

The Babies Bless Them

Keep coming to Astoria because they know it is a good place to grow up in. Their parents come to our store to get all the necessities to make the baby comfortable. Toilet powder, puffs, brushes, combs, nursing bottles, nipples, etc., because they know we have just what they want. Our stock of infant foods include all the leading brands and we sell some of them for less than they are sold in any other town in Oregon. Our drugs are of the first quality and sold at the lowest cash price.

Quality

Is the first thing to be considered when buying medicine; after that comes the question of price. If you buy of us the first is guaranteed, and the second speaks for itself. Drop in and see for yourself. You are welcome, if only to examine and price goods. Our Saponaceous Tooth Wash is an excellent preparation for cleansing and preserving the teeth and gums, imparting a delightful refreshing feeling to the mouth and leaving a delicately perfumed breath.

CHARLES ROGERS, Druggist—Odd Fellows Building.

Parties sending communications for publication in the Astorian will please wherever it is convenient to do so, have them typewritten. It will save a great deal of annoyance if this rule is strictly complied with.

All hands point to Marshall's twine when the question is asked "What is best for fishermen to buy?"

The Highland Home, with a large cargo of wheat from this port, was spoken August 11 in 11 north, 27 west.

A tidal wave of prosperity struck all the fishermen this season who used Marshall's twine for making their nets.

If one will look through the racks next spring, he will find five out of six nets made from Marshall's twine.

Before County Clerk Dunbar yesterday Michael Dooney made final proof on his homestead in section 3, township 7 north, range 8 west.

About a week ago, fire destroyed the Medley school house on the Nehalem. It originated from the burning forest. School was to have started on Monday next.

There is a large stock of clothing, shoes, price dry goods, and underwear being placed in Martin Olsen's auction rooms, and a big sale is on, commencing tomorrow.

The Lord uses the whole space of the universe to advertise his goodness, yet the devil gives one a pretty good idea of his meanness through one man who won't pay for his home paper.

Fishermen of wisdom are quick to take advantage of past experience, and for that reason they are laying in a good supply of Marshall's twine for the making of their next year's nets.

The crop of summer engagements is not up to the average. The cause is attributed to two things—the hard times and the fact that fewer Astorian girls than usual are at the resorts.

Kicking, fuming, raging, and discontent won't do any good for those that did not use Marshall's twine last season in making their nets, but trouble can be obviated next year by using no other.

One can hardly get around in Martin Olsen's auction rooms on account of the large stock of clothing, heavy underwear, boots, shoes and other furnishing goods that are to be auctioned off.

Patting the editor on the back and telling him that he is making a good paper don't help him pay the printer. The best way to prove that you like the paper is to subscribe for it and be sure you pay in advance.

Prints and Relipsa will be the firm name of a new drug store that is to be located at 566 Commercial street. Yesterday the fixtures were being moved into the building and set in place. It will be one of the handsomest places of its kind in the city when finished.

A happy fisherman was he who used Marshall's twine in making his nets last season, as he finds today his bank account larger and his net in better condition than if he had used twine of other makes.

For the benefit of those wishing to attend the firemen's tournament at Oregon City the steamer Telephone will sell on Sunday next tickets to Portland and return for $1.50 round trip. These tickets are good until Sept. 7.

Martin Olsen will sell at his auction room, commencing today, a full stock of hats, clothing, boots, shoes, and underclothes. Hurry up and make your purchases, as the goods will soon be gone.

Visitors wishing to carry home a keepsake from Astoria or Seaside should call at Niemi's Jewelry store and select a piece of the fine china he has in stock decorated with scenery about Tillamook Rock, Gearhart Park and Seaside.

At a special meeting of Astoria Engine company No. 1, held last evening, C. J. Curtis, W. A. Wenig, and Jack Field were elected delegates to the state firemen's convention and tournament which meets at Oregon City next Monday. L. E. Selig, Fred Brown, and F. Bonhart were elected alternates.

The new Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Rupert, built for service at Vancouver, made her trial trip at London last week. She made 13 1-2 knots an hour, and maintained an even speed throughout. Her builders were well satisfied, and express the belief that she will be able to easily go 20 knots an hour. She was launched at Skidmore.

A report that lacks confirmation was circulated on the streets yesterday that a logging camp on Bear Creek had burned from forest fires, and that eight oxen had perished. All the logging implements, together with the camp supplies, are said to have been destroyed. The name of the camp could not be learned, so the article is given for what it is worth.

Since their advent in Astoria, Smith and Ellis, the clever sketch artists have made many friends, both professionally and socially. Tomorrow night they will have a benefit at Stuitt's Theatre, and it is altogether probable that the curtain will go up to a crowded house. Seats are on sale at the New York Novelty Store and Griffin & Reed's, 10 cents apiece, and one to a seat in any part of the house.

French Spy continues to draw good houses. Tonight is the last performance. Your only chance to see it. Saturday Smith and Ellis. The company go to Ilwaco for Saturday night, producing the great play, "Forgiven," and return to Astoria on Sunday, producing Sunday night "East Lynne, or the Elopement." In rehearsal, "The Planter's Wife," "Damon and Pythias," "Hamlet."

At the O. R. and N. bunkers yesterday the Carnedd Llewellyn was discharging sufficient coal to allow her being taken over the shoal places between here and Portland. She will discharge about 200 tons and proceed to her destination about Sunday next. In the stream of Flavel's dock, the Maxwell will be, having her hull cleaned, and the ship otherwise touched up before proceeding up the river.

Along the waterfront there was not much going on yesterday, the river steamers coming and going on their usual time, and the local steamers that make regular trips to adjacent ports doing the average amount of business. There was but little travel toward the seaside resorts, and few passengers arrived on their way home. The tidal wave seems to have subsided somewhat, and now that the final date for its appearance has come and gone it is to be presumed that those who still remain by the sounding sea will rest with more security, and those who hastened home at the first news of Prof. Fald's prediction doubtless wish they were back again.

The Presbyterian Sunday school picnic at Flavel yesterday was a grand success, the large crowd in attendance returning home at 6 o'clock in the evening well pleased with the day's outing. The steamer Dwyer, with a fish boat kindly donated by Mr. E. W. Tallent, in tow, carried nearly 100 people to Flavel. At that point the excursionists proceeded to enjoy themselves at various games, sitting down at the noon hour, to an elegant basket lunch. In the afternoon, through the kindness of the Misses Flavel, four wagons conveyed the picnicers to the Point Adams light-house, where they witnessed the drill of the crew. The life-boat was capsize several times and a line shot over the drill post. There was very little smoke down at the point yesterday, the atmosphere being cool and bracing.

It is worth your while to take a good look at your old jacket. Ask yourself how much the old man'll give for it, then look over the new line of samples for new suits that we have for you to select from. Lake & Selma, 267 Commercial street.

The trade clock indicates that the buyer's hour has come to obtain a watch from our stock at a price that will surprise you. If you have money to spend for a watch don't go any where but to H. Ekstrom, the Jeweler.

All the various medicines advertised in this paper, together with the choicest perfumery, and toilet articles, etc., can be bought at the lowest prices at J. W. Conn's drug store, opposite Occident Hotel, Astoria.

The Astoria hose team will leave tomorrow night for Oregon City to participate in the races. The boys are in fine trim, and will give their opponents a hard struggle.

There will be a grand swimming exhibition of Flavel's dock this afternoon, local swimmers taking a prominent part in the exhibition. They have been practicing for the past week, and several of the boys are now able to jump headlong from the highest pile, and make a graceful dive under the water without holding the nose, an act that is considered hard to execute. At 12:15 Harry Hamblet, of Newberryport, Ill., will do a double forward-and-back pommelault from the high pile on the corner of the dock, a special wager being made between himself and the swimming club for this event. Yesterday there was a large number of the boys practicing in the ship, several of them being experts at diving.

Parties who came in from the Nehalem country yesterday say that the whole valley is on fire, very little of it, however, being in the forests, but mostly clearing fires. Every rancher in that country is taking advantage of the present dry spell and is burning all the brush he can before the full rains set in. In some places parties who have started burnings have carelessly allowed the fire to spread into the forests, and unless a good drizzling rain sets in shortly, there is danger of its spreading and destroying a great deal of valuable timber. Reports from the lower Nehalem are to the effect that but few fires are now burning, and the atmosphere is comparatively free from smoke.

Tomorrow night Smith and Ellis, the premier sketch team of the Pacific Coast, will have their benefit at Stuitt's Theatre. From the manner in which tickets for this occasion are being sold, it is evident that there will not be even a "standing room" by the time the curtain goes up. Those who have already witnessed a performance by these people, know that a theatrical treat is in store for tomorrow night. They will be assisted by Messrs. Spencer, Hansen, Rathmon, and several others of the Astoria Football Club. The murder scene in "Oliver Twist" is an exceedingly thrilling piece, and is produced by these two artists with great effect. The price of admission 1.00 cents to any part of the house, including reserved seats, and tickets are on sale at Griffin & Reed's and the New York Novelty store. When a ticket is secured, checks for reserved seats can be had by applying at the theatre box office.

The large party of Astorians who left here nearly a month ago and went into camp at one of the most picturesque spots on the Nehalem near Jewell, returned yesterday, two four-horse wagons bringing in the "plunder." Every member of the party looks brown and healthy after the outing in the woods, and unite in saying that they had a royal good time from the first day out. There was excellent hunting and fishing, delightful bathing in the Nehalem, and any amount of time to lie about camp, reading and sleeping. The camp was kept well supplied with farm products, the neighbors taking particular pains to see that they wanted for nothing in that line. Coming home they were compelled to pass through several pieces of burning forest, and at one place a fallen tree barred their progress for several hours. Next year they contemplate taking their outing at Elk Creek. The following composed the party: C. W. Fulton and family, G. C. Fulton and family, W. L. Robb and family, F. L. Dunbar and wife, P. A. Stokes and wife, Misses Nora and Nellie Nickerson, H. P. Pradel and family, Geo. C. Flavel and family, Aisey Fox and Fred Pradel.

Our way—and we think it's a good way—is when we are getting to get a plenty. Yesterday we received over 200 bundles of wall paper, from Chicago, and at the prices we have put on it, we do not expect to keep it in stock very long. H. F. ALLEN.

ON THE SAFE SIDE.

Everybody knows this is a good place to be, but everybody does not take measures to be there. An efficient preventive places us on the safe side of incipient disease, and there is no one more reliable than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases where the kidneys are inactive, which is the preliminary to various destructive maladies, which if disregarded have a fatal termination. Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, oedema, are but the outgrowths of neglected function of the kidneys and bladder. They should be checked at the outset with Bitters, which will prevent their progress by arousing the renal organs to activity, and thus place those who resort to this saving medicine on the safe side. This preservative of safety also conquers constipation, liver complaint, malarial fever, nervousness and dyspepsia.

Blue Devils

The business man who says that advertising does not pay does not advertise. He is the one that always doubts the prosperous trade reports he hears of his competitor, who does advertise. He sits in the back of his store, smokes his pipe and wonders why he isn't making any money. He has the blues when he should have trade. He not only lets his neighbor get that neighbor's share of the business, but a good part of his also. He sees people whom he thought old friends of his go into his competitor's store and come out with bundles of goods, when he has the same articles on his shelves, and perhaps at lower prices than they paid his competitor for them. Why is this so? It is because his competitor lets the public know in an intelligent way through the local papers what he has to sell and when he has it. The successful advertiser looks after his advertising space as he does his clerks. He changes his ads. in such a way the people are attracted by them. He feels that to make money he must be willing to spend some; that there is strong competition in all lines of business, and to get his share of the trade he must advertise, and to do it in the most skillful and intelligent way. If he cannot write advertising matter himself, he seeks the aid of some one who has made the writing of advertisements a study—some specialist, who will see that it is properly written in a catchy and displayed way—some one whose duty it is to take off the shoulders of a busy man all the worry of making up an ad. No business man attempts to cure his own sickness, pull his own teeth, make his own clothes or attend to his own law cases. He employs specialists for each of these various services, and saves money by doing it. It is through its language and arrangement that an advertisement gets its business-bringing qualities. There must be something to attract public attention and hold it; something of interest, something out of the ordinary, something that is different from others of the same line of business. To give it these peculiar features requires experience, and the owner of The Astorian has engaged the services of such a specialist for the benefit of its advertising customers who may wish to take advantage of his services. The Evening Star, of Washington, D. C., has an advertisement writer connected with its business department, and its terms to advertisers are, "So much blank space, so much money. The same amount of space, with the assistance of the advertisement writer in getting up ad. attractively, so much additional." The Astorian charges nothing extra, the services of the expert being thrown in.
