

Is there A man

With soul so dead that he isn't willing to save a dollar or two on his clothes and buy them at home? We believe not. We believe that the only reason we haven't five times more business in men's suits is simply because enough men have not inspected our lines. Once a looker, always a buyer. We certainly would like you men to look at the grand suits we sell as $25.

CHAS. McDONALD, The Tailor, 323 Commercial Street.

THE BEST

Goods to get for the money—are what we sell. We have the best reasons to attend to business courteously and strictly. We only have the Hope brand of whiskey, and are selling more of it every day. Its goodness and our customary business methods answer to make it well known.

THE OFFICE.

THANKSGIVING BALL

Wednesday Evening, Nov. 28, At Fisher's Hall.

Given by COURT ASTORIA No. 8212 A. O. F. of A. Come and Enjoy Yourself. Tickets $1.00. Ladies Free.

An Illinois Town

Ten years ago had only one cigar factory employing five hands. It also had a young men's business association whose work was to boom the town. One of the things the association recommended was for smokers to smoke their town's cigars, talk their town's cigars, and agree to smoke none other. The result is, that today that town has 8,000 population, 1,000 of whom work in cigar factories. W. F. Scheibe manufactures the LA BELLE ASTORIA, and if the smokers of this city would be loyal to their town and follow the example set by these people of Illinois, it might prove as profitable an investment as the encouragement of a railroad.

The British four-masted ship Principality, 1638 tons register, 78 days from Rio Janeiro, arrived in yesterday in ballast. She arrived at the light-ship Friday night, and was there during the hard blow on Saturday. Sunday she sailed in to Fort Stevens and was towed from there by the Escort. She left up last evening.

The British ship Olmara, arrived in yesterday afternoon from Rio Janeiro. She is a vessel of 1,553 tons register, and has 500 tons of ballast. She is 20 days from Honolulu. Captain Brown says that while at Rio Janeiro, during the late rebellion, he lost six men by yellow fever. The Olmara went to Australia from Brazil, and thence to this port via Honolulu.

Mr. George Wright will feed wheat to 18,000 sheep at Olex this winter. He will feed them four months the same as they do at the feed yards near Chicago, and can do the same in Gilliam county on 15 cent wheat at one-third of the cost. When fat he will ship the sheep to Chicago and Victoria, B. C., and he thinks if he does not make a good thing out of the sheep that fatten their sheep on 50 cent wheat near Chicago had better go out of the business.

At a meeting of the board of delegates of the Astoria Fire Department last night, the office of first assistant chief was declared vacant, on account of certain members of the board alleging that Mr. C. H. Stockton had failed to qualify. Second Assistant Stewart was promoted to first assistant, and Lars Larsen elected second assistant. Mr. Stockton declares that he did qualify, and that the action of the board is illegal, and that he will continue to hold the office. At the meeting being called to order at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30, the usual hour. Majority and minority reports were read in regard to the actions of C. H. Stockton in relation to the loss of the fire department records in charge of Foster as secretary at the time of their loss, the former being accepted and the latter being laid on the table.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

While Looking for the Kentmere's Lost Anchor Two Men Are Injured.

Yesterday morning, taking advantage of the extreme high tide the four-masted British ship Kentmere, which went into a bed of soft mud during the gale Saturday morning, slipped her only remaining anchor and sailed out into deep water where the Relief picked her up and brought her to a point opposite Flavel's dock. The tug returned and began a search for the 90 fathoms of chain and anchor attached, resulting in soon picking it up. About 30 fathoms had been hauled onto the tug when a stop, arranged in the lights to hold the chain while a new holt from the windlass was taken, being carried away, allowed the chain to run out at lightning speed.

Captain Cordeir, of the pilot schooner San Jose, was standing near the flying chain, and had his left leg badly bruised, while a deck hand named Thomas, who was standing directly in the sight of the chain, had his left leg below the knee badly mangled. The limb was broken in two places, causing the bones to protrude from the flesh in a ghastly manner. As soon as steam could bring the Relief back to port, she arrived with the injured men, who were at once conveyed to the hospital. Thomas' injuries are so serious that it is feared the mangled member will have to be amputated.

A week or so ago, says Fairplay of November 2d, when the American ship Southern Cross was due to leave the new deep-water pier, Red Lion wharf, Northfleet, a considerable number of pilots assembled to witness the unusual occurrence of a ship leaving a pier-leading berth at low water. But the vessel's crew, who were expected from London were not forthcoming, and it appeared as though the ship would be hung up from this cause. Seeing the captain's difficulty, the pilots one and all volunteered to man the vessel and take her down to the Gravesend buoys. The master at first regarded this as a joke, but the pilots tumbled aboard, and got the vessel unmoored, and took her to the buoys—creating much excitement and chaff amongst their friends on the inward and outward bound vessels on the river. This case of a ship being manned by pilots is probably a record one.

The Chinese passed through the socialistic period nearly 1,000 years ago, and the "greenback" money period less than 400 years later. One Chinese ruler through the medium of a committee of 11,000 persons, during the 14th century, digested all the literature of the day and reduced it into 22,794 volumes, to which a postscript of 10,700 volumes was added later. Another ruler produced 100 volumes on materia medica, 66 on philosophy, and encyclopedia of 40 volumes and a dictionary containing 45,000 characters.

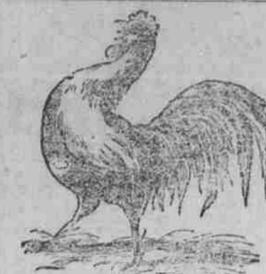

Postmaster Johansen writes the Astorian that he "did not report" the city of Seattle as being in a flourishing condition, as mentioned in Saturday's Astorian. In saying that Seattle was flourishing, Mr. Johansen states that it falsely represents things there. In justice to that gentleman it is well to mention that the Astorian got the news, it thought, second hand from the Seattle postmaster, and gladly took advantage of an opportunity to say a good word for the village by the rolling surf. On second thought it does seem rather inconsistent to hear of a deserted summer resort being filled with commercial life at this season of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hart, of Pipestone, Minn., are in the city registered as the Occident. Mr. Hart is editor of the Daily Star at Pipestone, and together with his wife is making a tour of the Pacific Coast states. He only intended remaining in Astoria one day, but meeting several old Minnesota friends here, was persuaded to stay over another day and visit the jetty at the mouth of the river. Mr. Hart, during his travels, is writing a number of interesting letters descriptive of the country through which he passes, and sending them home for publication.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will be at their rooms in Rescue Hall on Wednesday, the 28th inst., to receive Thanksgiving donations for the poor. All persons who have clothing, food, or money to donate will please leave them at the hall and the ladies will distribute them where they are most needed. The Union has been helping several destitute families, and any who know of worthy poor, will please report to the Union. The collection at the Thanksgiving service will also be given into their hands to be used for the poor of our own city, and we hope to make this a happy Thanksgiving for all. For is it not more blessed to give than to receive?

Last evening about 5 o'clock the 10-year-old son of Mr. Chris Carlson, while playing on the roadway near Fisher's Hall, accidentally fell to the rocks below, a distance of about 12 feet. His head struck a boulder with terrific force, fracturing the skull and rendering the little fellow insensible. He was carried to his home a short distance away, and Dr. J. A. Fulton summoned. The injured boy was made as comfortable as possible, but at present the extent of his injuries cannot be ascertained.

Since the German-owned auxiliary screw ship Marie Rickmers was lost, the France is the largest sailing vessel afloat. She was built in 1890, and registers 274 tons gross. The five-masted steel ship that a German firm is now having constructed at Bremerhaven will be five feet longer than the France, three inches greater beam, and one and a half feet more depth. Her dimensions will be: Length, 285 feet; beam, 50 feet; depth, 31 1-2 feet; gross tonnage, 1,593.

Mr. H. Beckwith and Mr. Mercer who have been in Astoria several days looking over the affairs of the Pacific Express, returned to Portland on the Potter last night.

Astoria is the largest town in the United States without a railroad, and if she is not careful will be the only Oregon town without a chrysanthemum show.

Eugene Chamberlain, chief of the bureau of navigation, has made his public report, which shows that on the 20th of June, 1894, the documented merchant marines of the United States comprised 23,586 vessels of 4,544,204 gross tons. The geographical distribution shows: Atlantic and Gulf coast, 17,463 vessels, 2,712,944 gross tons; Pacific coast, 1,529 vessels, 455,259 tons; Northern lakes, 3,341 vessels, 1,227,401 tons; Western rivers, 1,257 vessels, 287,325 tons; cod and mackerel fisheries, 1,696 vessels, 71,573 tons. During the decade wooden vessels have increased 50,000 tons each in New York, California and Michigan. The total tonnage on the great lakes has increased 500,000 during the last decade, or nearly doubled. Iron and steel steam tonnage on the Lakes has increased from 27,000 tons in 1855 to 250,000 tons in 1894. The total tonnage of the Pacific Coast has increased 35 per cent during the decade. The tonnage of all descriptions of San Francisco port is 307,235; Cleveland, 234,744; Huron, (Mich.) 171,029; Detroit, 161,846; St. Louis, 122,746; Milwaukee, 93,757.
