way to Seaside, at each of the stations passed, the band greeted the assembled crowds with strains of military music, that caused the on-lookers to cheer the Vancouver boys heartily as the train pulled out.
At Gearhart Park fully 300 people were at the station as the train pulled in. It only stopped a moment, just long enough for Engineer Stoner to fill up the water tank, when they pulled out again for Seaside, the Fourteenth Infantry band playing "Nearer My God to Thee."
But at Seaside a surprise awaited the excursionists, nearly a thousand people being congregated on the platform at that place, when the long train of cars pulled into the station.
Manager Seelye, of the steamer Telephone Company, accompanied the merry party to Seaside, and after the train arrived he was kept busy for a while looking after the comfort of the band. They all had a good time. Many took their lunch baskets along, and when the noon hour arrived, dined under the shade of the trees in Ormeau Grove. The hotels received their share of the guests, and the ice-cream stands were right in it.
At 11 o'clock, the hour for bathing, saw fully two hundred people, men, women and children, sporting in the breakers. A big surf was rolling, and

ON THE SAFE SIDE.

Everybody knows this is a good place to be, but everybody does not take measure to be there. An efficient preventative places us on the safe side of incident disease, and there is no one more reliable than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases where the kidneys are inactive, which is but the preliminary to various destructive maladies, which disregarded have a fatal termination. Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, oedema, are but the outgrowths of neglected inaction of the kidneys and bladder. They should be checked at the outset with Bitters, which will prevent their progress by arousing the renal organs to activity, and thus place those who resort to this saving medicine on the safe side. This preservative of safety also conquers constipation, liver complaint, malarial fever, nervousness and dyspepsia.

All the patent medicines advertised in this paper, together with the choicest perfumery, and toilet articles, etc. can be bought at the lowest prices at J. W. Conn's drug store, opposite Occident Hotel, Astoria.
