

DIED OF HEART DISEASE.

Neal Knight, of Cannon Beach, Found Dead at Arch Cape.

Last Saturday evening Neal Knight, an old resident of Cannon Beach, was seen passing the residence of Mr. Cloutrie, just south of Arch Cape, evidently on his way to the Austin House, where he has been employed off and on for several years.

Naturally the curiosity of the ladies was aroused, and strolling to the place where the horse remained standing, they were horrified to find the lifeless body of Knight. He was lying on his back and had evidently been dead for hours.

Alex Duncan, of Elk Creek, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon with the news of Mr. Knight's unfortunate death. He stated that Justice Grimes, of Seaside, would go over and hold the inquest, after which the body will probably be interred at Cannon Beach, as it is difficult to get a wagon over the toll road.

SUTTON & BEEBE WON AGAIN. Another Chapter Added to the History of the Haytian Republic.

The steamship Haptian Republic, says the Sun, will now begin a new career. Her existence has been a romantic one, her experience checkered. No marvel, then, that she has been the toy of many.

Sutton & Beebe filed a demurrer and exception through their attorney, to the petition of Wheeler & Price, and after two or three days' fighting, Judge Bellinger yesterday sustained the demurrer of Sutton & Beebe, and rejected the petition of Wheeler & Price.

In giving his decision the judge thoroughly exonerated the marshal, saying that he had performed his duty, and was exempt from all blame or censure which this suit necessarily attributed to him.

MARIE'S REPLY. A Witty Letter From Our Esteemed Correspondent.

Dear Mr. Liman:—Your very complimentary letter in the Astorian of October 30 came to my notice in due season, and was perused with equal pleasure and satisfaction.

Please accept my sincere thanks for your kind words of praise in which you pay a high compliment to my ability as a worker in the field of literature. Perhaps after all my seven years at Vassar were not seven years wasted, for I owe all that I am as a producer in the intellectual field to my education and training at Vassar College.

From the general tone of your letter I take it that you were sincere in your proposition, and that you were prompted by deeper motives than a mere desire to mislead me by flattery, though if you were to attempt such a thing, my experience with that dangerous weapon has hardened me to the extent that I am now, in my own opinion at least, invulnerable.

To express in a few words what you employed many phrases to say, I understand that you desire that a matrimonial alliance be formed between you and me.

Had the proposition been made to me personally, you would have observed my inexpressible emotion, and under such circumstances you would probably have obtained an answer which I might sometime have cause to regret; but as it lies before me in cold, black printer's ink, I can reply in composure of spirit and with the aid of whatever reason I have been able to develop.

honors and blessings at the hymeneal altar, and so far as I know at the present time, there are no obstacles to prevent our early advancement to claim their benefits. But as you told me nothing concerning yourself except your age and weight, I shall ask you to furnish also some information as to your race, color, and previous condition of servitude.

And, indeed, upon further consideration, I deem it no more than right and best for both of us that I should require you to answer the following questions: If we embark together on the stormy seas of life, have you the wherewith to pay our passage?

Shall we be able to go as first-class passengers, or would we be compelled to take steerage?

If I, as you say, handle the rudder, who will be in command?

If our ship prove to be nothing but an old (wash) tub, will you promise to labor over it till the last sheet goes over the board?

If we get into "choppy" seas" with the fires all out, will I be obliged to manipulate the axe?

When we encounter a storm will you stand on the southwest side of me to protect me from its fury?

Will you remain on board at night instead of going off to have a good time with the buoys?

When our ship has become old and unattractive, will you promise to stand by her faithfully till the last plank sinks? Yours hopefully, MARIE TEMPLETON.
