The Astorian guarantees to its subscribers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia River.

Advertising rates can be obtained on application to the business manager.

This paper is in possession of all the telegraph franchises, and is the only paper on the Columbia river that publishes genuine dispatches.

The Weekly Astorian, the third oldest weekly in the state of Oregon, has, next to the Portland Oregonian, the largest weekly circulation in the state.

Handier & Haas are our Portland agents and copies of the Astorian can be had every morning at their stand on First street.

A GUILTY CONSCIENCE.

Yesterday in one of the New York courts, Sealey, the defaulting book-keeper of the Shoe and Leather Bank, pleaded guilty and has gone back to his cell in the Tombs to await sentence next Friday. It is a strange case. He made no attempt to conceal his joy that the clutches of the law were upon him.

Help us to look above and beyond the mists that cover the sea— To a glad reunion, hat upon The shores of eternity.

strange of an inexperienced and undiplomatic person like Mr. Gresham in the negotiation of such a compact.

THE SHIP THAT NEVER CAME BACK.

The following from George K. Coryell, in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, evidently refers to the last ship Ivanhoe, on which the late editor of that paper was a passenger:

Soft were the breezes that kissed her sails And gentle the waves in their play, And oh how the farewells lovingly said By her crew that were light that day.

But whether, O ship, runs thy true course now? Is there never a turn or tack? Shall not a wind from the Occident Arise that will bring thee back?

For may not a thought the other sail As a ship doth furrow the deep, While he who doth all things well Shall each in its own course keep?

Soon, a thought from each bereaved heart Oh, ship, small follow thy track, Even to the uttermost parts of the earth Ay, though thou never come back.

Courage! No more may a cool-grimmed bulk The soul of a friend constrain Than can a heart the tender thought That would follow it over the main.

Ball on, though uncertain thy course, on ship; Though never a port you reach, Still to these sorrowing hearts of ours, Thou mayest a lesson teach.

Teach us the friends to cherish and love Whom now we may know heart to heart, As on days we shall cherish and prize When death hath borne us apart.

Teach us, O ship, from day to day No duty to leave undone, For the bark we sail o'er the sea of life May sink ere another sun.

Help us to look above and beyond The mists that cover the sea— To a glad reunion, hat upon The shores of eternity.

INDORSED BY THE PRESS.

Gentlemen—This is to certify that I have used Krause's Headache Capsules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me $2, and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache.

A GOOD WORD.

Dear Sir— I am glad to say a good word for Krause's Headache Capsules. After suffering for over three years with acute neuralgia and its consequent insomnia (which seemed to haffle the efforts of some of our best physicians) you suggested this remedy which gave me almost instant relief.

CHEERFUL WINTER EVENINGS.

Nothing brings so much joy and comfort to the fireside as a genial visitor—one that entertains and instructs every member of the family. The latch string is always out for the Prairie Farmer, for it always brings a big weekly bundle. It is brighter than ever, with a host of new writers, this year.
