Astoria, Or., Oct. 5, 1894. SAM'L ELMORE, Proprietor.

The wife of Li Hung Chang is about fifty-five years of age and comes of a distinguished Manchurian family. The following story is told to explain her kindness to foreign physicians: Some years ago she was taken very sick with a complication of diseases, and after being treated several months by the leading physicians of the capital, was given up by them to die.

Prof. Heinrich Geffcken, writing in the "Nineteenth Century," says that Germany has a war treasure of $30,000,000 in coined gold lying in the Julius Towed of Spandau, a much larger sum than Caesar deposited and Mark Antony extricated from the temple of Ops.

The young Czar has, as a matter of course, to say at the funeral of his father that he will walk in his footsteps; but he will do well to get away from their line of an angle not so acute as to be imperceptible.

It is understood that Mr. George Flavel will, in case the railroad contract is signed, provide handsome new quarters for the Athletic Club. The right-of-way cuts the present quarters through the center of the building; thus a change would be necessary.

Would it, or would it not pay the city to purchase olefins and boots and keep the city prisoners out on the streets these rainy days? It is a soft snap to be allowed to remain inside the jail on rainy days.

Astoria should follow Victoria's example and build a marine railway. They are much less expensive than a drydock, and are just as serviceable.

The New York World magnanimously admits that it is indebted to the voters of New York City for their aid in the great work of downing Tammany.

Gov. Waite threatens to move to Illinois. He ought to have no difficulty in collecting travelling expenses from the people of Colorado.

One Republican congressman in Texas and one Democratic congressman in Pennsylvania. Thus does politics maintain the equilibrium.

OF INTEREST TO MARINERS. An Answer to Captain Merry's Letter on Coastwise Navigation.

In a recent issue of the San Francisco Commercial News, Capt. Merry had a very interesting letter relating to coastwise navigation. It was re-printed in last Saturday's issue of the Astorian. The following is an answer to the letter from the pen of Captain D. Buchanan, and is copied from the same publication: "Permit me through the aid of your valuable paper to supplement with a few facts Captain Merry's letter in your issue of November 12th on the navigation of coastwise steamships.

Prof. Heinrich Geffcken, writing in the "Nineteenth Century," says that Germany has a war treasure of $30,000,000 in coined gold lying in the Julius Towed of Spandau, a much larger sum than Caesar deposited and Mark Antony extricated from the temple of Ops.

The young Czar has, as a matter of course, to say at the funeral of his father that he will walk in his footsteps; but he will do well to get away from their line of an angle not so acute as to be imperceptible.

It is understood that Mr. George Flavel will, in case the railroad cones steered on this coast trend nearly north and south, it becomes imperatively necessary for the ship-master to watch the amount of heel closely. This is not written in any captions of critical vein, nor is it meant to disparage Captain Merry's well-meant letter, but one ounce of practical knowledge is worth a pound of theories.
