The OSGOOD MERCANTILE CO.

The One Price Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers

506 and 508 COMMERCIAL STREET, ASTORIA, OR.

TOYS.

The space that we gave for toys last year was not large enough to accommodate the great gatherings and curious and gaudy things for this holiday season.

That's why we've rented the store-room farther up the street and fitted it up as a reception room for the Dells and Mechanical Toys—and many of the other playthings that the little folks delight in. It's like a miniature fairyland to the tots.

You'll enjoy a stroll up and down the aisles among these ingenious bits. So would the children.

HAS TWO GOVERNORS.

Alabama Now Claims That Proud Distinction.

KOLB AND OATS SWORN IN.

Governor Jones Threatens to Have the Populist Governor Arrested for Speech Making.

Associated Press.

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 1.—The State of Alabama has two governors and two separate sets of state officers. Colonel Oates and those elected on his ticket, preside at the state house. Capt. Kolb and his contingent have not announced their official headquarters. The political situation in Alabama has been a most exciting one. This day was set by law for the inauguration of the governor and state officers. The returns of the August election have shown the election of a Democratic ticket headed by Col. Wm. Oates by over 29,000 majority. The legislature in joint session has regularly counted and announced the result. Capt. Kolb, Oates' opponent nominee of the Populists, charged fraud, and claimed he had a majority of the votes cast, and was rightful heir to the governor's office. He determined, therefore, to be sworn, and was.

At high noon, surrounded by members of the legislature and the usual pomp of military display, Col. Oates took the oath of office upon the steps of the state capitol, standing on the very spot where Jefferson Davis stood when he was sworn in as president of the Southern Confederacy. Numerous threats had been made by the misguided friends of Kolb, and to avoid any thing like violence, as well as to lend spirit to the occasion, more than twenty companies of troops with cartridges in their belts were present and participated in the inauguration ceremonies. Each man, by order of Governor Jones, carried forty rounds of ball cartridges for his rifle, with other rounds close at hand.

There was another body of men on the streets, who made no display of force, but were easily recognized. They were tall, gaunt, countrymen, with sullen faces, and attired in rough clothes and slouch hats, and came to town in small groups by train, wagon and mules. They did not appear meddlesome. They made no boasts or threats, but went about with a coward air and gazed wrathfully at the militia. They came here on Captain Kolb's request to see him sworn in as governor by "the grace of God," but without the form of law.

At the caucus last night the Kolbiters decided to assemble at the state house at 1 o'clock today, an hour in advance of the inauguration of Oates, and have Kolb sworn in. Difficulty was experienced in getting an official to administer the oath. Two Populist judges declined, saying they would lose their offices by being impeached for treason. At 11 o'clock a message was received at the state house that Captain Kolb had taken the gubernatorial oath in a downtown office, and was coming to the statehouse to make a speech. Governor Jones issued an order to give free access to the state house grounds as long as those who entered behaved in an orderly manner.

Kolb was sworn in by James W. Powell, justice of the peace, in the law office of Warren Reese, and at the same time the oath was administered to J. C. Farville, secretary of state; W. T. Lynch, auditor; J. D. Oliver, superintendent of education, and Warren Reese, Jr., attorney general. Kolb and his cabinet, then marched to the state house, through the ranks of the militia, beside the same portico where Oates took the oath of office. Governor Jones sent for Kolb, who was escorted into his presence by Lieutenant Irwin, of the regular army.

"I understand, sir," said governor Jones, "that you propose making a speech, claiming to be governor of Alabama."

"That is my intention." "Then I must say to you that the moment you attempt it I will have you arrested and carried off the grounds," answered the governor. "If you were governor you would do the same thing in a similar case. I will not permit you or any one else on these grounds to the interruption of the inaugural proceedings of Governor Oates."

Governor Jones' manner was courteous, but firm. Captain Kolb then started off the grounds, followed by his adherents. They congregated again in the street outside the grounds. Captain Kolb made a short temperance address. Not over 200 Kolbiters were were in the crowd, and no sign of arms was among them. They dispersed, but proceeded down town.

HERSCHELDT IS MARRIED.

So Decided Judge McConnell at Fargo Yesterday.

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 1.—The Herschfeldt case is ended, and the young bride of the Montana Millionaire has been declared by the court of equity to be a legal wife. Judge McConnell gave his decision denying the application of Aaron Herschfeldt for annulment of the marriage contract immediately at the conclusion of the arguments of the counsel. The decision was given orally, the court stating that he did not care to point out that the testimony was unworthy of credence. Of the plaintiff's claim he said, that two armed men forced him to accompany the defendant to the office of a justice of the peace where they were married under duress, must be substantiated so clearly that the plaintiff's mental condition was such that he was incapable of making a contract. The first position he did not think was clearly sustained. He believed Aaron Herschfeldt was a changed man, but not to the extent that he could be held irresponsible. The judge had warned the spectators that there must be no applause, and the crowd respected the command, but when he said, "I deny the decree," a sigh of relief went up that swelled to murmurs of applause. But outside the court nothing could prevent the jubilation of the crowd. Women who had never seen the defendant until she came to Fargo, pressed forward to grasp her hand before leaving the room. "I am a happy woman again for the first time in a year," was all she could say.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Prospects that Congress Will Act Favorably at Once.

Washington, Dec. 1.—There is a strong under current of belief among members of congress that the Nicaragua canal will receive a very earnest consideration during the session of congress which begins Monday. The feeling is especially pronounced in the house, and prevails particularly among the Southern members. Even those who, like Bailey, of Texas, oppose the bill on constitutional and economic grounds, concede the question will receive their early attention, and most of them are of the opinion that the prospects of its success are good. Mr. Cooper, of Florida, says nothing could restore the popularity of the Democratic party so much as authorizing the construction of the canal.

A MYSTERIOUS ROBBERY.

Portland, Dec. 1.—The fact was made public this morning that some time between Thanksgiving evening and yesterday morning the Union Savings and Loan Association Bank at the corner of Sixth and Morrison was entered by burglars, and the safe was blown open and robbed of $2,500. There is no clue to the burglars.

Nothing was disturbed about the burglar proof safe inside the vault. This had been blown open with nitroglycerine. The vault door had been opened by the combination lock. The outer doors leading into the bank were found locked. The safe was demolished by the explosion. The corner on which the bank is located is a prominent one, and it is a matter of surprise that the burglar could have worked without attracting attention. James C. Saunders, collector of customs at Port Townsend, is president of the bank.

THE ERICSSON'S ILL LUCK.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Again a disaster has overtaken the torpedo boat Ericsson. She had just completed the repairs necessitated by a breakdown of the air pump, and was trying her machinery yesterday under the most favorable conditions, when, owing to the collapse of a piston rod, the cylinder was smashed and the trial abruptly ended. The engineering bureau here estimates that it will take six weeks to repair the damage to the machinery.

BETTER BORN LUCKY, ETC.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Dec. 1.—Will J. Brown, a book-keeper, has received notification that he is entitled to one-third of a half million estate in Philadelphia left by a bachelor uncle. Brown was adopted when but a year old by John H. Brown. The lucky man formerly resided in Portland, Oregon.

A MEETING CALLED.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Senator Voorhees, chairman of the senate finance committee, has called a meeting of that committee for next Tuesday. The object is a general conference on matters under the jurisdiction of the committee, including tariff and finance.

THE VICTORIOUS YALE'S.

They Whip Princeton Before 30,000 People.

RACING FOR THE EAST.

Four Hundred Thousand Dollars' Worth of Silk From the Victoria—Other News.

Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 1.—In spite of the rain and cold today, the Manhattan field was crowded as it usually is when there is a football game between Yale and Princeton, and 30,000 people within and without the grounds saw Princeton's colors dragged in the mud and snow for a score of 24 to 0. It was a miserable day, cold and raw. Princeton was outplayed from beginning to end, and rarely was the ball in Yale's territory, and then only for a few seconds, when it was either rushed out of danger or punted far down the field by Butterworth. The rest of seven days had done wonders for the Yale men, and they went in as though the Harvard game had been a month away instead of only a week. Their improvement was remarkable, and especially in the case of Butterworth, for he bucked the line with all his old-time vigor and his punting was as good as any time in his career. In spite of the fact that the ball was slippery and hard to hold. But little fumbling was seen on Yale's side, and the men were generally sure catchers. On the other hand, Princeton did not seem to be able to do anything with the ball when they had it. Time and time again Butterworth's punts were missed by Poe, and once his fumble resulted in a touchdown. The team which lined up against Yale was not for an instant to be compared with Yale, and Yale did better work. This tells the story.

MILLION DOLLAR CARGO.

Brought From the Orient on the Steamship Victoria.

Tacoma, Dec. 1.—The steamship Victoria arrived this afternoon from Yokohama, bringing a cargo worth over a million dollars. A consignment of silk worth $400,000 was shipped to New York by this overland, the object being to get it there three days ahead of a similar consignment which left Yokohama eight hours earlier on the City of Rio Janeiro, of the San Francisco line.

HOP GROWERS' CONVENTION.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—It is proposed to hold a hop growers' convention in Sacramento the first week in January. The assemblage will include growers from all the hop districts of the Pacific coast. The object is to compare notes on the subject of hop culture, picking, transportation, etc., especially with a view of a co-operative sale process.

DIRECTOR OF THE MINT REPORTS.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Reports to the director of the mint shop coinage executed at the mints of the United States during November have been as follows: Gold, $2,940,000; silver, $1,073,000; minor coins, $94,000; total for the month, $4,107,000.

THE SAN FRANCISCO RACES.

The Day Enlivened by a Stabbing Affray.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—Young Bob, from the crack lightweight colored jockey, furnished the sensation of the day, at the races today, by stabbing Robt. Combs, another jockey, in the back, inflicting a serious if not a fatal wound. In the third race, Combs was on Lovdal, the favorite, and Isom rode San Louis Rey. Coming into the stretch Isom crowded Combs, and the latter, after they had dismounted and gone to the dressing room, threatened to beat Isom. Isom talked back, and Combs proceeded to carry his threat into execution. Felix Carr, a colored jockey, handed Isom a knife and the boy plunged it into Combs' back. Five and a half furlongs, selling—Hueneue, 1:11.

THE UTAH INDIAN TROUBLE.

It is Caused by Hot-Headed Cow-Boys.

Denver, Dec. 1.—A special to the News from Durango, Col., says: "Agent Dave Day, of the Southern Utes, and Brigham Young, Jr., oldest son of Brigham Young, of the Mormon Church, were passengers on the incoming train tonight. Previous to leaving the agency, Day mailed reports to Indian Commissioner Young, who was in Monticello, Utah, the center of the reported troubles this week, and says all the reports are the result of hot and impetuous cow-boys upon one side, and Pah Utes, or renegade Indians, on the other. He says the Southern Utes, who is surly and impudent at times, are well behaved, and do not desire trouble of any kind. Young stated, however, that the conservative element, the settlers, have a right in San Juan county, Utah, and are doing all in their power to suppress the element so bent upon collision.
