

CLATSOP CITY NOTES.

Mr. Josiah West went to Portland Monday to serve on the grand jury.

C. W. Carmichael and Dave Morrison are hauling piles from the beach to keep until the coming boom shall have created a market for them.

The school board of Clatsop school have recently contracted for the purchase of a large globe and a microscope warranted to magnify nine hundred diameters. The cost of the microscope is $75, and the instrument is intended for the use of the school and the community.

Mr. J. C. Adams has a novel idea in the way of a fire-place. The fire place is in the sitting room of his new house and is large enough so that it has a large oven-like cavity behind it. This oven has connection, by means of a register, with the parlor, and will supplant for that room as well.

Mr. Alex. Tagg has recently purchased a cream separator and is using it with gratifying success.

Mr. West has put in a new churn of much larger size than the one he has been using, and has also a steam engine to furnish the motive power.

On Saturday evening the Clatsop Literary Society will debate the question: "Resolved, That the pen is mightier than the sword."

Rev. H. S. Lyman will fill the pulpit of Mr. McCart next Sunday as Mr. McCart is absent at Klaskanine, assisting with revival services.

MY CASTLE IN THE AIR.

By David La Costa.

From "Home and Country," (New York) for December.

If I could go ballooning,
And had the time to spare,
I'd journey to discover
My castle in the air.
It stands, that stately building,
Beyond the yellow moon,
Where tradesmen's bills can never come
Not even by balloon.

The water-rate collector
He eyes its doors in vain,
Because its stairs run with
No water, but champagne.
Its roof has been constructed
So very high and steep,
No love-lorn cats can clamber there
To frighten gentle sleep.

My neighbor's hens can never
Defy the garden wall,
Because there are no neighbors
Or hen-coops near at all.
So in the garden nodding,
In rich profusion grow,
Tobacco trees and cauliflower,
And roses all a-row.

Oh could I reach my castle,
I'd never need to think,
I'd never need to scribble,
And clothe my dreams in ink.
So when I'm not so busy,
I'll hire a big balloon,
And sail away with—I know whom—
Beyond the yellow moon.

THE GREATEST MODERN PHYSICIAN.

To Whom Thousands of Men and Women and Children Everywhere Owe Their Life and Happiness Today.

His Reputation Has Made Dartmouth College Famous in Every Town and Village in the Country---Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., Who First Gave to His Profession Paine's Celery Compound, the Wonderful Remedy That Makes People Well.

PROF. EDWARD E. PHELPS, M. D., LL. D.

"Excepting his handful of magnificent statesmen and his military heroes," says the most recent writer upon America, "the people owe more to Dartmouth's physician-teacher than to any one man."

"In every walk of life, among the highest office holders at Washington, in the homes of the best people in the large cities, among the every-day folks in the country, families in comfortable circumstances, families that 'live from hand to mouth,' and could not, if they wished, afford the services of any but an ordinary physician—everywhere I have met people to whom Paine's Celery Compound has been a blessing."

The story of the life work of this giant among men, has been often told and is familiar to most readers. The likeness above is probably the best portrait of him yet printed. It was the world famed discovery of Prof. Phelps of an infallible cure for those fearful ills that result from an impaired nervous system and impure blood which has endeared the great doctor to the world, and made his life an era in the practice of medicine. Prof. Phelps was born in Connecticut and graduated from the military school at Norwich, Vt. He studied medicine with Prof. Nathan Smith, of New Haven, Conn., and graduated in medicine at Yale.

His unusual talent soon brought his reputation and prominence among his professional brethren. First he was elected to the professorship of anatomy and surgery in the Vermont University. Next he was appointed lecturer on materia medica and medical botany in Dartmouth College. The next year he was chosen professor of the chair then vacated by Prof. Roby, and occupied the chair, the most important one in the country, at the time when he first formulated his most remarkable prescription.

In view of the overwhelming testimony to the value of Paine's Celery Compound that has recently appeared from men of national reputation, the picture of Prof. Phelps is particularly interesting. New York's state treasurer, Hon. Addison B. Colvin, Ex-Minister to Austria, John M. Francis, Miss Jones Miller, President Cook, of the national teachers' association, Hon. David P. Toomey, the publisher of Donohoe's magazine, Gen. John A. Halderman, of New York City, Hon. John G. Carlisle's private secretary, The popular and talented actress, Marie Tempest; the poet author, Albert H. Hardy; the mayor of Montreal, brave Ida Lewis, and a host more of prominent men and women are among the thousands of grateful people who have recently sent to the proprietors of this wonderful remedy their expressions of its unequalled value—men and women who can well afford, and do command the highest medical advice in the country.

And then also, from the "plain people" there come thousands of honest, straightforward, heartfelt letters, telling how Paine's Celery Compound has made them well. Their testimony simply goes to show that New England's vigorous essayist has so aptly said, that Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a sarsaparilla; it is not a mere tonic; it is not an ordinary nerve-line—it is superior to them all as the diamond is superior to cheap glass.

It makes people well. It is the one true specific recognized and prescribed today by eminent practitioners for all nervous system. Prof. Phelps gave his profession a positive cure for sleeplessness, wasting strength, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney trouble. For all such complaints Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again, where everything else has failed. It is as harmless as it is good, and it was the universal advice of the medical profession that the compound be placed where the general public could secure it, and thousands of people every year have proven the wisdom of this good advice.

Only a truly great and effective remedy could continue, as Paine's Celery Compound has done, to hold its high place in the estimation of the ablest physicians and of the thousands of busy men and women whose only means of judging is from the actual results in their own homes or among their friends. No remedy was ever so highly recommended, because none ever accomplished so much.

Today Paine's Celery Compound stands without an equal for feeding exhausted nerves and building up the strength of the body. It cures radically and permanently. The nervous prostration and general debility from which thousands of women suffer so long that it finally gets to be a second nature with them,—all this suffering and despondency can be very soon removed by properly feeding the nerves and replacing the unhealthy blood by a fresher, more highly vitalized fluid. A healthy increase in appetite and a corresponding gain in weight and good spirits follow the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Paine's Celery Compound of this last half of the nineteenth century.

THREE REASONS WHY.

The Printz-Crain Drug Co. are coming to the front and outstripping their rivals:

1. Messrs. Printz and Crain are both thorough druggists, each having had nearly twenty years' experience in the business, and have the confidence of both the physicians and the public.
2. They are always pleasant and obliging to every one who enters their store, whether they wish to buy anything or not.
3. They have no clerk hire to pay, their rent is reasonable, and their experience in the wholesale department enables them to buy goods in a way that they can compete with the best of them on prices. Give them a call and you will be convinced that the above is true.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Rhlor's Vitalizer 'RAVED MY LIFE.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver or Kidney trouble, it excels. Price 75 cts.

TO DOWN SPOOKS.

A wealthy bachelor declared that a horrid hag had glared at him through the night. His friends laughed at him but he insisted that the house was haunted. He grew ill, complaining of extreme heaviness in the stomach, his appetite failed, he grew sallow, emaciated and despondent, believing he was going to die, the spook being a warning, and declared he could hear funeral bells ringing in his ears, and even hinted at suicide. A friend induced him to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis-
