HOW A CHINESE EMPEROR IS MARRIED.

The marriage of the emperor took place in 1889, and the empress dowager presided over the occasion. The wedding is said to have cost about ten million dollars, and there were two pavilions built in the palace to contain the empress's wedding dresses. I have before me a list of the robes she wore on that occasion. She had on a silk headress of red, which was decorated with pearls, amethysts, rubies, emeralds, coral, and blue feathers. Her person was covered with an embroidered court-robe decorated with pearls and fastened with diamond buttons. About her neck she wore two strings of coral beads, and in her ears were jewels. She carried a folded handkerchief, and she rode to the emperor's palace in a gorgeous sedan-chair. She was accompanied by eunuchs, and eight eunuchs carried the chair. After entering the palace grounds the chair was carried over a brazier of live coals. Two of the imperial princesses helped her in and out of the chair, and as she got out she was given an apple, a golden scepter, and a bottle containing pearls and gold coins. The emperor, who was dressed in full court costume, stood on the threshold of the palace, and as the future empress got out he took off her veil.

The two were then led to the bridal chamber, and the emperor took his seat on the left side of the bed, while the bride sat on the right, with their faces turned toward each other. The princesses then requested the imperial couple to drink together. They ate a dish of what the Chinese call "The pudding of Sons and Grandsons," and drank together some wedding-soup which is designated by the name of "The Broth of Long Life." This practically constituted the marriage ceremony, though a marriage contract was signed.—From "Empress Dowager of China," in Demorest's Magazine for December.

The letters "es" are to be found at the beginning of acknowledgments and other legal documents, but not in a dozen can tell you what that cabalistic "es" is for. The abbreviation is a contraction of the Latin word "adilicet," which is also a contraction, having originally been written "adilicet," neither of which, you will note, has more than one "a." The word entire or in its abbreviated state, is equivalent to the old English "to-wit," still widely used, the design of both being simply to call particular attention to what follows.

HERBERT A. HIGGINS—DIED NOV. 30, AGED 15.

Dear ones, it is well with Herbie; His pure spirit dwells with God, While the earth-worn, empty casket, Gently rests beneath the sod.

For him, all distress is ended, He can nevermore be sad; Why, then, weep when he rejoices— Why thus grieve when he is glad?

Marked you not the heavenly radiance Beaming on his much-loved face, As his bright imprisoned spirit Struggled upward for its place?

'Twas a ray escaped from heaven, Our dear, beautiful home afar, Where the angels glad were waiting, With the pearly gates ajar.

Heard you not entrancing music, Such as thrilled you o'er and o'er, As his joyous, earth-freed spirit Reached the bright and shining shore?

May we all receive such welcome, When our earthly course is run, And till then—dear Father, help us, Ever to say, "Thy Will Be Done!"

—Bellini O. Crosby, Astoria, Or., Dec. 3, 1894.

IRVING AVENUE GRADE NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Oregon, propose to establish the grade of Irving avenue in the town (now city) of Astoria, Or., as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively, from the claim line between Shively's and Shively's D. L. C., to the east line of 18th street, at elevations above the base of grades for the City of Astoria, as established by Ordinance No. 71, entitled, "An Ordinance establishing a base of grades for the streets of the City of Astoria," as follows, to-wit:

At center of Irving Avenue and Claim line between McClure's and Shively's Astoria, 167 feet.

At center of Irving Avenue and 14th street, 167 feet.

At center of Irving Avenue and 15th street, 166.5 feet.

At center of Irving Avenue and 16th street, 170 feet.

At center of Irving Avenue and 17th street, 172 feet.

At center of Irving Avenue and 18th street, 185 feet.

The grade to be on a straight or even slope between the crossings, and of equal height throughout the width of the street at any one place between said crossings.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of three-fourths of the property fronting on said part of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days from the final publication of this notice, to-wit: on Tuesday, January 1st, 1895, the Common Council will establish said grade.

By order of the Common Council, K. OSBURN, Auditor and Police Judge, Astoria, Oregon, December 5th, 1894.

A. M. JONES.

MARVELOUS RESULTS.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersen, of Dinondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction, she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little interruption, and and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in its results." Trial bottles free at Chas. Rogers' Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

THREE REASONS WHY.

The Printz-Crain Drug Co. are coming to the front and outstripping their rivals:

1. Messrs. Printz and Crain are both thoroughly druggists, each having had nearly twenty years' experience in the business, and have the confidence of both the physicians and the public.

2. They are always pleasant and obliging to every one who enters their store, whether they wish to buy anything or not.

3. They have no clerk hire to pay, their rent is reasonable, and their experience in the wholesale department enables them to buy goods in a way that they can compete with the best of them on prices. Give them a call and you will be convinced that the above is true.
