

Somekinds

Of ready-made trousers will answer if you can stand in a barrel all day. They're hardly safe to wear about the streets.

Some kinds of ready-made clothing look very well behind plate glass windows, when all pressed up, embellished with bright patterns and millinery bouquets. It never looks as well elsewhere.

The prices on such goods will positively surprise you. It may even sometimes occur that you'll wonder how they are sold so cheap.

We're the apostles of good "honorable" clothing, preaching it all the time, and practicing what we preach.

CHAS. McDONALD, The Tailor, 523 Commercial Street.

A Clothes Brush

That will knock off the dirt without wearing out the cloth is the proper sort. It takes good bristles to make that's so, and they are lighter priced. We have them all cheaper ones. Will you look at them?

Th. OLSEN.

Parties sending communications for publication in the Astorian will please wherever it is convenient to do so, have them typewritten. It will save a great deal of annoyance if this rule is strictly complied with.

Mr. Jensen, the Benton street machinist and inventor, has just perfected a typewriter that far surpasses anything now on the market in the way of cheap machines. It does the work to perfection, and can be profitably sold for $10. It is just the thing for a traveling salesman, and can be carried in an ordinary valise with perfect ease and safety.

Rather a brutal pastime is attaching a small tinwood by the tail to a hook and line, throwing it out into the water and allowing a sea gull to swallow it, hook and all, then pulling it to the wharf, where it is finally turned loose. The "sport" was indulged in by a number of youngsters on Flavel's dock, many of them being old enough to know better.

Our correspondent at Knappa sends an account of the closing exercises of the school at that place, but as a part of the article has been omitted it will be impossible to print it in full. It was a delightful and withal a most successful affair, and reflects great credit on the teacher and his pupils. This is Mr. J. T. Lee's third year in that district, and the directors, to show their appreciation, have elected him to fill the position another year.

The only deeds received so far by any of the banks, for the pipe-line, is that of the Astoria Real Estate Association, composed of Megier & Wright, Wingate and others, and the deed of Mrs. Nancy Welch, the first delivered. Others have signified their willingness to hand over their deeds, but so far they have failed to materialize. Mr. G. Wingate has been selected by the commission to call upon the property owners and secure their deeds, and it is safe to say that they will be forthcoming in short order. There seems to be a misunderstanding regarding the proposed thoroughfare along the route of the pipe-line, as to who will maintain it after once completed by the water commission. It is well to say that the roadway will be accepted by the city after its completion, and then will be subject to the ordinances thereafter passed pertaining to streets and highways within the city limits. This virtually relieves the property owners of any expense in this connection.
