The steamers Hassalo and Emma Hayward came down yesterday to tow up the ships Romhrie and British Yeman. They will wait until the weather moderates before starting up the river.

Parties wishing a fine box of bon bon candies, should go to C. B. Smith's, where they can always find the largest assortment of fine candies in the city. Fresh candies manufactured daily. 483 Commercial street.

Seems hard to believe that The Office could in so short a time build up such a trade on Hope Whiskey. But ice looks solid enough the instant before it breaks. Once use Hope whiskey, you'll have no other.

Didn't Noe & Scully tell you that Old Probabilities would soon send people looking about their place for stoves? And if you haven't got yours yet, wouldn't it be best, knowing December as you do, to get it now?

Foard & Stokes Co. have secured the agency of the famous STEWART'S TWINES, the only GENUINE FLAX TWINE manufactured in IRELAND. Their new stock goods are much superior to any other kind.

Mr. Frank Green received a telegram yesterday stating that his brother, J. Henry Green, had died from injuries received in a railroad accident near Los Angeles, a day or two ago. He was engineer. He leaves a wife and three children.

A good part of the jewelry store of R. S. Norris will be given over to watches this week, as he intends having a special sale of this class of goods. A good reliable watch is a joy forever, and you should select one from this stock at once.

The Astorian has adopted for the recording of all its daily business transactions of whatever nature, a "National Cash Register Company's Autograph register," which is as much a necessity about any business office as a safe or a copying press. It should be seen to be appreciated.

Harry Allen, son of A. V. Allen, entertained a number of his friends Friday evening at the home of his parents. Games were indulged in until time for going home, and when the little gentleman's guests finally took their departure they expressed themselves as having passed a most pleasant evening.

The wind played havoc throughout the city yesterday and many persons who were bold enough to venture out of doors are now mourning the loss of an umbrella or various articles of wearing apparel. Hats went scudding down the street before gusts of wind, and at times it seemed almost impossible for one to keep one's feet. On the waterfront vessels were securely moored to their docks in places of shelter, and only those that were compelled to go out, were seen moving about.

The upper river boats coming in yesterday afternoon report that the force of the gale blowing on the coast was not felt above Tongue Point to any great extent. Crossing the bay on the way down they felt the full force of the wind, and when they reached their respective wharves they had considerable difficulty in landing, as the wind blew them off their docks, threatening every moment to break their hawsers. No accident of any kind was reported, however, and they left up the river at the usual time last night.

THE UNFORTUNATE KENTMERE. She Goes Onto the Sands at the Head of Sand Island Yesterday Morning. A Sixty-five Mile Gale Blowing off the Bar Makes Things Decidedly Unpleasant Around the Strand-Ed Ship.

Early yesterday morning word came up from the Cape that the four-masted ship Kentmere had dragged her anchor and gone onto the sands about 1,000 yards east of Sand Islands. The Escort had already gone down to the bar, and as soon as the news was received of the Kentmere's difficulty, the Relief hurried to the scene. It seems that early in the morning a heavy gale from the south sprung up, and soon the ship began to drag her anchor.

During the afternoon the steamer Ilwaco landed the Fort Canby life saving crew on Sand Island, and it was arranged that if at any time during the night the ship should need a tug, rockets would be fired as a signal. The Point Adams crew were over during the afternoon, but returned to their station before daylight.

A gentleman who seemed well acquainted with the situation, having just come up from the Kentmere, said to an Astorian reporter last evening: "The Kentmere under certain conditions is in a very bad place. If the weather moderates, no danger is apprehended, but if the gale continues for a day or two, the sand will probably pile up outside of her, thus leaving her in a regular hole. When the gale struck her yesterday morning, she began to drag her anchor, and 80 fathoms of chain was run out. She continued to drag and the other anchor was let go, but it seemed to have not the slightest effect, for the big vessel drifted nearly two and one-half miles bringing up at the head of Sand Island. The breeze was blowing fully 35 miles an hour at the time the tugs reached her."

The general impression is that the Kentmerts will have to be lightered fully 600 tons before she can be moved, after which a survey will be made of her hull before going to sea. The tugs will go down again this morning and if possible pull the ship out into deep water.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

On Wednesday afternoon the Rev. and Mrs. V. F. Partch arrived in our city. They have been missionaries of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions at Ningpo, China, for four years. Driven home by ill health, after a vacation they were at Vancouver, B. C., on their return to their foreign work, when a telegram from the board in New York instructed them to delay their departure on account of the war between China and Japan, and in the interim to take up mission work among the Chinese on this coast.

After a conference with Rev. W. S. Holt, of Portland, superintendent of the work among the Chinese in Oregon and Washington, it was decided that they come to Astoria.

On Thursday afternoon Rev. and Mrs. Partch were escorted by Mr. and Mrs. Liddell to a suit of rooms on 10th street selected and neatly furnished by the Woman's Missionary Society. At the rooms they were met by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. Miss E. C. Warren, in the name of the society, in a pleasant speech, welcomed the missionaries to Astoria, and after expressing to them the interest of the Presbyterian church in their work, presented them the keys to the rooms.

Mr. Partch will preach in the Presbyterian church this morning at 11, and this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

RESCUE CLUB.

A good audience greeted the Rescue Club entertainment last night, notwithstanding the inclement weather. President Wright was in the chair and Miss Frankie Holden at the piano. An excellent program was rendered. It was election night, and the following officers were chosen: President, Dr. O. B. Estes, who was unanimously chosen.

Vice-President, W. I. Crawford. Chaplain, Rev. Robert Liddell. Pianist, Miss Nellie Busey. Secretary and treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Parker.

The treasurer's report was read for the last term, and shows a good condition financially. The secretary reported sixty-four signers to the pledge during the term. The committee appointed on program for next week is: Freeman Parker, Miss Florence Ross, and Mr. Lester Busey.
