SUPERIOR TO ALL.

Smith Business College, Meadville, Pa., August 3, 1894. General Agents Franklin Typewriter:—Gentlemen: We are pleased to say that we are well acquainted with nearly all of the standard and first class typewriters, having used the Calligraph, Remington, Smith-Premier, and others, and we do not hesitate to say that we like the Franklin much better than any that we have ever used.

The points of superiority of this machine over all others we have used, are too numerous to mention, and we can safely say that if any business man will give this machine a fair trial, he will use no other.

Very Respectfully,
SMITH & CAMPBELL.

COMMUNICATED.

Rev. Thos. P. Boyd will deliver a series of revival meetings in the First Methodist church of this city on the 25th inst.

Rev. Mr. Boyd is a young man of superior ability in this line of Christian work. Wherever he has been working his success has been phenomenal. He is a good singer, and of mild, pleasing address, calculated to win the unsaved to his Master. Mr. Boyd will sing a solo at the close of the sermon on Sabbath at 11 o'clock a.m. While these services will be held in the Methodist church and conducted by Mr. Boyd, yet it is distinctly understood that all evangelical churches of the city are cordially invited to join them. In a grand crusade against the kingdom of Satan, and do what they can to rescue the perishing and save the dying. It is hoped and expected that these meetings will prove a great benediction to the city of Astoria. The chief object of these meetings will not be to secure church members, so much as it will be to get the people saved. All classes are cordially invited to attend.

WHAT IS IT?

There have been strange and peculiar words floating in the air between some of our young society people during the past week or two. Enquiry has failed to explain what this mysterious something is which is going to happen. They tell us, early in January, and it is being conducted under the direction and patronage of Mrs. Elmore, assisted by Mrs. H. T. Crosby. A large number of our young people are responsible for this exciting curiosity, and we shall expect to be well repaid for waiting so long for its gratification.

CLIPPINGS.

Sad fate of an election better: I think I'll open a general store—now since the election's done; I bet Bill Jones a beaver hat on Hill, an'—Bill Jones won! I bet Jim Brown a pair of shoes—I didn't dream I'd lose—That New York's vote would be—oh, well! Jim Brown, he got the shoes! Tom Spinks—he came and hit me for a spunkin' pair o' boots; Bill Jenkins an' Dick Spurlin, fer two twenty-dollar suits! I'll tell you, this here land-slide's been enough to strike me dumb; I'm goin' to open a general store, an' pay off as they come!

—Atlanta Constitution.
An English judge the other day dismissed an indictment against a pick-pocket who had thrust his hand in a man's empty pocket, on the ground that as there was nothing to steal, no offense was committed. If an American judge had done such a thing, the Saturday Review would have made it the text of an able article showing that the great American Republic is a failure.

Bishop Wilmer, of Louisiana, once had a talk with a Baptist minister who insisted that there were several places in the Bible where immersion was unquestionably referred to. "Yes," replied the bishop, "I recall two such instances, where there can be no doubt as to the mode: one is where Pharaoh and his host were immersed in the sea, and the other where the Gadarene pigs were drowned in the deep."—Philadelphia Press.

Although the editor of a religious paper has a week in which to fix up his matter, he occasionally makes mistakes quite as bad as those made by daily papers. Here, for instance, is the Catholic Review, referring to the "Evangelist," the well-known Presbyterian organ of this city, edited by the Rev. Dr. H. M. Field; as a "High Church Episcopalian paper."

Nem. Con.—Sympathetic Friend—Hello, Jagger! It's too bad, old boy, that you got snowed under so badly last Tuesday.

Jagger (ex-candidate)—I don't see anything to feel bad about. I was nominated by acclamation, and defeated unanimously.—Chicago Tribune.

Nothing is taxed except dogs in the German town of Orb, in the Spessart Mountains. The town has a population of 3,300, and the municipal expenses are defrayed by the public saline baths, forests, and a fund of $600,000.

I was in the saloon of a steamer on the west coast of Scotland last Christmas holidays, and there fell into conversation with a melancholy man, a brother Scot, sentimental like the race, and also, as presently appeared, lamentably drunk. "It's a sair world, this," said he. I said I thought there wasn't much the matter with the world, as far as I knew it. "Aye, wae," he said, "but ye ken I'm a plumber." I consoled with him, though secretly glad to hear that that perverse and evil race were thus afflicted. "And what's your trade?" he asked. I said I was a schoolmaster. "Gie's yer hand," said he; "I'm fu' o' seampathy; we balth belong tae a pair, despised calling."—London Spectator.

This is to certify that I have used Krause's Headache Capsules periodically for over a year, and have very much pleasure in stating that they have always proved very beneficial and have relieved me in from ten to fifteen minutes. I have been a sufferer from headache for many years, and have never found anything to do me as much good as Krause's Headache Capsules.

Gentlemen:—I had occasion to use several boxes of Krause's Headache Capsules while traveling to Chicago to attend the National Democratic Convention. They acted like a charm in preventing headaches and dizziness. Have had very little headache since my return, which is remarkable.

THREE REASONS WHY.

The Prints-Crain Drug Co. are coming to the front and outstripping their rivals:

1. Messrs. Prints and Crain are both thorough druggists, each having had nearly twenty years' experience in the business, and have the confidence of both the physicians and the public.
2. They are always pleasant and obliging to every one who enters their store, whether they wish to buy anything or not.
3. They have no clerk hire to pay, their rent is reasonable, and their experience in the wholesale department enables them to buy goods in a way that they can compete with the best of them on prices. Give them a call and you will be convinced that the above is true.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD WARD.

My political opponents have circulated rumors to the effect that if elected I will oppose the contemplated improvement of the alleyway through blocks 2, 3, and 4, Adair's Astoria. I hereby stamp such reports as false and pledge all honorable support to said improvement, believing same to be for the welfare of the city.
