

A SAD ENDING.

The Body of Mr. Crawford, the Minister, Found Near Jewell.

A. J. Gragg, who came in from the Nehalem yesterday, reports the finding of the body of the preacher named Crawford, who lived at Jewell. Two weeks ago Sunday he preached at Jewell and took his boat for his home, which was about a mile above that town, and that was the last seen of him until yesterday morning, when his body was found by Mr. Wm. Foster and others who were hunting for him, about 100 yards from his house. The supposition is that he attempted to get out of his boat at the place where his body was found, and in some manner was capsized. The water at the time he was drowned was somewhat higher than at present, as when discovered he was but a few inches under the surface of the water, and standing in an upright position. Both hands were in a death grasp about a bunch of willows, and from indications it would appear that he struggled hard for life, the small bunches probably giving way at each attempt made to climb up the bank.

The remains were laid away last evening in the cemetery at Jewell, by friends and neighbors. The deceased leaves a brother in Canada, who has been notified of his sad fate.

Mr. Crawford was a man who was well liked by all who knew him, having been a resident of the Nehalem Valley near Jewell for the past six years. He leaves no family.

THE NOVEMBER FORUM.

The November Forum opens with an article on "The Political Career and Character of David B. Hill," by an anonymous "Independent" writer who tells for the first time with fulness of detail Senator Hill's whole career. The judgment of him is that his success rests wholly on an artificial basis, and that it has been built up on the most disreputable elements of political society. The writer contends that Senator Hill's prominence in the Democratic party is the worst possible augury for the party—a measure, indeed of the party's danger. It is a notable political article. Another political article "William L. Wilson as a tariff reform leader," by Mr. Henry L. Nelson, who points out Mr. Wilson's characteristics and qualities and traces his career as a leader of the low-tariff wing of the Democratic party from the days of the Randall faction.

In other respects the November Forum shows its timeliness. John W. Chadwick has an impressive essay on Oliver Wendell Holmes; and Montgomery Schuyler has an exceedingly interesting article on our greatest landscape painter, "George Inness: the Man and His Work"—full of personal reminiscences and telling incidentally the whole story of the growth of American art.

There are in the November Forum four notable articles embodying the results of special investigation into important and opportune topics. One is a remarkably clear and compact argument by ex-Senator George E. Edmunds, perhaps our foremost constitutional authority, on "Should United States Senators be Elected by the People?" to show that in spite of the present outcry the method adopted by the fathers is better than any method that has been proposed. Ex-Senator Edmunds shows how large a proportion of men who have been members of the senate have been first members of the house—in other words, men who had shown that they were really the popular choice.

A few months ago the Rev. William Bayard Hale, an Episcopal clergyman of Middleboro, Mass., pointed out in the Forum the somewhat startling religious conditions of this old New England town. In the November Forum Mr. Hale makes an analysis—the result of original investigation for the Forum—of the "Impotence of the Churches in Fall River, Massachusetts, a Typical Manufacturing Town," which presents a lamentable moral state, due in a great measure to the divided forces of the churches. This is a first-hand, direct, and impartial revelation of the actual working of organized Christianity that is hardly less than appalling.

COMMUNICATED.

Astoria, Or., Nov. 12, 1894.

Editor Astorian:

It was stated in the Methodist church last evening by Dr. Bushong, that there are nine gambling houses now running in this city contrary to law, and that he not only had their names, and where situated, but the names of those that visited them, all of which is contrary to ordinance No. 1784, which not only makes those who run the houses and the players, but all persons seen going in or out of them liable to prosecution and punishment, and also makes it imperative upon the police power to see that said ordinance is enforced, and if such statements are made by Dr. Bushong in his pulpit are true, I, as a citizen and taxpayer, would like to ask why the law is not enforced? And why Dr. Bushong does not give the names of the violators and lay them before the public and demand of our council for an investigation of our police power as was done in New York and is now being done in Portland, as they, the council, are morally and legally responsible to the people of this city for the law and enforcement thereof. While they may not have the power to remove the chief or members of the police force, they can refuse their pay for non-performance of their duties.

Or are the statements made by Dr. Bushong based upon a few facts and furnished by some attorney merely for the purpose of creating a stir in hopes of his being able to obtain a good fee from the gamblers, or in hopes of some future political preferment?

If the laws are not being enforced against the saloons that permit and run gambling games, why not punish those whose duty it is to see that the laws are enforced, as the law is all right and public opinion is likewise, as the only ones that were presented under the law they were convicted by the jury, and the violators were punished by a fine, which was over a year ago, and nothing since but monthly arrests and forfeiture of nominal bail as reported.

A GOOD ANSWER.

"You must make a pretty good hammer by this time, Mr. B.," said a man to the proprietor of a factory he had just visited.

"I never make a pretty good hammer, sir," replied Mr. B. "I make the best 'hammer' manufactured in the United States."

This can be said with equal truth of Marshall's twine, sold by ELMORE, SANBORN & CO.

"A TALENTED EDITOR."

Gentlemen:—I had occasion to use several boxes of Krause's Headache-Capsules while traveling to Chicago to attend the National Democratic Convention. They acted like a charm in preventing headaches and dizziness. Have had very little headache since my return, which is remarkable.
