

You Meet Men

Every day wearing suits made by McDonald, the tailor. No doubt you have observed a slight diversion in the style, make, and finish of these suits. Yet each one of them is right in touch with the times, and has the genuine stamp of true elegance.

CHAS. McDONALD, The Tailor, 323 Commercial Street.

A RUN

Of business from early morning till late at night is the history of this place since people have got to find out the merits of our Hope Whiskey. "How can you give such goods for the price of an average drink of whiskey?" and similar questions are frequently asked during the day, and our answer is that we want all the trade in town on good goods, at a fair profit, and we expect that such quality of liquor as Hope Whiskey will bring it to us.

Ten years ago had only one cigar factory employing five hands. It also had a young men's business association whose work was to boom the town. One of the things the association recommended was for smokers to smoke their town's cigars, talk their town's cigars, and agree to smoke none other.

The Southern Oregon man who set the bear trap and then forgot all about it, and walked into it, looked down and smiled sympathetically as he saw those gentlemen accept the position of prize awarders, for the Ladies' Chrysanthemum show now being held at Ashland.

Mr. Thomas, the deck hand who was injured on the Relief Monday, is still suffering greatly from his badly mangled leg. It is very doubtful, so the attending physicians think, of their being able to save the injured member. Parties who witnessed the accident say that he showed wonderful nerve, never once uttering a groan as he lay on the deck bleeding profusely from his wounds. The accident, as nearly as can be ascertained, was unavoidable, and might have happened at any time.

Mr. Wm. Hartell, of the Lewis and Clarke, was in the city yesterday, and reports that Olsen Brothers have a logging camp on that river, above the canyon, about six miles from tide-water. They are in a magnificent spruce timber belt, on land belonging to M. J. Kinney. At present they have an immense number of logs in the stream, and probably the heavy rains of the past week will have raised the water high enough to float them down. It has been rather an experiment, so far, and if the winter's rains carry away their logs, it will be a complete success.

The manager of the Astorian is in receipt of a letter from Mr. O. W. Crawford, of Chicago, who is secretary of the National Real Estate Association, in which he states that he would like to have more information about Astoria than he has been able to obtain in his city. He says that he is becoming greatly interested in Astoria's future. Mr. Crawford has a national reputation as a builder of towns, being the party who took charge of advertising the city of Houston, Texas, in the fall of 1892, and in seven months had $1,400,000 outside capital invested in that city in real estate and new enterprises.

Last evening about 4 o'clock, the second officer of the Kentmere, noticing the ship's boat flooding down stream with the rapidly ebbing tide, quickly pulled off his coat and sprang head foremost into the water. He is an expert swimmer, and with a few skillful strokes was soon alongside the boat. Grasping the gunwale, he attempted to lift himself up, but found that he had been so chilled by the water that his strength was almost gone. The tide carried him close in to where the British ship Procyon was lying, and calling loudly for help, he soon attracted some of the sailors who threw him a line, and with some difficulty drew him on board. He saved his boat, but nearly lost his life in the attempt.

The years may come and the years may go, but Ashland is just as tickled today over the novelty of a new photograph gallery as she was two years ago.

O. R. & N. OFFICIALS.

Several Arrive Yesterday and Make Important Changes in Local Arrangements.

The River Service Between Astoria and Portland to be Greatly Improved.

Mr. T. W. Lee, assistant to Receiver McNeill, of the O. R. and N. Co., Mr. B. Campbell, General freight agent, W. H. Harburt, general passenger agent, and W. E. Coman, travelling freight agent, arrived in the city yesterday morning on the steamer Thompson. They repaired to the Occident at the noon hour, after a long consultation with Agent Lounsbury regarding the company's affairs in this city. It was rumored about the city shortly after noon that the party were here for the purpose of arranging for an office up town, nearer the business center of the city, and that a dock had been leased not far from where the steamer Telephone now lands, and that in future the Potter and Thompson would arrive and leave from that place instead of the company's wharf. An Astorian representative called upon Mr. Lee, and in answer to the question regarding the prevailing rumors, said: "It is quite true that the O. R. and N. Co. will in future conduct an up-town office, for the benefit of the public, but it will make no change in the office now in operation. We are here in the interests of our company, to meet your citizens and business men, and arrange our service so that it will be most convenient for the public and benefit to ourselves.

"We want the people of Astoria to feel that the O. R. and N. Co. are practically a part of them, that we are to do business with them as a home institution, and I think that when it is known that we are spending a great deal of money in improving our boats, and arranging our service so that the public will be directly benefited thereby, the Astoria people will see that we are sincere. The Potter will be greatly improved with new and handsome carpets and the staterooms re-fitted with new and improved mattresses. The Thompson will be fitted out with a new electric light plant, and the boat placed in first class condition. Both steamers will have new chime whistles, a feature that at least is very pleasing to the ear.

"I am confident that there is money to be made on the Astoria run, if the public can be made to understand that we are looking out for their interests as well as taking care of our own, and it will be no fault of ours if there is not general satisfaction given all along the line. We have no quarrel with any of our competitors, and come to see you as a free and independent company, and will work out our failure or success on that line. "There are many improvements that we intend to make, especially in view of next summer's seaside traffic, and which we cannot give you just now for publication, but one thing certain, the company as well as its boats will not be found bringing up the rear of the procession on any occasion. "Regarding the lease of a dock further up town, I can say that we tried to obtain a wharf nearer the central portion of the city, but found it impossible to make any arrangements. We recognize that many people, in taking the night boat to Portland, wish to purchase their tickets and stateroom early in the day, and that an up town office will be of great convenience to them, hence our move in that direction. All we ask is for the public to give us a trial, and we feel sure they will not be disappointed in the result."

The Harvest Queen was brought down yesterday and held here over night for the purpose of conveying the party to various points up the river. They leave this morning and will call at all the towns between this city and Portland, and get acquainted with their patrons. They are affable gentlemen, whom it would be a pleasure for anyone to meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Pavey will reside temporarily with the bride's family at the above address. —Tacoma Ledger, November 25.

PERSONAL. Miss P. Rees, of Marion county, sister of Mrs. James W. Welch, is in the city on a visit. C. A. McGuire and wife and Postmaster Johnson, of Seaside, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. B. Campbell, general freight agent; W. H. Harburt, general passenger agent; and W. E. Coman, travelling freight agent; and T. W. Lee, assistant to Receiver McNeill, were in the city last night, and will leave up the river this morning on the Harvest Queen.

The years may come and the years may go, but Ashland is just as tickled today over the novelty of a new photograph gallery as she was two years ago.

FOR THE IVANHOE SURVIVORS.

The Rush Started Out to Make an Extended Search.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—The revenue cutter Rush again left port to search for the survivors of the wrecked ship Ivanhoe. In view of the fact that recent telegraphic dispatches from Victoria, B. C., announce the finding of life preservers and other wreckage, there is every likelihood that some one remains alive to tell the story of how the Ivanhoe went down. It is expected that the search of the Rush will continue for a full month.

A HIGH JUMPER.

New York, Nov. 27.—Henry Memer, a young Englishman, is alleged to have jumped 1 foot from the highest point of the Brooklyn bridge into the river without injury, with the aid of a parachute, just before daylight today.

In Captain Kempff's report to Secretary Herbert regarding the Monterey at various dangerous points on the Pacific Coast, said in reference to his last trip into the Columbia river: "At 8:15 a. m. I stood in for the entrance with steam on four boilers; the bar, although the tide was nearly high, was quite rough, breaking outside in nine fathoms occasionally, and frequently in six fathoms on the bar itself. The ship at sea in the heavy weather behaved beautifully, and her behavior in running before a breaking sea while entering the river was admirable. The Monterey is without doubt one of the best, if not the best, sea boats in the service. It might be mentioned that the bar was so rough that the regular steamer for San Francisco did not go to sea, and as there was no pilot outside the bar I carried the ship in myself. The only damage was from the sea washing over the stern, which carried away and smashed up the wooden cover of the after-hatch leading into the officers' quarters.

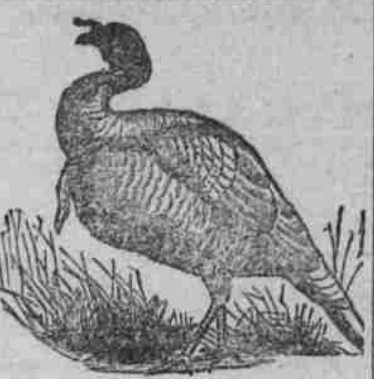

Work on the government dry dock at Port Orchard is being rapidly prosecuted, and from present indications the dock will be completed nearly a year ahead of the contract time, unless some obstacle unexpectedly turns up, says the Port Townsend Democrat. About 490 feet of the dock proper is completed, and the immense caisson forming the gates will be finished in about three weeks, several months ahead of time, and quicker than one has ever been made before. Men are working night and day, there being three shifts of eight hours each. A Thomson-Houston dynamo, 2,000 candle-power, furnishing twenty lights, is used during the night. Pile driving is completed on the main dock, and on the lower end they are cut off level and ready for capping. Between 200 and 250 men are constantly at work, and the scene at all hours is a busy one. The dock will be 560 feet long, 70 feet wide at the bottom, and 120 feet wide at the coping. It is 42 feet deep, and the mean high tide comes within seven feet of the coping, giving 35 feet depth of water.

Advertisement for Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. The World's Fair Highest Medal awarded to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.
